

A Roundup In Gardiner

By WALTER S. CLARK

State Police swooped down on an open-air party at the look-out above the hairpin turn on Route 44-55 in the Town of Gardiner last night and rounded up 28 persons described by troopers as "hippie-type" and charged them with loitering for the purpose of possessing dangerous drugs.

Two of the group were also booked for criminal possession of dangerous drugs, fourth degree.

The mass arrest was considered by authorities as one of the largest in Ulster County in years. After the 28 were taken in custody, the four troopers who made the arrests called for assistance and Bureau of Criminal Investigation officers and uniformed troopers from Kingston and Highland substations went to the scene.

One a Missing Girl

An 18-year-old girl included in the group of those arrested had been reported missing from her Stamford, Conn., home since the middle of July when teletype alarms were sent out at the request of her parents.

Troopers said a quantity of marijuana was confiscated after two youths were charged with criminal possession of dangerous drugs. The two were identified by State Police Sergeant Stanley Kowalik of Highland, who directed the mass arrest, as Michael Brody, 19, of Scarsdale, and James Swenson, 16-year-old New York City resident.

Arraigned before New Paltz Town Justice Rexford Schneider, bail was fixed at $350 each and hearings were adjourned. In lieu of bail the pair was committed to the Ulster County jail pending disposition of the charges.

Twenty-two of those arrested were released after they posted $100 bail each.

According to a trooper, one of the young women arrested was observing her birthday. Shortly before 11:15 p. m. a trooper passing the parking area on Route 44-55 noticed the crowd. He notified Highland station and other troopers hurried to the scene.

Sergeant Kowalik and Trooper G. P. Rebhan of Highland and Troopers Oscar Gray and John Hutton of the Ellenville station made the arrests, and later they were joined by other troopers and BCI officers from area stations.

Judge Schneider set Aug. 30 for hearings for each of the defendants.

13 County Residents

According to police records, 13 defendants are residents of Ulster County. The others came from Greene, Westchester and upstate counties, New York City, Brooklyn and Jamaica.

Charged with the loitering count were:

Dimetra Cammer, 22, Edward Dowling, 24, and Thomas Dowling, 21, all of Gardiner; David Entwistle, 19, of Cornwall; Christopher Fisher, 19, of Mountville; Jay Forbes, 22, of Scarsdale; Lawrence Gentile, 20, Glens Falls; John Kopeck, 19, of Cornwall; Bryan Leeds, 25, of Catskill; Isabelle Levine, 19, of New York City; Susan Lowitt, 21, of Brooklyn; and Patricia Madden, 18, who gave a Seattle, Wash., address, but according to the sheriff's office, she was the object of a missing person's alarm requested by her parents who live in Stamford, Conn.

Others Arrested

Others arrested were identified by troopers as, Donalee Miley, 21, and Thomas Miley, also 21, both of Modena; Kim Miller, 21, of Marlboro; James Melnick, 25, of Syracuse; Kathy Tolansky, 26, of Highland; Laura Shapiro, 18, of Brooklyn; Paul Vareles, 18, of Jamaica; Basil Young, 20, of Patchogue.

Also booked were — James Frankfort, 38; Stephen Kolpan, 19; Lester Licht, 18; Mona Milford, 23; Holland Reisner, 20; and Michael Winfield, 22. They each gave addresses in New Paltz as their homes.

Garraghan's City Hall Plan Now a Double

By HUGH REYNOLDS

Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan, thwarted in his city hall plans by the Common Council, met with members of that council last night and proposed two city halls, one on Broadway, the other Downtown.

Garraghan's newest plan, which he said was well-received by the nine aldermen attending the meeting in his office, calls for the purchase of the Central Hudson Building on Broadway along with the adjacent O'Reilly Building and the construction of a new city hall downtown.

Garraghan said the purchase price on the Central Hudson Building will be $127,000, the O'Reilly Building, $55,000. Demolition of the O'Reilly Building and blacktopping for a parking lot has been set at $15,000. The mayor plans to set up the city court, jail, water department and police department in the Central Hudson Building, located at 607 Broadway near the Community Theater.

In addition, he will ask for $55,000 to purchase the Central Hudson Garage on East O'Reilly Street, across from Central Fire Station, and use it for further extension of the city lab.

With the deletion of those departments earmarked for the Central Hudson Building, Garraghan figures the cost of a new city hall downtown, including the bond issue and architect's fee, will be $500,000. Garraghan figures the total cost of his dual city hall plans will be $787,000, down from the original estimate of $925,000 for a city hall downtown with all municipal departments in it.

Garraghan expects to sell the old city hall to Kingston Hospital at a nominal cost and let them demolish it for sorely needed parking space. The city hall Downtown would be built on the same site as previously proposed, Meadow Street on Broadway, but would contain a detention area for juvenile offenders, something the state board of correction has been urging both the city and county to construct for the past several years.

Garraghan's plans are in the final stages and he expects to present them to the Common Council for action at the September meeting. However, the mayor pointed out that the plan, even if approved by the Council in the immediate future, would not go into effect until at least Nov. 1 of 1969. It is expected that Central Hudson will vacate its premises by that time.

Attending last night's meeting were Aldermen Florence S. Ludlow (D-First Ward), Clifford Sinsabaugh (D-Fifth Ward), Joseph Epstein (D-Sixth Ward), Edward Norton (D-Seventh Ward), Peter Mancuso (D-Eighth Ward), James Madden (D-Ninth Ward), Peter Fisher (R-Tenth Ward), Joseph Conlin (D-Eleventh Ward) and William Davis (L-Thirteenth Ward). Garraghan said invitations had been sent to all the aldermen.

N. J. Girl Drowns at Saugerties

A 12-year-old New Jersey girl vacationing with friends in Malden, drowned off the Saugerties Municipal Bathing Beach Tuesday, while attempting an underwater swim. She was identified as Donna Jordan, of 9 Vernon Terrace, East Orange.

Resume Grappling

Dutchess County sheriff's deputies this morning resumed grappling operations in the Hudson River seeking to recover the body of 28-year-old Joseph Walters, of 30 O'Halloran Circle, Pleasant Valley, who fell from a scaffold while painting the Mid-Hudson Bridge.

Ulster County Coroner Henry S. Hartley, who investigated with Saugerties police, issued a verdict of accidental death and said the East Orange girl died of asphyxiation due to drowning.

Coroner Hartley said yesterday morning, Mrs. Cornelia Wilson, of Saugerties, went to the home of Mrs. Melinda Crews in Malden where the girl and others were vacationing, and drove the children to the beach. Then Mrs. Crews left and went shopping, Hartley said.

Some time after the girls had entered the water to swim, one girl went to a life guard, John Warfel, and informed him that Donna dove in the water and didn't reappear. The Saugerties Ambulance was summoned and search for the girl began under the direction of local police officers.

Early in the afternoon, the girl's body was found on the bottom in eight feet of water about 30 feet off shore. The body was taken from the water and mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and closed heart massage was undertaken but to no avail. The girl was pronounced dead by Dr. Lester Sonking who had been called.

Sheriff Lawrence M. Quinlan of Dutchess County, said the Pleasant Valley man was employed by the State Bridge Authority and was working with other men painting the Foughkeepsie Bridge before noon yesterday.

100-Foot Drop

Suddenly, Walters either slipped or lost his balance and plunged from a scaffold. Quinlan said the man fell more than 100 feet and disappeared in more than 50 feet of water in the river. Other workmen notified Foughkeepsie police and the sheriff's office.

Deputies hurried to the scene with the sheriff's department boat, but because of the rough water whipped by the wind rescue attempts were hampered, Quinlan said. Search continued until late afternoon and was resumed this morning as authorities lowered grappling irons into the river.

Lost Two Weeks

Knew He Would Be Found

MINTURN, Colo. (UPI)—Bill

Berlinger Jr., tired, hungry and 27 pounds lighter said he always knew he was going to be found.

The 16-year-old Philadelphia youngster, lost for two weeks in Colorado's mountain wilderness, saw his faith rewarded Tuesday when he met a group of 27 other teenagers on a 14,005-foot Mount of the Holy Cross.

"They were starting down and he was coming back up," said district Forest Ranger Don Campbell. "They ran together when they saw one another and were all hollering."

The youth, with only two bites of bread left in his pack, was that I would be rescued. "I got discovered within a quarter of a mile from where he was last frustrated and dejected when he seen July 30 when he wandered from a mountain trail and but I never gave up."

Some 1,200 men, many of them Army troops, and three helicopters had searched a 10-square-mile area of the White River National Forest ever since without locating the boy. Most of the searchers had given up any hope of finding young Berlinger.

"I never lost complete hope examining him told him to get some sleep," Steinberg said. After the physical examination, Berlinger was taken back to Minturn, where he took a hot shower, was given some warm tea, milk and soup and then went to bed.

The boy also had a brief phone conversation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Berlinger Sr., who had been here during most of the search operations, but who had been turned to Philadelphia shortly before he was found. They currently planned to fly back here today, whether the lull in fighting in

Huge Red Arms Cache Captured by Allies

By GEORGE ESPER

SAIGON (AP) — Allied forces trying to spoil the third Viet Cong offensive of the year before it can get started uncovered huge weapons caches along infiltration corridors north of Saigon and leading from the Cambodian and Laotian borders, military spokesmen reported today.

Tropical Storm

Little other activity was reported in the Vietnam war. The U.S. Command said tropical storm Rose cut U.S. air missions over North Vietnam's southern panhandle to 31 Tuesday, the lowest number in more than two years.

In the most significant find, allied forces checking a group of villages reportedly housing as many as 25,000 Viet Cong sympathizers 25 miles north of Saigon turned up more than 500 rounds of rockets and recoilless rifle ammunition Tuesday. 72,000 rounds for automatic weapons and five pounds of documents.

Ten Vietnamese trying to escape were killed in a 15-minute fire fight, and 17 prisoners were flushed from the tunnels in the action Tuesday. No allied casualties were reported.

Using "seal and search" tactics units of the U.S. 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment put a cordon around the village of Cau Dat with armored personnel carriers and tanks. South Vietnamese and American "tunnel rats"—infantrymen who dig through tunnels—moved in to search the village.

Cau Dat is less than 10 miles north of a big U.S. Army helicopter base and the headquarters of the South Vietnamese 5th Infantry Division.

It was the second productive "seal and search" operation in the cluster of villages north of Saigon in the last five days.

Four miles to the northeast of Cau Dat, allied forces raided the village of Chanh Luu last Friday after sealing it off in a similar manner. That time the allies killed 18 Viet Cong troops and seized 114 prisoners and more than three tons of food.

The prisoners included two North Vietnamese soldiers and were from at least a half a dozen Viet Cong regiments, some of which took part in the offensives against Saigon in February and again in May.

South Vietnamese rangers sweeping enemy infiltration routes leading from Cambodia into the Mekong Delta 73 miles west-southwest of Saigon turned up two weapons caches and killed 25 enemy soldiers in scattered fighting today and Tuesday, government headquarters said. The find included 92 AK47 assault rifles, the enemy's standard infantry weapon in South Vietnam; five mortars and assorted mortar equipment; 64 mortar rounds and rockets; a rocket launcher; 60 hand grenades and 80 pounds of TNT.

No Casualties

The rangers said they suffered no casualties. They were sent in to search the area after American B52 bombers dropped nearly 200 tons of bombs on the area. U.S. headquarters reported that the strikes triggered 29 secondary explosions, indicating large-scale destruction of ammunition stores.

Still another cache was uncovered far to the north in the A Shau Valley, bordering Laos, the key infiltration corridor for supplies and troops moving from North Vietnam into South Vietnam's Northern Provinces.

Government troops clashed with a North Vietnamese force guarding the cache and killed 10 of the enemy while suffering one dead and two wounded, a U.S. spokesman said. A spokesman said the cache included anti-aircraft machine guns, nine Russian rifles, 225 mortar and rocket rounds, 3,500 rounds of anti-aircraft ammunition and a large quantity of medical supplies.

U.S. officials say that allied forces in recent months have captured equipment for more than 40 enemy battalions.

Harriman Raps Viets Over New Red Push

PARIS (AP) — The United States told North Vietnam today it has mounting evidence that "you are making plans for another round of large-scale attacks" in South Vietnam.

Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, beginning the fourth month of his talks with Ambassador Xuan Thuy, also accused the North of blocking progress in peace-making and declared: "We are ready to consider, publicly or privately, any realistic proposal which will advance the cause of peace."

Thuy, who spoke first in today's 17th session of the talks, charged the United States with "obstructing the way toward a correct political settlement."

"The state of these conversations over the past three months, just like the situation in the battlefield in Vietnam, has clearly shown that the bellicose riding circles in the United States, while talking peace, always plan to intensify the war of aggression in Vietnam and to achieve neocolonialism in South Vietnam," Thuy said.

Both the Harriman and Thuy talks since they began May 13, Berlinger Sr., who had been here during most of the search operations, but who had been turned to Philadelphia shortly before he was found. They currently planned to fly back here today, whether the lull in fighting in the South is a move of de-escalation by Hanoi which President Johnson could use to justify ending the bombing of North Vietnam.

Harriman was apparently saying that on the basis of available evidence so far that is not the case.

"From captured documents, defectors, prisoners and from broadcasts by Radio Hanoi, the evidence has mounted that you are making plans for another round of large-scale attacks," Harriman said.

There has been widespread speculation that either Hanoi or Washington might make some policy shift, but concrete evidence of any major progress in the talks is lacking.

Harriman accused North Vietnam of taking a "completely sterile" line in the Paris peace talks while Communist terrorists in South Vietnam killed thousands of people "in cold blood."

The American envoy told newsmen that while there may have been a decline in combat action in South Vietnam, Viet Cong terrorists have killed 8,000 civilians since the first of this year, wounded 20,000 others and kidnapped 6,000.

"That doesn't mean those who have been caught in the war," he said. "But those who have been killed in cold blood... These terrorist actions don't get much publicity, but terrorism is one of the facts of life in South Vietnam."

This cruel, ruthless terrorist action of the Viet Cong still continues with no purpose except to terrorize people into giving in to their rule."

His other point of attack in today's meeting, he said, was that "the North Vietnamese delegation has been completely sterile in its attitude. It's got one phrase which it repeats."

He apparently referred to North Vietnam's demand at every session since the talks opened May 13 that the United States stop all attacks on North Vietnam before any other peace-making issues can be discussed.

Both the Harriman and Thuy talks since they began May 13, and both repeated familiar charges and positions. Harriman accused North Vietnam of taking a "completely sterile" line in the Paris peace talks while Communist terrorists in South Vietnam killed thousands of people "in cold blood."

The American envoy told newsmen that while there may have been a decline in combat action in South Vietnam, Viet Cong terrorists have killed 8,000 civilians since the first of this year, wounded 20,000 others and kidnapped 6,000.

"That doesn't mean those who have been caught in the war," he said. "But those who have been killed in cold blood... These terrorist actions don't get much publicity, but terrorism is one of the facts of life in South Vietnam."

"This cruel, ruthless terrorist action of the Viet Cong still continues with no purpose except to terrorize people into giving in to their rule."

His other point of attack in today's meeting, he said, was that "the North Vietnamese delegation has been completely sterile in its attitude. It's got one phrase which it repeats."

He apparently referred to North Vietnam's demand at every session since the talks opened May 13 that the United States stop all attacks on North Vietnam before any other peace-making issues can be discussed.

Still Hopeful, But . . .

Eugene Sees Maddox Entry as Pivotal

By United Press International
Sen. Eugene McCarthy says Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey can win the Democratic presidential nomination on the first ballot unless Gov. Lester Maddox of Georgia enters the race and erodes Humphrey support in the South. However, McCarthy backers in Washington said Tuesday the Minnesota senator would get as many as 800 first ballot votes and his campaign manager, Blair Clark, said "we are convinced Vice President Humphrey is far short of anything like a majority (1,312) on the first ballot."

McCarthy, speaking in St. Louis, termed that estimate "realistic" and said he still hoped to defeat Humphrey for the nomination. But he indicated that his strength plus that of Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota would not be enough to stop Humphrey without the added presence of Maddox, leading a "third force" at the convention.

"It's generally settled on the first ballot if there are only two candidates," said the Minnesota Democrat. "If Maddox comes on and picks up some of the Southern votes that are now committed to Humphrey, it would complicate it."

McGovern, campaigning Tuesday in New York City, said his candidacy would increase the "peace delegation" at the convention starting Aug. 26. Like McCarthy, he is a dove on the Vietnam War. McGovern met with John Burns, New York state Democratic chairman, who said afterward that it was "awfully hard to tell" if McGovern would receive support from any members of the New York delegation.

In other political developments: Humphrey—The vice president, unaware reporters were present told a group of 23 outstanding college students Tuesday that the nation's young people are engaging in "escapism" in their concentration on the Vietnam War. He also accused Richard M. Nixon of "mighty good demagoguery" in his speech accepting the GOP presidential nomination.

Nixon—The Republican presidential nominee talked by telephone from San Diego, Calif., with New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller and New York City Mayor John Lindsay. A Nixon aide said both men agreed to support the GOP ticket "enthusiastically" although he declined to say whether that meant they would campaign actively.

Nixon Patches

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon strove today to align all Republican factions and philosophies solidly behind his race for the White House.

He arranged a series of meetings with top supporters of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, a political adversary turned campaign ally, and scheduled a conference with his defeated rival on Aug. 21.

A parallel session also is due with New York Mayor John V. Lindsay.

In a pair of telephone calls to the New York GOP leaders, Nixon won pledges of support in the White House race ahead, an aide said.

"Both Rockefeller and Lindsay have agreed to support the ticket enthusiastically, and their roles will be the subject of detailed discussions in New York next week," said Robert Ellis-worth, Nixon's national political director.

Ellsworth said Tuesday's telephone call to Rockefeller was a lengthy one, and they agreed to meet next week at Nixon's Fifth Avenue apartment to discuss how the GOP can carry New York in the Nov. 5 election and what personal role Rockefeller will play in the White House campaign.

"Gov. Rockefeller couldn't have been more pleasant," Ellsworth said.

In New York, a spokesman for Lindsay said that in the telephone call to the mayor Nixon asked "If they could get together to discuss urban problems and the cities generally as campaign factors. No date has been set as yet for the meeting."

Nixon confers today with Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, a key Rockefeller booster during the campaign for the Republican nomination.

SURE OF VICTORY — Sen. Eugene McCarthy on Tuesday described the Republican ticket of Richard Nixon and Spiro Agnew as "a becoming ticket for the GOP" and added, "I could beat it without a vice presidential running mate." McCarthy spoke at a brief airport news conference in St. Louis after a flight from Los Angeles. McCarthy said that, depending on what happened at the Democratic convention, should he lose the nomination, he might hold a news conference to discuss conditions under which he could be willing to support Humphrey for the presidency. Woodstock Dump-- Referendum Next?

By HUGH REYNOLDS

The possibility of a referendum was held out after last night's public hearing in the Woodstock Town Hall concerning the $29,000 purchase of an 88-acre town dump.

The meeting was attended by more than 125 persons, a large number of whom agreed that a town dump was needed but raised questions as to the purchase price. The town has an option which runs out Aug. 31, to buy the land from Albert Cashdollar.

Charles J. Tiano, former Democratic candidate for supervisor, said that many town residents considered the $29,000 asking price "excessive." Tiano pointed out that the property was assessed for "only $400" and pays "only $85" in town taxes annually.

Said Tiano, "So far as I could determine, very few people are opposed to purchase of the dump, but many feel the asking price is too high."

Woodstock Town Democratic Chairman, John Bonilla, said his organization was in favor of the town dump but questioned the price and the reasons behind purchasing it.

Bonilla called for a referendum and said if the town board does not order one by its own volition at its regular meeting next Tuesday night, he will consult his committee and ask them to circulate petitions.

Bonilla said it would take 135 signatures to order a referendum, or, five new ones of those voting in the last gubernatorial election.

Walter Schulman, president of the Woodstock Township Taxpayers Association, was also in attendance with committee members which included vice president Annette Dietz and directors Zenna Winslow and Lloyd Luters of WTTA.

Schulman said there appeared to be no question on the desirability of a town dump site but that the purchase price seemed to be in issue.

In another facet of the question of purchase price, it was brought out at last night's meeting that an 80-acre parcel of land next to the dump, which is located about four miles from the village off the West Saugerties Road, was sold for $16,600 in December of 1966. The land includes a 1,000-foot frontage on the West Saugerties Road.

Currently, the Town of Woodstock shares the dumping site with the Town and Village of Saugerties, the three paying a combined fee to Cashdollar of $6,900 per year for dumping privileges. Separate contracts are made with each municipality, however, with Woodstock's running out in 1969, Saugerties Village in 1970 and the Town of Saugerties in 1972.

All three contracts run past a state deadline for the ending of burning on the dump and the implementation of landfill operations for disposal of garbage.

Earlier this year the state legislature passed a bill prohibiting burning on dump sites, and according to the county health department, unless Cashdollar institutes landfill and ends burning by Dec. 31 of this year, the dump will be closed. Bonilla said that in light of

"many unanswered questions" he cannot see how the town board could approve the purchase of the land next Tuesday night.

It has still not been made public by the town board where the Village and Town of Saugerties will dump if the Town of Saugerties takes over the dump site.

Bonilla also questioned the cost of operating the dump site when it becomes a land fill operation and quoted figures from the county health department that ranged from $8,000 per year to $12,000.

A suggestion has been made by Bonilla that the town consider using the dumping sites of the towns of Hurley and Ulster on a temporary basis until Woodstock, Saugerties, Ulster and Hurley could confer on a possible regional plan for the dumping of refuse for all four towns. Attending last night's meeting were A. Michael Schovel, Saugerties town supervisor and Robert Schneller, Hurley supervisor.

It was also pointed out at last night's meeting that the town board has hired the consulting engineering firm of Brinrier and Larios to advise it on the suitability of the dump site but that the report is not expected until after Sept. 1.

Further action rests in the hands of the town board. However, Bonilla says that if the town board approves the purchase of the dump next Tuesday he will take immediate steps through his Democratic Committee to institute a public referendum on the issue.

HEART MAN WORKS — Louis J. Fierro, 54, (L), Houston's 4th heart transplant patient started work Tuesday as a car salesman at a Houston dealer. Now a Houston resident, Fierro practices his salesmanship on Billy Starnes (R), (UPI TELEPHOTO).

$612,419 Uptown UR Check to Kingston

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller announced today that the State will provide $612,419 to the City of Kingston as a first progress payment on the city's Uptown urban renewal project. The amount represents 85 per cent of the state's $720,493 urban renewal grant for this "project." The remaining 15 per cent will be paid after final audits on the project have been completed.

"State funds are being provided to aid Kingston in redeveloping the uptown business district, and its residential fringe," Governor Rockefeller said. "The clearance of obsolete and blighted buildings, followed by the creation of a unified shopping area with new commercial facilities, wider streets, pedestrian walks and adjacent parking facilities will benefit the entire community."

The urban renewal project, which includes an area of 87 acres, is bounded by Esopus Creek, the Penn Central Railroad tracks, Clinton Avenue, John Street, Lucas Avenue, Joy's Lane and Washington and Hurley Avenues. Under its program of urban renewal grants, which was instituted in 1960, the State provides up to one-half of the municipal costs of a Federally-aided urban renewal project. The state funds will be sent to Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan Thursday by Assistant State Housing Commissioner Albert E. Bibby.

Greene Death Is Accidental

Troopers P. H. Madigan said Edward Joseph Harnett Jr., 7, of Weed Road, Freehold, was pronounced dead on arrival at the Greene County Memorial Hospital in Catskill.

Coroner Millsbaugh reported the death was caused by a skull fracture and massive internal injuries. An investigation by Senior

BCI Investigator J. J. Buckley, BCI Investigator Donald Weiss and Trooper A. G. Parker, noted that Alfred Molter, 37, of Sunrise, Cairo, was driving his car along Weed Road in front of the Harnett home, when suddenly the boy rode a bicycle out of a blind driveway into the path of the automobile.

Authorities said Molter didn't have time to avoid the accident.

Woodstock Dump-- Referendum Next?

By HUGH REYNOLDS

The possibility of a referendum was held out after last night's public hearing in the Woodstock Town Hall concerning the $29,000 purchase of an 88-acre town dump.

The meeting was attended by more than 125 persons, a large number of whom agreed that a town dump was needed but raised questions as to the purchase price. The town has an option which runs out Aug. 31, to buy the land from Albert Cashdollar.

Charles J. Tiano, former Democratic candidate for supervisor, said that many town residents considered the $29,000 asking price "excessive." Tiano pointed out that the property was assessed for "only $400" and pays "only $85" in town taxes annually.

Said Tiano, "So far as I could determine, very few people are opposed to purchase of the dump, but many feel the asking price is too high."

Woodstock Town Democratic Chairman, John Bonilla, said his organization was in favor of the town dump but questioned the price and the reasons behind purchasing it.

Bonilla called for a referendum and said if the town board does not order one by its own volition at its regular meeting next Tuesday night, he will consult his committee and ask them to circulate petitions.

Bonilla said it would take 135 signatures to order a referendum, or, five per cent of those voting in the last gubernatorial election.

Walter Schulman, president of the Woodstock Township Taxpayers' Association, was also in attendance with committee members which included vice president Annette Dietz and directors Zenna Winslow and Lloyd Luders of WTTA.

Schulman said there appeared to be no question on the desirability of a town dump site but that the purchase price seemed to be in issue.

In another facet of the question of purchase price, it was brought out at last night's meeting that an 80-acre parcel of land next to the dump, which is located about four miles from the village off the West Saugerties Road, was sold for $16,600 in December of 1966. The land includes a 1,000-foot frontage on the West Saugerties Road.

Currently, the Town of Woodstock shares the dumping site with the Town and Village of Saugerties, the three paying a combined fee to Cashdollar of $6,900 per year for dumping privileges. Separate contracts are made with each municipality, however, with Woodstock's running out in 1969, Saugerties' in 1970 and the Town of Saugerties in 1972.

All three contracts run past a state deadline for the ending of burning on dump sites, and according to the county health department, unless Cashdollar institutes landfill and ends burning by Dec. 31 of this year, the dump will be closed.

Earlier this year the state legislature passed a bill prohibiting burning on dump sites, and according to the county health department, unless Cashdollar institutes landfill and ends burning by Dec. 31 of this year, the dump will be closed.

The "many unanswered questions" he cannot see how the town board could approve the purchase of the land next Tuesday night.

It has still not been made public by the town board where the Village and Town of Saugerties will dump if the Town of Saugerties takes over the dump site.

Bonilla also questioned the cost of operating the dump site when it becomes a land fill operation and quoted figures from the county health department that ranged from $8,000 per year to $12,000.

A suggestion has been made by Bonilla that the town consider using the dumping sites of the towns of Hurley and Ulster on a temporary basis until Woodstock, Saugerties, Ulster and Hurley could confer on a possible regional plan for the dumping of refuse for all four towns. Attending last night's meeting were A. Michael Schovel, Saugerties town supervisor and Robert Schneller, Hurley supervisor.

It was also pointed out at last night's meeting that the town board has hired the consulting engineering firm of Brinnier and Larios to advise it on the suitability of the dump site but that the report is not expected until after Sept. 1.

Further action rests in the hands of the town board. However, Bonilla says that if the town board approves the purchase of the dump next Tuesday he will take immediate steps through his Democratic Committee to institute a public referendum on the issue.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller announced today that the State will provide $612,419 to the City of Kingston as a first progress payment on the city's Uptown urban renewal project. The amount represents 85 per cent of the state's $720,493 urban renewal grant for this project. The remaining 15 per cent will be paid after final audits on the project have been completed.

"State funds are being provided to aid Kingston in redeveloping the uptown business district and its residential fringe," Governor Rockefeller said. "The clearance of obsolete and blighted buildings, followed by the creation of a unified shopping area with new commercial facilities, wider streets, pedestrian walks and adjacent parking facilities will benefit the entire community." The urban renewal project, which includes an area of 87 acres, is bounded by Esopus Creek, the Penn Central Railroad tracks, Clinton Avenue, John Street, Lucas Avenue, Joy's Lane and Washington and Hurley Avenues.

Greene Death Is Accidental

Troopers P. H. Madigan said Edward Joseph Harnett Jr., 7, of Weed Road, Freehold, was pronounced dead on arrival at the Greene County Memorial Hospital in Catskill.

Coroner Millsbaugh reported the death was caused by a skull fracture and massive internal injuries.

BCI Investigator J. J. Buckley, BCI Investigator Donald Weiss and Trooper A. G. Parker noted that Alfred Molter, 37, of Sunrise, Cairo, was driving his car along Weed Road in front of the Harnett home, when suddenly the boy rode a bicycle out of a blind driveway into the path of the automobile.

Authorities said Molter didn't have time to avoid the accident.

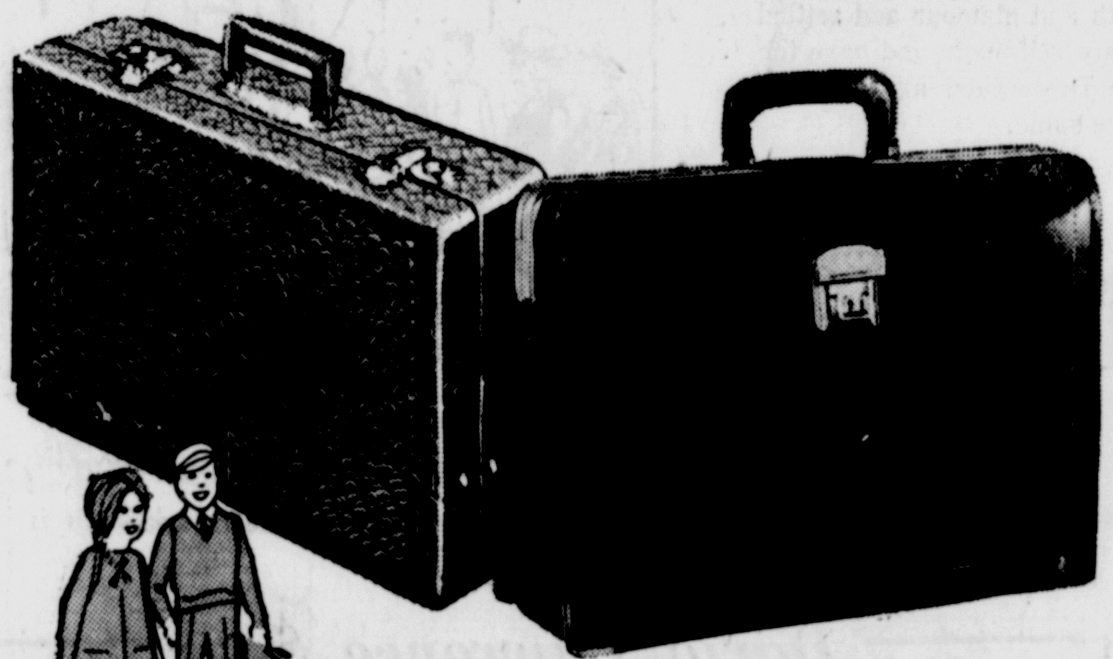

Sews Finger On

PAPEETE, Tahiti (UPI)—A shark Tuesday bit a finger off the right hand of Blake Tenville, 12, of Los Angeles. A ship's surgeon from the French vessel De Grasse pried open the shark's jaws, extracted the finger from its mouth and sewed it back on the boy's hand.

WASHINGTON — In order to avoid Nixon's last minute hassle in picking a vice president, Vice President Humphrey has picked four tentative running-mates and wants the Democratic Party to take a good look at them in advance. They are:

1. Sargeant Shriver, married to the eldest Kennedy sister, now ambassador to France. Shriver organized the Peace Corps, was in charge of the Anti-Poverty Administration and would have an appeal to youth.
2. Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine, a former governor of that state and one of the ablest members of the Senate. He is of Polish descent and would have an appeal to the ethnic groups which are anti-Negro.

3. Gov. Richard Hughes of New Jersey, generally considered one of the ablest governors in the United States. He got into the limelight when he arranged for President Johnson to meet with Premier Kosygin at Glassboro, N. J.

4. Mayor Joseph Alioto of San Francisco. Alioto is a newcomer on the national political scene but attracted attention when he debated with other big city mayors at the International Platform Association last month, and recently introduced Vice President Humphrey at a big fund-raising dinner.

All of the above are Catholics, all men have popular appeal and considerable experience. Humphrey likes them all, believes they would all be good voters, even though some are not too well known. Incidentally he hasn't ruled out the choice of Sen. Eugene McCarthy, even though this would mean the loss of eleven Minnesota electoral votes because of the constitutional ban on voting for a president and vice president from the same state.

Lobbyist for Peace

Of the several million youngsters in this country urging peace in Vietnam, probably the most effective is David Truong, son of Truong Dinh Dzu, the man who ran second in last year's South Vietnamese elections and has now been sentenced to five years at hard labor. This is the equivalent of giving Barry Goldwater a jail sentence after he lost out to Lyndon Johnson in 1964.

Young Truong has been in Washington, New York and is now going to Chicago for the Democratic National Convention. Some of his friends were in Miami Beach judging the Republicans with the question: "How do you feel about the jailing of a losing candidate by the winner?"

The Vietnam education project in the Hotel Fontainebleau also reminded the Republicans: "Mr. Dzu is a Rotarian, likes the United States and presently has a son in Stanford University and a daughter at UCLA."

His son David Truong, tells this story of his father's trial and imprisonment:

"There were twelve soldiers inside the court room with M-16's and five others with machine guns. The presiding officer then read the evidence which consisted of two interviews which my father had given the UPI and BBC in London, plus a short resume of his campaign platform in which he had urged a coalition government."

"The presiding officer said very clearly that my father was accused of having urged a coalition government as the way to solve the war."

"On cross examination my father cornered the presiding

Humphrey Weighing Four For Ticket's Second Spot

officer into admitting that what he, my father, meant was to provide South Vietnam with a viable political framework for every political party. The guy said yes."

"The brief clash between my father and the presiding officer was cut short because the five men presiding as judges had received instructions that the trial should not last more than two hours. My father's lawyer was told the time was up."

"All five presiding officers went into another room. One of them made a phone call to check on the sentence with his superiors. The sentence was five years of hard labor and the confiscation of our property. The second part was added because of my mother's press campaign in defense of my father."

"Right after the sentence, my father was hustled into American Embassy can do. It a police truck under emergency security measures. He is now detained on an island usually referred to as the Alcatraz, where the late President Diem sent all political prisoners, it is pretty bad out there."

"There is not much the American Embassy can do. It would be better to say that embassy officials did not want to damage relations between two allies."

"The fact remains that President Thieu abused the backing that President Johnson gave him in Honolulu to go back to Saigon and suppress the alternatives to his regime. This is how you are making democracy live in Southeast Asia."

Young David Truong hopes to testify on the Vietnam war before the Democratic Platform Committee in Chicago. He could give interesting testimony. It will be interesting to see what happens.

Note — Something very strange happened when President Johnson went to Honolulu to confer with President Thieu. Before leaving Washington he had given indications that he might accept North Vietnam's deescalation of fighting as a move which he could match with lessened bombing and thus pave the way for a truce. But President Thieu obviously talked him out of it. Perhaps like Gov. George Romney, LBJ was brainwashed. At any rate Thieu returned to Saigon and promptly slapped his No. 1 political opponent in jail.

The Freeman—Editorially Speaking

Men of Humble Origins

The old saying, that every American born boy has it within him to become President of the United States was never so true as it will be shown to be in the November election. The Nixon-Agnew ticket once more proves it true, as a ticket headed either by Vice President Humphrey or Senator McCarthy will also prove the truism.

Nixon reached a high moment of sentimental drama in his speech accepting the nomination for President, when he described the "impossible dream" of a young boy whose father did not have more than a sixth grade education and who slaved that his sons might have a chance to go to college.

And Agnew was still dazed that the son of an immigrant restaurateur with only two years of experience as Governor of the great state of Maryland should be chosen for the second highest office in the land because he had had experience of running a county government and knew the problems and pitfalls of urban affairs.

Humphrey and McCarthy are also men of humble beginnings who made good in the political world and could probably match the stories of their Republican rivals should either of them be nominated by the Democrats, as seems certain now.

A Presidential convention—either party—leaves a debris of memories when it is over. Miami Beach is an air-conditioned sandbox and 1,333 Republican delegates and their ladies played in it for a week. Some play desperately; some are in awe of palm trees and sudden showers; others wore their pencils to stubs trying to select the winner in advance.

It is difficult to determine, these days, whether the party is more important than the press, or vice versa. The delegate hasn't much more knowledge than is state chairman imparts to him; the reporter is welcome at every state delegation and he spends his time sifting lies from half-truths.

The delegates littered the Convention Hall floor with copies of the greater Miami newspapers and home-town sheets. Men like Huntley-Brinkley and Cronkite had as many as fifty men apiece gathering news for them and skill managed to portray much of the proceedings as tedious.

Most of the delegations reserved rooms at hotels from the Saxony northward to the Fontainebleu, Eden Roc, Hilton, The Castaways and The Diplomat. Many spent time lacerating juicy steaks, tilting scotch, and roaring encouragement to Go-Go girls who had eyeballs painted on their navels.

They rented cars by the hundreds, skipped sessions to see the Seaquarium, the Parrot Jungle and Lion Country. They played golf, gin rummy, yelled yippee in the halls in their underwear, and petitioned the Platform Committee not to take a stand on anything.

Some, searing big fawn-colored hats chartered fishing

boats to go out in the Gulf Stream for the big sail fish and blue marlin. The night club shows were off-season third-raters, but the tables were packed. Nelson Rockefeller refused to shut up, and Richard Nixon refused to speak.

Everyone discussed credentials. The last press passes were awarded on April 15th. Any reporter who waited too long had to get one entitling him to sit in the press room and watch the proceedings on television. Western Union had a special office for the filing of stories and with sagging faces the rheumy-eyed telegraphers sat waiting for all the imperishable prose.

Florida officials, playing host to the Republican convention, tried to put on its best face. Governor Claude Kirk, an unpaid comedian, tried to drown the press in orange juice and gin. Mayor Jay Derner, of Miami Beach, was here, there and everywhere solving problems, placating angry delegates, assuring pompous politicians of a good time.

A man named Duoff had charge of the Convention Hall, arranging everything from lectern to t.v. booths and, between sessions, supervising an army of people to clean up the place. He ordered a cop to put a summons on my car. A press agent, Hank Meyer, polished the tropical sun every night and tinted the clouds so that the Gold Coast of Florida would appear at its best.

There were prostitutes, too, and bar girls. These are common everywhere, legs crossed on stools, the caterpillar eyelashes lowered modestly. White Florida was busy selecting a nominee, the talk up and down the state was about George Wallace, the one-time truck driver who still runs through the red lights. He's a southern hero, like Jeb Stuart.

The beaches got a good play, and suntan lotion was applied one day late. The golf courses were hacked with flying sod. Delegates who overplayed their joys spent a day or two in Mount Sinai Hospital. When the conversation became serious among delegates the question was always the same. Will the losers campaign hard for the winner? Like the Democrats, the Republicans come in three packages: liberal, conservative and extreme right.

To win the approval of those three wings, a man would have to be the world's most accomplished liar. Of course, this also applies to Humphrey and McCarthy in the other party.

It was the first time a national political convention was held in greater Miami.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13—

Many people may not have realized the significance of a certain pledge made by Richard M. Nixon in his speech accepting the Republican presidential nomination. He said that, if elected, he would have his attorney general open a new front against the fifth peddlers and the narcotics peddlers who are corrupting the lives of the children of this country.

In all the stories about crime—the mugging of people on the streets and the robbing of homes as well as the riots and disorders which have swept the land—prominence has been given to the racial issue or ordinary criminality as the cause of the disturbances. Much less emphasis has been placed upon the real motivation of some of the arsonists, looters and others guilty of lawlessness.

Again and again trouble has been started by what police chiefs have called "activists" or "outside agitators" of both races. Because of the confusion that has prevailed as a result of the controversy over the cause of crime and disorders, the American people have not been made conscious of just what stimulates so many teenagers to engage in acts of violence.

Officials here blame much of it on the use of narcotics. They say that all the poverty programs and appropriations to improve the cities will not do away with lawless acts by youngsters under the influence of drugs.

There is ample evidence that LSD, marijuana, heroin and other drugs have been widely peddled in the United States in violation of state as well as of federal laws. A large part has been smuggled in across the Canadian and Mexican borders. In fact, customs officials estimate in their latest statistics that each year the amount imported illegal influx of the drugs, but the preceding year.

The big problem that has to be dealt with is not altogether concerned with the illegal influx of the drugs, but rather the method by which they are sold and distributed inside this country. Organized gangsters are engaged in the narcotics trade.

Law-enforcement officials have for a long time been aware of the situation created by the illegal sale of narcotics. Little attention has been directed to it, however, because of a belief that riots and disturbances have been related only to a feeling of injustice on the part of what have been termed the "poor people."

All the aspirants for the presidency and vice presidency in both parties, of course, are in favor of respect for law and order and promise to enforce the laws. Mr. Nixon, in his acceptance speech, said:

"Just as we cannot have progress without order, we cannot have order without progress."

But local police chiefs and those who have had contact with the hundreds of youngsters who have been arrested in connection with violations of law in the cities are beginning to get at the true cause—the unbalanced minds of young people who have come under the influence of narcotics. Instances of it have been noted when arrests of students have been made in campus rebellions.

Very little is said publicly about the bits of evidence that have been accumulated by law-enforcement officials which show that again and again youngsters who engage in sniping or looting or setting fire to stores or holdups in the streets to get a small amount of cash have been victims of the drug habit. When the disturbances arise and the police are busy in one section of a city, the criminals, including the drug addicts, move in to do their looting in another area.

Federal laws do make it a crime to possess, sell or import narcotics. The criminal penalties vary. The first offense for possession is not less than two or more than 10 years in prison. A first conviction for selling or importing narcotics or marijuana can mean a sentence of not less than five or more than 20 years. If heroin is sold to a minor by an adult, the seller faces a possible life sentence or the death penalty at the discretion of the jury.

"Dope" control has become as important in many ways as gun control. The Congress, however, has not investigated the subject thoroughly, and the whole problem has not been given the careful study it deserves by both the federal and state governments.

Timely Quotes

We are confronted not with old bolshevism, but a new kind of anarchy. This new anarchy is not imported from abroad. It is the result of spontaneous combustion here in the United States. It involves much more religious fervor than it involves atheism.

—Harry Ransom, chancellor of the University of Texas, calling for a "retreat to reason," in which education strives for reformation, not revolution.

Henry J. Taylor Says

Soviet Use of Espionage Agents

The most dangerous partner behind the black flag of anarchy and the red flag of Moscow is the Soviet penetration of our own government.

It's high time the sham and secrecy were torn off.

Last year, worldwide, 107 Soviet agents were uncovered. Forty-five had diplomatic cover, 30 more were called journalists, the Kremlin passed off 15 as businessmen, five more as airline executives and six as cultural experts.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation officially estimates that Soviet Embassy staffs contain everywhere 50 to 80 per cent espionage personnel and that 80 per cent of the personnel in the Soviet-bloc delegations at the United Nations in New York City are intelligence officers and not diplomats at all.

A U.S.S.R. organization known as the All Union Society for Cultural Relations Abroad endeavors to establish cultural ties with foreign countries, supplies Soviet films, and arranges Red artists' tours.

I attended recently the marvelous Bolshoi Ballet, and previously the spectacular Moscow Circus, in New York. The performers were as attractive and charming as they were talented. But, although the All Union Society poses as an independent organization, it is strictly controlled by the U.S.S.R. Communist party.

In fact, our counterintelligence found that not only a famous Bolshoi dancer but the Circus' poignant chief clown were targeted by the KGB secret police against our cultural devotees who received them so warmly.

They played very successfully on the dangerous habit of some intellectuals, educators and even churchmen of rationalizing Soviet attacks on the U.S.A.

This introduces an additional point. I certainly do not think that we should insult our Soviet visitors, but I do think we might well show them, after our praise of Russian dancers, skaters, etc., a little pride in our own freedoms, our heritage and the American inventions that have made our country the most beneficial to mankind and to the world that the world has ever seen.

An espionage agent deals in two things: facts and people. I have known well four types: the venal spy, for money over-all is to espionage what gasoline is to a motorcar; the patriot, or man with an ideological incentive; the born conspirator, of which there are a surprising number; and the entrapped, compromised person black-mailed into service.

Moscow slips espionage trainees abroad for a year to familiarize themselves with the country. After another seven or eight years the trainees are sent back to that country with a complete set of false documents, skilled positions in government, science, defense or the communications industries, etc. The Soviet's constant, patient, long-term planting of this seed is its reservoir strength.

reader can tell what he is saying from several tables away.

Usually they confirm their KGB contacts by producing dollar notes that bear consecutive serial numbers. The Soviet agent's first law is to get all the geography right, prepare his emergency exit and assure his communication with his Moscow masters. He cannot afford to fail. The KGB point of puncture is the back of the neck.

But success, too, is often a false dream. The Soviet frequently fools agents by saying that will put huge payments into escrow for them in Moscow. The KGB liquidates the man for knowing too much when he comes home.

Although a spy has no protection except the loyalty of his chief, KGB agents express a perpetual fear: "Kto kogo?" — "Who is over who?"

Every important defector is to keep contact with the man until an interrogation expert can take over. The interrogator must never admit a lack of knowledge and must return, hypnotically, to any tiny crack in the smooth surface of the defector's story.

A double-agent kept in place is our most invaluable espionage tool. But if the Kremlin has sent him as a plant to penetrate us the risks are enormous. A penetrated U.S. intelligence service is not just a bad one; it can be an appalling liability. Instead of an indispensable eye, it can become a dangerous credulous ear and a deceiving voice destroying its own purpose of our national security.

"There were twelve soldiers inside the court room with M-16's and five others with machine guns. The presiding officer then read the evidence which consisted of two interviews which my father had given the UPI and BBC in London, plus a short resume of his campaign platform in which he had urged a coalition government."

The presiding officer said very clearly that my father was accused of having urged a coalition government as the way to solve the war.

"On cross examination my father cornered the presiding officer into admitting that what he, my father, meant was to provide South Vietnam with a viable political framework for every political party. The guy said yes."

The brief clash between my father and the presiding officer was cut short because the five men presiding as judges had received instructions that the trial should not last more than two hours. My father's lawyer was told the time was up.

All five presiding officers went into another room. One of them made a phone call to check on the sentence with his superiors. The sentence was five years of hard labor and the confiscation of our property. The second part was added because of my mother's press campaign in defense of my father.

"Right after the sentence, my father was hustled into the American Embassy can do. It a police truck under emergency security measures. He is now detained on an island usually referred to as the Alcatraz, where the late President Diem sent all political prisoners, it is pretty bad out there."

"There is not much the American Embassy can do. It would be better to say that embassy officials did not want to damage relations between two allies."

"The fact remains that President Thieu abused the backing that President Johnson gave him in Honolulu to go back to Saigon and suppress the alternatives to his regime. This is how you are making democracy live in Southeast Asia."

Young David Truong hopes to testify on the Vietnam war before the Democratic Platform Committee in Chicago. He could give interesting testimony. It will be interesting to see what happens.

Note — Something very strange happened when President Johnson went to Honolulu to confer with President Thieu. Before leaving Washington he had given indications that he might accept North Vietnam's deescalation of fighting as a move which he could match with lessened bombing and thus pave the way for a truce. But President Thieu obviously talked him out of it. Perhaps like Gov. George Romney, LBJ was brainwashed. At any rate Thieu returned to Saigon and promptly slapped his No. 1 political opponent in jail.

Men of Humble Origins

The old saying, that every American born boy has it within him to become President of the United States was never so true as it will be shown to be in the November election. The Nixon-Agnew ticket once more proves it true, as a ticket headed either by Vice President Humphrey or Senator McCarthy will also prove the truism.

Nixon reached a high moment of sentimental drama in his speech accepting the nomination for President, when he described the "impossible dream" of a young boy whose father did not have more than a sixth grade education and who slaved that his sons might have a chance to go to college.

And Agnew was still dazed that the son of an immigrant restaurateur with only two years of experience as Governor of the great state of Maryland should be chosen for the second highest office in the land because he had had experience of running a county government and knew the problems and pitfalls of urban affairs.

Humphrey and McCarthy are also men of humble beginnings who made good in the political world and could probably match the stories of their Republican rivals should either of them be nominated by the Democrats, as seems certain now.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

A Presidential convention—either party—leaves a debris of memories when it is over. Miami Beach is an air-conditioned sandbox and 1,333 Republican delegates and their ladies played in it for a week. Some play desperately; some are in awe of palm trees and sudden showers; others wore their pencils to stubs trying to select the winner in advance.

It is difficult to determine, these days, whether the party is more important than the press, or vice versa. The delegate hasn't much more knowledge than is state chairmen imparts to him; the reporter is welcome at every state delegation and he spends his time sifting lies from half-truths.

The delegates littered the Convention Hall floor with copies of the greater Miami newspapers and home-town sheets. Men like Huntley-Brinkley and Cronkite had as many as fifty men apiece gathering news for them and skill managed to portray much of the proceedings as tedious.

Most of the delegations reserved rooms at hotels from the Saxony northward to the Fontainebleu, Eden Roc, Hilton, The Castaways and The Diplomat. Many spent time lacerating juicy steaks, tilting scotch, and roaring encouragement to Go-Go girls who had eyeballs painted on their eyelids.

They rented cars by the hundreds, skipped sessions to see the Aquarium, the Parrot Jungle and Lion Country. They played golf, gin rummy, yelled yippee in the halls in their underwear, and petitioned the Platform Committee not to take a stand on anything.

Some, searing big fawn-colored hats chartered fishing

boats to go out in the Gulf Stream for the big sail fish and blue marlin. The night club shows were off-season third-raters, but the tables were packed. Nelson Rockefeller refused to shut up, and Richard Nixon refused to speak.

Everyone discussed credentials. The last press passes were awarded on April 15th. Any reporter who waited too long had to get one entitling him to sit in the press room and watch the proceedings on television. Western Union had a special office for the filing of stories and with sagging faces the rheumy-eyed telegraphers sat waiting for all the imperishable prose.

Florida officials, playing host to the Republican convention, tried to put on its best face. Governor Claude Kirk, an unpaid comedian, tried to drown the press in orange juice and gin. Mayor J. D. Dyer, of Miami Beach, was here, there and everywhere solving problems, placating angry delegates, assuring pompous politicians of a good time.

A man armed Ducoff had charge of the Convention Hall, arranging everything from lectern to t.v. booths and, between sessions, supervising an army of people to clean up the place. He ordered a cop to put a summons on my

But to those making the nominating speeches, their nominees were men of destiny, men whom history has so clearly thrust forward, and the delegates wanted to hear that, too. For humble beginning may beget sympathy and admiration, but experience and ability beget votes.

Only half the nominating process has been completed. We must wait now to see who the Democrats choose as their banner bearers. The Republicans turned their backs on wealth and glamour and settled on men who in large part are self-made and have the urge to make it big. The Democrats, all the signs show, will be doing much the same.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Of course, there are a lot of Nehru suits—this is India!"

David Lawrence Says Nixon's Drug Curb Plank Seen as Crime Deterrent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 — Many people may not have realized the significance of a certain pledge made by Richard M. Nixon in his speech accepting the Republican presidential nomination. He said that, if elected, he would have his attorney general open a new front against the fifth peddlers and the narcotics peddlers who are corrupting the lives of the children of this country.

In all the stories about crime—the mugging of people on the streets and the robbing of homes as well as the riots and disorders which have swept the land—prominence has been given to the racial issue or ordinary criminality as the cause of the disturbances. Much less emphasis has been placed upon the real motivation of some of the arsonists, looters and others guilty of lawlessness.

Again and again trouble has been started by what police chiefs have called "activists" or "outside agitators" of both races. Because of the confusion that has prevailed as a result of the controversy over the cause of crime and disorders, the American people have not been made conscious of just what stimulates so many teen-agers to engage in acts of violence.

Officials here blame much of it on the use of narcotics. They say that all the poverty programs and appropriations to improve the cities will not do away with lawless acts by youngsters under the influence of drugs.

There is ample evidence that LSD, marijuana, heroin and other drugs have been widely peddled in the United States in violation of state as well as of federal laws. A large part has been smuggled in across the Canadian and Mexican borders. In fact, customs officials estimate in their latest statistics that each year the amount imported illegal influx of the drugs, but the preceding year.

The big problem that has to be dealt with is not altogether concerned with the illegal influx of the drugs, but rather the method by which they are sold and distributed inside this country. Organized gangsters are engaged in the narcotics trade.

Law-enforcement officials have for a long time been aware of the situation created by the illegal sale of narcotics. Little attention has been directed to it, however, because of a belief that riots and disturbances have been related only to a feeling of injustice on the part of what have been termed the "poor people."

All the aspirants for the presidency and vice presidency in both parties, of course, are in favor of respect for law and order and promise to enforce the laws. Mr. Nixon, in his acceptance speech, said:

"Just as we cannot have progress without order, we cannot have order without progress. But local police chiefs and those who have had contact with the hundreds of youngsters who have been arrested in connection with violations of law in the cities are beginning to get at the true cause—the unbalanced minds of young people who have come under the influence of narcotics. Instances of it have been noted

when arrests of students have been made in campus rebellions.

Very little is said publicly about the bits of evidence that have been accumulated by law-enforcement officials which show that again and again youngsters who engage in sniping or looting or setting fire to stores or holdups in the streets to get a small amount of cash have been victims of the drug habit. When the disturbances arise and the police are busy in one section of a city, the criminals, including the drug addicts, move in to do their looting in another area.

Federal laws do make it a crime to possess, sell or import narcotics or marijuana. The criminal penalties vary. The first offense for possession is not less than two or more than 10 years in prison. A first conviction for selling or importing narcotics or marijuana can mean a sentence of not less than five or more than 20 years. If heroin is sold to a minor by an adult, the seller faces a possible life sentence or the death penalty at the discretion of the jury.

"Dope" control has become as important in many ways as gun control. The Congress, however, has not investigated the subject thoroughly, and the whole problem has not been given the careful study it deserves by both the federal and state governments.

Timely Quotes

We are confronted not with old bolshevism, but a new kind of anarchy. This new anarchy is not imported from abroad. It is the result of spontaneous combustion here in the United States. It involves much more religious fervor than it involves atheism.

Harry Ransom, chancellor of the University of Texas, calling for a "treat to reason," in which education strives for reformation, not revolution.

Henry J. Taylor Says Soviet Use of Espionage Agents

The most dangerous partner behind the black flag of anarchy and the red flag of Moscow is the Soviet penetration of our own government.

It's high time the sham and secrecy were torn off. Last year, worldwide, 107 Soviet agents were uncovered. Forty-five had diplomatic cover, 30 more were called journalists, the Kremlin passed off 15 as businessmen, five more as airline executives and six as cultural experts.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation officially estimates that Soviet Embassy staffs contain everywhere 50 to 80 per cent espionage personnel and that 80 per cent of the personnel in the Soviet-bloc delegations at the United Nations in New York City are intelligence officers and not diplomats at all.

A U.S.S.R. organization known as the All Union Society for Cultural Relations Abroad endeavors to establish cultural ties with foreign countries, supplies Soviet films, and arranges Red artists' tours.

I attended recently the marvelous Bolshoi Ballet, and previously the spectacular Moscow Circus, in New York. The performers were as attractive and charming as they were talented. But, although the All Union Society poses as an independent organization, it is strictly controlled by the U.S.S.R. Communist party.

In fact, our counterintelligence found that not only a famous Bolshoi dancer but the Circus' poignant chief clown were targeted by the KGB secret police against our cultural devotees, who received them so warmly. They played very successfully on the dangerous habit of some intellectuals, educators and even churchmen of rationalizing Soviet attacks on the U.S.A.

This introduces an additional point. I certainly do not think that we should insult our Soviet visitors, but I do think we might well show them, after our praise of Russian dancers, skaters, etc., a little pride in our own freedoms, our heritage and the American inventions that have made our country the most beneficial to mankind and to the world that the world has ever seen.

An espionage agent deals in two things: facts and people. I have known well four types: the venal spy, for money over-all is to espionage what gasoline is to a motorcar; the patriot, or man with an ideological incentive; the born conspirator, of which there are a surprising number; and the entrapped, compromised person black-mailed into service.

Moscow slips espionage trainees abroad for a year to familiarize themselves with the country. After another seven or eight years the trainees are sent back to that country with a complete set of false documents, skilled enough to obtain good positions in government, science, defense or the communications industries, etc. The Soviet's constant, patient, long-term planting of this seed is its reservoir strength.

reader can tell what he is saying from several tables away. Usually they confirm their KGB contacts by producing dollar notes that bear consecutive serial numbers. The Soviet agent's first law is to get all the geography right, prepare his emergency exit and assure his communication with his Moscow masters. He cannot afford to fail. The KGB point of puncture is the back of the neck.

But success, too, is often a false dream. The Soviet frequently fools agents by saying that will put huge payments into "escrow" for them in Moscow. The KGB liquidates the man for knowing too much when he comes home.

Although a spy has no protection except the loyalty of his chief, KGB agents express a perpetual fear: "Kto kogo?" — "Who is over who?"

Every important defector is to keep contact with the man until an interrogation expert can take over. The interrogator must never admit a lack of knowledge and must return, hypnotically, to any tiny crack in the smooth surface of the defector's story.

A double-agent kept in place is our most invaluable espionage tool. But if the Kremlin has sent him as a plant to penetrate us the risks are enormous. A penetrated U.S. intelligence service is not just a bad one; it can be an appalling liability. Instead of an indispensable eye, it can become a dangerous credulous ear and a deceiving voice destroying its own purpose of our national security.

Breakdown in Morality Is Agreed Upon

PRINCETON, N. J., Aug.
13—Convention speakers and campaign orators who de-claim about the breakdown of moral standards in America will find their audiences ready

to agree.

While this is the prevailing view in the U.S., it should be quickly noted that this phenomenon is by no means

limited to this country. In virtually all nations of the western world, people share a like opinion.

But of all people questioned
in 12 nations, those in the U.S. take the most alarming view
of the situation. By the ratio of nearly 10-to-1, those who see a change say that morals

are getting worse—not better.
Survey results were collected in a joint undertaking
by Gallup Polls in 12 nations of the world, using modern sampling techniques. Interviewing was conducted during a comparable period of (or comparable one) was asked for accurate cross-sections of the public in each country:

"Do you believe that life today is getting better or worse in terms of morals?"

Here are the results, ranked
in order of the proportion saying "worse":

Is Life Getting Better or Worse in Terms of Morals?

	Wor.	Bet.	No
	%	%	Cha.
U.S.	78	8	12
Netherlands .	67	8	22
Great Britain	62	14	19
Greece	55	36	4
Uruguay	54	11	21
Norway	54	15	21
Canada	53	16	22
Sweden	52	12	29
Switzerland .	51	44	—
France	50	24	19
Austria	48	9	38
Finland	46	30	20

Honesty Also Seen Fading

The public's discouragement over the state of morals
today is further reflected in their views on the standards of honesty.

Again the U.S. public holds
the gloomiest outlook, although the weight of opinion
among those in other nations
who see a change is that life is getting worse in terms of honesty.

Six in every ten here in the U.S. say life is getting worse
from the standpoint of honesty while only 13 per cent say
"better."

The table, with countries
again ranked in terms of the proportion saying "worse,"
follows:

Is Life Getting Better or Worse in Terms of Honesty?

	Worse	Better	No
	%	%	Change
U.S.	61	13	19
Sweden	54	8	32
Greece	52	35	7
Netherlands .	52	10	33
France	51	12	29
Switzerland .	51	21	—
Great Britain	50	12	27
Uruguay	50	10	31
Austria	45	8	41
Finland	44	14	32
Canada	44	13	33
Norway	42	12	33

Religion Is Losing Impact

Worldwide opinion on the state of religion hardly offers a brighter picture. In all 12
nations, with the exception of Greece, the weight of opinion
is clearly on the side that life
religion.

A larger proportion of Netherlands feel that life is getting worse in terms of religion than is true of other nations surveyed. Nearly eight in ten said "worse" in response to the question. Exactly half of all Americans interviewed hold this opinion, twice the proportion who say
"better."

Here is the table, with the views of the U.S. public about halfway down the list:

Is Life Getting Better or Worse in Terms of Religion?

	Worse	Better	No
	%	%	Change
Netherlands .	77	9	8
Switzerland .	65	16	—
Great Britain	61	10	19
Sweden	60	8	24
Canada	58	19	17
Finland	54	16	20
U.S.	50	26	16
France	49	19	23
Norway	46	14	28
Greece	43	43	10
Austria	37	14	43
Uruguay	30	18	37

The 'Sick Sixties'

The views of the U.S. public on honesty and religion have changed dramatically during
the sixties.
In 1960, only a slightly greater portion of people in the U.S. said life was getting worse in terms of religion

than held the opposite opinion.
Today, however, five times as many say "worse" as say
"better."

Eight years ago, in 1960,
twice as many people said life
was getting "better" in terms of religion as said "worse."
Now Americans say "worse"

by the ratio of 2-to-1.
Great technological advances
have been made the world over the last 10 years, but if the views of the great mass
of people around the world are indicative, future historians may label the present decade the "sick sixties."

of his favorite retreats in nearby Key Biscayne, Nixon
again defended his choice of Maryland's Gov. Spiro Agnew
as his running mate, a choice that created friction at the convention.

He said Agnew had brains,
knew how to handle press
conferences, was knowledgeable about the cities, and
being from a border state,
was acceptable to both the North and South.

To the Editor:

Richard Nixon in victory
was characterized at the Republican Convention as the
"all American" man, presumably, one who can speak for all segments of his
the liberal wing. I believe this is an apt picture for his public life has been remarkable in its improvisation of principle.
These chameleon-like characteristics are very useful in the game of politics but very detrimental in a President of the United States. Forthright-ness and deep genuine conviction plus understanding are
the mark of a real leader.
The 1968 Republican Convention in its attempt to straddle
all the positions attendant
may find itself locked in a position entirely unrelated to the mainstream of American thought and thus continue its role as a minority party.

Four weeks after Gov.
Rockefeller clearly stated his appraisal of the situation in Vietnam Mr. Nixon took a 180 degree turn in his position.
With the Wallace strength
overshadowing the convention hall Mr. Nixon reacted with alacrity to the southern delegations, weighting their position above all others.
Having no deep convictions of his own he simply reacts to the position of others. Some people have described him as the "hollow man," an actor
speaking lines. His selection as candidate has disaffected
a large number of Republicans. It will be interesting to see how successful he is in wooing
Democrats in the months
ahead.

PRINCETON, N. J., Aug.
13—Convention speakers and

campaign orators who de-
claim about the breakdown of
moral standards in America
will find their audiences ready
to agree.
While this is the prevailing view in the U.S., it should be quickly noted that this phenomenon is by no means

limited to this country. In virtually all nations of the western world, people share a like opinion.

But of all people questioned
in 12 nations, those in the U.S. take the most alarming view
of the situation. By the ratio of nearly 10-to-1, those who see a change say that morals

are getting worse—not better.
Survey results were collected in a joint undertaking
by Gallup Polls in 12 nations
of the world, using modern sampling techniques. Interviewing was conducted during a comparable period of (or comparable one) was asked for accurate cross-sections of the public in each country:

"Do you believe that life
today is getting better or worse in terms of morals?"

Here are the results, ranked
in order of the proportion saying "worse":

Is Life Getting Better or Worse in Terms of Morals?

	Wor.	Bet.	No
	%	%	Cha.
U.S.	78	8	12
Netherlands .	67	8	22
Great Britain	62	14	19
Greece	55	36	4
Uruguay	54	11	21
Norway	54	15	21
Canada	53	16	22
Sweden	52	12	29
Switzerland .	51	44	—
France	50	24	19
Austria	48	9	38
Finland	46	30	20

Honesty Also Seen Fading

The public's discourag-
ement over the state of morals
today is further reflected in their views on the standards
of honesty.

Again the U.S. public holds
the gloomiest outlook although the weight of opinion
among those in other nations
who see a change is that life
is getting worse in terms of honesty.

Six in every ten here in the U.S. say life is getting worse
from the standpoint of honesty
while only 13 per cent say
"better."

The table, with countries
again ranked in terms of the
follows:

Is Life Getting Better or Worse in Terms of Honesty?

	Wor.	Bet.	No
	%	%	Cha.
U.S.	61	13	19
Sweden	54	8	32

Finland	44	14	32
Canada	44	13	33
Norway	42	12	33

Religion Is Losing Impact

Worldwide opinion on the state of religion hardly offers
a brighter picture. In all 12
nations, with the exception of Greece, the weight of opinion
is clearly on the side that life
religion.

A larger proportion of Netherlanders feel that life is getting worse in terms of religion than is true of other nations surveyed. Nearly eight in ten said "worse" in response to the question. Exactly half of all Americans interviewed hold this opinion, twice the proportion who say
"better."

Here is the table, with the views of the U.S. public about
halfway down the list:

Is Life Getting Better or Worse in Terms of Religion?

	Wor.	Bet.	No
	%	%	Cha.
Netherlands .	77	9	8
Switzerland .	65	16	—
Great Britain	61	10	19

The 'Sixties'

The views of the U.S. public
on honesty and religion have changed dramatically during
the sixties.

In 1960, only a slightly

greater portion of people in the U.S. said life was getting worse in terms of religion
than held the opposite opinion.
Today, however, five times as many say "worse" as say
"better."

Eight years ago, in 1960,
twice as many people said life
was getting "better" in terms
of religion as said "worse."
Now Americans say "worse"
by the ratio of 2-to-1.

Great technological advances
have been made the world
over the last 10 years, but if
the views of the great mass
of people around the world are indicative, future historians may label the present decade the "sick sixties."

High on Agnew

Nixon Certain He Can Appeal To the Black Voters in Ghettos

By PETER LISAGOR

Richard M. Nixon says he is confident he can campaign in the urban ghettos and establish "a dialog" with black voters in his campaign as the Republican presidential candidate.

In a chatty mood at a reception for newsmen at one of his favorite retreats in nearby Key Biscayne, Nixon
again defended his choice of Maryland's Gov. Spiro Agnew
as his running mate, a choice
convention.

He said Agnew had brains,
knew how to handle press
conferences, was knowledgeable about the cities, and
being from a border state,
was acceptable to both the North and South.

Calling Agnew the "most underrated political figure in America," Nixon said there was "a mystique" about the Marylander, a quiet confidence, that impressed him.

He was pictured as "a good man on the attack or the defense," and would, Nixon said, act as "a lightning rod" for him.

"A guy's got it or he hasn't," Nixon said of Agnew, adding "If he hasn't, Nixon's made a bum choice." He said he thought Agnew "had it."

Citing a pool which showed 50 per cent of the Negro voters presently undecided, Nixon said he thought he can win votes among them by telling it "like it is." He would campaign in the cities and talk to Negroes, he said. He was "not afraid" to go into ghettos, he said.

Nixon described the "new politics" as one involving dialog and praised Sen.
Eugene McCarthy, of Minnesota, a Democratic candidate for the presidency, as a man who has a "good dialogist." He said he was confident neither he nor Vice President Hubert H. Hume phrey would try to exploit black unrest.

He intimated that at some juncture he might talk to Humphrey about the explosive issue and how to approach it.
On the same issue, he expressed the view that Alabama's former Governor George Wallace, a third party candidate, already had peaked in his popularity but admitted that more race riots might change that estimate.

When it was half-jestingly suggested that maybe President Johnson would try to run again, Nixon said, "no, he has made up his mind. When a man makes up his mind, that's it." His own mind was made up to run last

December when he was at Key Biscayne with Rev. Billy Graham, he said.

Nixon said that he planned a different campaign from his 1960 effort against John F.
Kennedy when he raced frantically from city to city and state to state in an exhaustive bid for votes, making the same old speech over and over. He didn't indicate what changes he had in mind.

To the Editor:

Richard Nixon in victory
was characterized at the Republican Convention as the
"all American" man,
presumably, one who can
the liberal wing. I believe this is an apt picture for his public
life has been remarkable in
its improvisation of principle.
These chameleon-like characteristics are very useful in
the game of politics but very detrimental in a President of the United States. Forthright-
ness and deep genuine conviction plus understanding are
the mark of a real leader.
The 1968 Republican Convention in its attempt to straddle
all the positions attendant
may find itself locked in a position entirely unrelated to the mainstream of American thought and thus continue its

role as a minority party.

Four weeks after Gov.
Rockefeller clearly stated his
Vietnam Mr. Nixon took a 180 degree turn in his position.
With the Wallace strength
overshadowing the convention hall Mr. Nixon reacted with alacrity to the southern delegations, weighting their position above all others.
Having no deep convictions of his own he simply reacts to
the position of others. Some people have described him as
the "hollow man," an actor
speaking lines. His selection
as candidate has disaffected
a large number of Republicans. It will be interesting to see how successful he is in wooing
Democrats in the months
ahead.

Yours truly,
GEORGE S. WILDE

Marlboro Board

Dump and Water Are Topics

By CHARLES BERMPOHL
A dump study committee was appointed by Marlboro Supervisor Michael Canosa at the regular meeting of the town board last night.

Also discussed was the possibility of extending the Marlboro Water District to include the Hilltop Estates property owned by Harley Taylor.

The board also heard Water Commissioner Daniel Minadeo claim that his life was threatened by a man who challenged the commissioner's right to read a basement water meter while the man was not at home.

Appointed to the dump study committee were Councilmen Paul Quimby and T. Jack Conn, Town Justice Michael C. Pagano, Clerk James Woodward, and citizens Harry Lime Jr. and Robert Johnson.

Supervisor Canosa spoke of the possibility of seeking a new dump site or having the town entering into negotiations with a neighboring township in a joint dumping effort.

Councilman Quimby claimed that the Landing Street (Dock Road) site could only last for about one or two more years and that "something has to be done."

The present dump, owned by the Marlboro Manufacturing Co., is rented at the rate of $250 every two months and a three month supply of fill for the dump, purchased from the Orange and Ulster County Shale Co. of Milton, came to $736, a bill that was paid last night.

Budgeted last year, $12,500 is needed to run the dump. The annual figure includes paying a full time attendant along with the cost of hauling in sand and gravel.

Case Adjourned

William H. Johnson, 24, of 115 Franklin Street, Poughkeepsie, has received an adjournment until next week for hearing before City Judge Joseph H. Gellert on a charge of third degree assault. He was arrested early this week on complaint of Edna Perry of Highland, who told police the man pushed her and used profane language in Cy's Diner, where she is employed as a waitress. Johnson is free in $250 bail.

Welfare expenditures for July came to $491. Reason for the high figure was due to the $400 cost of a burial.

Off Critical List

Mrs. George Mauro, 65, of Corona, who was injured Aug. 7 when hit by a car on South Ohioville Road, New Paltz, was reported in satisfactory condition at Vassar Hospital where she is under treatment for a fractured pelvis and possible internal injuries. Her name has been removed from the critical list. The woman's husband also was injured when hit by a car driven by John Mark, 59, of Philadelphia, as the two walked along the road.

Rt. 32 Home Hit by Fire

Fire of undetermined origin Tuesday night heavily damaged a large frame house on Route 32 between New Paltz and Modena, but according to a fire department spokesman, the two-story unoccupied residence was not destroyed.

Modena Fire units in command of Chief William DePew responded to an alarm shortly after 9:45 p. m. Gardiner company was on standby alert.

The fire apparently originated in the kitchen area and burned up through partitions, mushrooming to other sections of the house, which is owned by Lewis LeFever of New Paltz, according to a fireman.

Firefighters had an ample supply of water and pumped streams from a nearby pond on the farm. Firemen returned to headquarters after midnight.

Have Court Date

A 23-year-old New Paltz man and two others from Poughkeepsie are slated to appear before City Judge Joseph H. Gellert in that city on Monday to face disorderly conduct charges. They were booked by police as Gail C. Whispell, of 452 South Ohioville Road; Willie C. Wright, 18, and Kenneth J. Decker, both of Poughkeepsie. Police accused the trio of engaging in a fist fight Sunday night. The three are at liberty on bail pending the hearing.

Ulster to Get Facts On Planned Town Hall

Ulster Town Board decided that a comprehensive fact sheet should be prepared covering the proposed $300,000 town office building complex before a referendum date is set for the project.

This decision was made Tuesday night at a public hearing on the town building proposal at which the majority of those attending favored the plan and agreed that there was a great need for a town hall and highway department garage. More than 50 persons attended.

One dissenter, Walter Houle, town Democratic chairman said he was not against the project, but criticized the planning of the proposal.

Ulster Supervisor Thaddeus Musialkiewicz said the comprehensive fact sheet would include information about furnishings, bonding fees, architect fees and other costs. Also included would be referendum information such as who is eligible to vote, where to vote and when.

The Ulster supervisor said there seemed to be a misunderstanding about the financing of the project. He said bond anticipation notes would be issued to cover the costs as the construction proceeded and when completed the 30-year bond issue would be negotiated to cover only the actual cost, the money actually spent on the project.

The project includes a 65 by 200 foot garage and 56 by 129 foot town hall to be constructed on town property along Neighborhood Road near Route 209. The town hall would be of block and brick veneer construction with 6,248 square feet of space on the first floor at an estimated cost of $124,960. The basement would have 2,184 square feet with vault and storage room and is listed to cost $17,472. The garage of the same construction will cost $104,000.

Houle proposed a building committee "to plan and monitor all phases of the project and advise the town board and the public of costs, alternatives, problems and progress."

The committee he said could investigate alternatives "such as remodeling one of the large vacant buildings on Route 9W."

It could complete the proposal and provide answers for all questions regarding costs, Houle said.

He contended "there can be no argument that the Town of Ulster badly needs these buildings" but cited shortcomings of the town proposal. He also recalled "that the town board paid Assessor Joseph Lohmeyer almost $4,000 per acre for the 5.3 acre site, does not produce much confidence that this project can be managed to a successful conclusion."

It was for this reason he proposed the building committee.

With the growth of the township, the Landing Street site is seen by board members as inadequate.

In other board action, a resolution was unanimously approved changing the District 3 polling place from the Marlboro Fire District Firehouse to the Vieby-Sutton American Legion Post on Western Avenue.

It was learned that revenue on the town park in Milton was $7,647.25 in the period covering June 2 to Aug. 1.

The 50-acre park, opened in 1963, offers swimming, fishing and boating.

Welfare expenditures for July came to $491. Reason for the high figure was due to the $400 cost of a burial.

The town paid $1,609.30 for corrugated culvert pipes and $2,016.94 for road oil emulsion.

It was announced that the new sewer study committee would meet with the supervisor on Thursday at 8 p. m. at the town hall.

In other action, Mrs. Muriel Sutton will keep a dog count for the town.

Rt. 32 Home Hit by Fire

Fire of undetermined origin Tuesday night heavily damaged a large frame house on Route 32 between New Paltz and Modena, but according to a fire department spokesman, the two-story unoccupied residence was not destroyed.

Modena Fire units in command of Chief William DePue responded to an alarm shortly after 9:45 p. m. Gardiner company was on standby alert.

The fire apparently originated in the kitchen area and burned up through partitions, mushrooming to other sections of the house, which is owned by Lewis LeFever of New Paltz, according to a fireman.

Firefighters had an ample supply of water and pumped streams from a nearby pond on the farm. Firemen returned to headquarters after midnight.

Off Critical List

Mrs. George Mauro, 63, of Corona, who was injured Aug. 7 when hit by a car on South Ohioville Road, New Paltz, was reported in satisfactory condition at Vassar Hospital where she is under treatment for a fractured pelvis and possible internal injuries. Her name has been removed from the critical list. The woman's husband also was injured when hit by a car driven by John Mark, 59, of Philadelphia, as the two walked along the road.

Have Court Date

A 23-year-old New Paltz man and two others from Poughkeepsie are slated to appear before City Judge Joseph H. Gellert in that city on Monday to face disorderly conduct charges. They were booked by police as Gail C. Whispell, 452 South Ohioville Road; Willie C. Wright, 18, and Kenneth J. Decker, both of Poughkeepsie. Police accused the trio of engaging in a fist fight Sunday night. The three are at liberty on bail pending the hearing.

Instant Sauna

Inventive housewives are getting beauty duty from their dishwashers. The idea is to wash your face with soap and spread cream over it while the machine runs through a load of dishes; then open the door just at the end of the cycle and let the cloud of steam rush up over your face. Follow this with a cold splash, pat the skin dry, and enjoy the pleasure of an instant sauna.

Ulster to Get Facts On Planned Town Hall

Ulster Town Board decided that a comprehensive fact sheet should be prepared covering the proposed $300,000 town office building complex before a referendum date is set for the project.

This decision was made Tuesday night at a public hearing on the town building proposal at which the majority of those attending favored the plan and agreed that there was a great need for a town hall and highway department garage. More than 50 persons attended.

Ulster Supervisor Thaddeus Musialkiewicz said the comprehensive fact sheet would include information about furnishings, bonding fees, architect fees and other costs. Also included would be referendum information such as who is eligible to vote, where to vote and when.

The Ulster supervisor said there seemed to be a minor misunderstanding about the financing of the project. He said bond anticipation notes would be issued to cover the costs as the construction proceeded and when completed the 30-year bond issue would be negotiated to cover only the actual cost, the money actually spent on the project.

The project includes a 65 by 200 foot garage and 55 by 129 foot town hall to be constructed on town property along Neighborhood Road near Route 209. The town hall would be of block and brick veneer construction with 6,248 square feet of space on the first floor at an estimated cost of $124,960. The basement would have 2,184 square feet with vault and storage room and is listed to cost $17,472. The garage of the same construction will cost $104,000.

Houle proposed a building committee "to plan and monitor all phases of the project and advise the town board and the public of costs, alternatives, problems and progress."

The committee, he said could investigate alternatives "such as remodeling one of the large vacant buildings on Route 9W."

It could complete the proposal and provide answers for all questions regarding costs, Houle said.

He contended "there can be no argument that the Town of Ulster badly needs these buildings" but cited shortcomings of the town proposal. He also recalled "that the town board paid Assessor Joseph Lohmaier almost $4,000 per acre for the 5.3 acre site, does not produce much confidence that this project can be managed to a successful conclusion." It was for this reason he proposed the building committee.

BRIDGE IN SHAMBLES—The 1,500-foot bridge spanning the River Purna in Maharashtra State, India, lies in shambles after recent flooding in the area. In the neighboring state of Gujarat, floods have caused millions of dollars worth of damages and left an estimated 1,500 persons dead, authorities said. (UPI CABLEPHOTO).

Children's Home Report

A committee formed to discuss the various ways the Children's Home of Kingston could provide financial aid to individuals interested in and capable of graduate study in social work has issued its first report according to Mrs. William Hilton, President of the Board of Directors.

The committee was set up in order to explore the ways in which the Home can adequately staff its program and help overcome the shortage of trained social work personnel. Chairman of the committee, Mrs. Arthur W. Hazenbush, said that, "Any program of financial aid should be geared to the needs and resources of the individual and that the Home should not establish a program into which individuals should fit but rather should establish a program to meet the needs of the individual."

Anyone who has received their Bachelor Degree and is interested in graduate social work has delayed their graduate study should contact the Children's Home of Kingston to discuss the situation with Lawrence B. Siewers, executive director. It is planned that two positions will be available in the program of financial aid by September.

New Paltz Sets McCarthy Rally Thursday Night

New Paltz will add its festivities to those scheduled in every major city and many smaller communities around the country for Thursday, Aug. 15, national McCarthy Day.

A day-long bake sale to be sponsored by the Concerned Democrats of New Paltz outside their headquarters at 89 Main Street.

In the evening, the McCarthy Day rally will gather in the municipal parking lot behind Town Hall for a torch-light parade through town, beginning about 8 p. m. The parade will return to the municipal parking lot where several speakers, representing a wide political spectrum, will address the rally briefly. Among them will be: Peter Du Fault, Liberal Party candidate for Congress; James Hillested, a Republican professor of education, S.U.C., New Paltz; Jack Lippman, professor of political science at Dutchess Community College; George Skau, former candidate for delegate to the Democratic National Convention pledged to McCarthy and Dr. Gerald P. Gorman, Democratic County Chairman for Ulster County and Assembly candidate.

There will be a showing of the film, by David Schonbrun on the background of Vietnam.

Foe Attack Rates Second to Possible Missile Areas

By DONALD H. MAY

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army said today most U.S. communities under consideration as possible anti-ballistic missile sites worry more about the economic and esthetic impact than whether it would make them vulnerable to nuclear attack.

Since last November the Army has been making preliminary site surveys in 13 areas of the country. It is seeking locations for technical equipment to be included in the batteries of the Sentinel System which is scheduled for construction by the mid 1970s, primarily ties for defense against Communist China. The 15 to 20 sites eventually to be chosen will vary in size ranging from 220 to 300 acres. Most will have 400 to 700 military and civilian personnel and the Army stresses they will be "stable military communities" which means the men will be stationed at them for long terms. The payroll for each site will range from $2-$3.5 million annually. In the 15 areas already surveyed the Army revealed some of the questions which have been pitched to the public information teams who have conferred with civic leaders and community residents. They include: Will it spoil the landscape? Will it be a danger? Will it cause traffic congestion? Will there be an influx of undesirable people? Will schools be overcrowded? Will property values be lowered? Will it increase taxes? Will it spoil television reception? Seldom, these teams report, do they field a question about the possibility of the area becoming a nuclear target if it eventually becomes a Sentinel site. The Army notes most of the proposed sites are in or near "an area of defense," large cities and likely they would be targets anyway. In a few instances the local citizens thought perhaps being close to an anti-missile site would be beneficial in case of a nuclear attack. The Army said there was no way to determine to establish anti-missile sites since the system basically there.

State's Curbing Abuse of Children Long Way to Go

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY
CHICAGO (AP) — The states have moved fast in recent years to curb abuse of children — but they still have far to go.

Even though all 50 states have legislation against child abuse, more than 9,000 such cases were reported last year.

There still is a long way to go before child protection becomes a reality in all geograph-ic areas of every state," says Vincent De Francis, director of the children's division of the American Humane Association.

"There probably is an even longer road to travel in terms of establishing in every community a protective service program to adequate in size and quality to meet the needs of our country's increase. In April, 58 cases of abuse were reported, the high-est ever recorded in one month.

Child abuse ranges from such active harm as a blow with fist or stick to such passive torture as prolonged diaper rash or starvation.

The American Humane Association made an analysis of 662 cases, including 178 in which the child died, that were reported in Illinois. Department of Children and Family Services said common excuses for bruises and broken bones are: "He fell down the stairs," or, "He toppled out of his high chair." Another frequent explanation is that the parent or caretaker started to spank the child to discipline him, and overdid it.

Mistreatment is much older than legislation against it. An article in the American Medical Association Journal a few years ago noted: "Animals in the United States were legally protected from cruel treatment some years before the same protection was granted children."

But legislating in that area gained speed in the 1960s. Now 50 states have adopted laws on reporting child abuse. Reporting suspected cruelty is mandatory in 44 states. In Alaska, Missouri, New Mexico, North Carolina, Texas and Washington the statutes are permissive, reading "may report."

State's Curbing Abuse of Children Long Way to Go

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY
CHICAGO (AP) — The states have moved fast in recent years to curb abuse of children — but they still have far to go. Even though all 50 states have legislation against child abuse, more than 9,000 such cases were reported last year. "There still is a long way to go before child protection becomes a reality in all geographic areas of every state," says Vincent De Francis, director of the children's division of the American Humane Association. "There probably is an even longer road to travel in terms of establishing in every community a protective service program adequate in size and quality to meet the needs of our country's neglected, abused and exploited children," he added. "Appears to Be Increasing" — The neglect and abuse of children appears to be increasing, a special committee of the New York County Medical Society reported recently. Illinois also saw signs of increase. In April, 58 cases of abuse were reported, the highest ever recorded in one month. Child abuse ranges from such active harm as a blow with fist or stick to such passive torture as prolonged diaper rash or starvation. The American Humane Association made an analysis of 662 cases, including 178 in which the child died, that were reported in newspapers in 1962. It found the persons responsible were the fathers in 38 per cent of the cases, mothers in 29 per cent, both parents in 5 per cent, stepfathers in 14 per cent, stepmothers in 2 per cent. Blame also has been placed on babysitters, foster parents, teachers and others. Donald H. Schlosser of the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services said common excuses for bruises and broken bones are: "He fell down the stairs," or "He toppled out of his high chair." Another frequent explanation is that the parent or caretaker started to spank the child to discipline him, and overdid it. Mistreatment is much older than legislation against it. An article in the American Medical Association Journal a few years ago noted: "Animals in the United States were legally protected from cruel treatment some years before the same protection was granted children." In Alaska, Missouri, New Mexico, North Carolina, Texas and Washington the statutes are permissive, reading "may report" rather than "shall report."

Many Outbreaks Point Up Precarious Mid-East Peace

LONDON (UPI)—A bare 14 months have elapsed since the Arab-Israeli six day war. Yet Middle East peace still hangs precariously by a thread.

Just how precarious is that peace is spotlighted by the continuous outbreaks of fighting along the Israeli-Jordan border. Once again, Israeli planes have bombed what Israel says was an Arab guerrilla camp. Once again, Israeli troops have pursued a guerrilla band into Jordanian territory.

The incidents were ominously reminiscent of the Israeli raid against Aqaba in Jordan in October, 1956, just before the Sinai Campaign; the attack on Samu in Jordan in November, 1966, that paved the way for the six day war and the major daylong battle between Israeli and Jordanian forces in February, in which Israeli jets were called into action to blast Jordanian artillery positions.

Equally dangerous incidents repeatedly have ruptured the uneasy cease-fire across the Suez Canal between Israel and the United Arab Republic.

Yet, totally different reasons are behind the cease-fire breaches on the Jordan and Suez Canal fronts.

Jordan is the weakest of Israel's Arab neighbors. It is on Jordanian territory that the so-called Palestine Liberation Army (PLA) has established bases for guerrilla raids into Israel and the Israeli-occupied west bank of the Jordan River. The guerrilla army's members are mostly Palestinian Arabs and Syrians, not Jordanians. All indications are that they have set up bases on Jordanian territory in defiance of King Hussein, who is said to have little or no control over them. From these bases they have carried out repeated raids into Israel and the west bank. Israeli reprisals have become increasingly violent.

The periodic fighting along the Suez Canal stems largely from the fact that both Israel and Egypt from time to time have sent patrols across it to test each other's defenses.

Each fears the other is building up its forces to resume the war. These are the immediate causes of these periodic flare-ups.

Yes, the basic problem remains unchanged. Israel refuses to give up occupied Arab territory until the Arabs come to the peace table and recognize Israel's right to exist. The Arabs still refuse either.

Since the six day war, the Soviet Union has replaced almost all the planes, tanks and other hardware Egypt and Syria lost. Israel is deeply concerned and trying to get the United States to sell it Phantom jets to match the Soviet MIGs now in Arab arsenals.

U. S. Automobile Manufacturers Moving Into the Era of Smaller Cars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Chairman Roy D. Chapin Jr. of the American Motors Corp. said in Washington Monday that his firm is prepared to challenge foreign car makers for the affections of America's economy-minded drivers.

The New York Times said in a story from Detroit today that the auto industry is preparing a new class of cars—smaller and cheaper than any built in this country now but still bigger than the tiny imports.

The Times said the first of these new cars is set for production by the Ford Motor Co. as a 1970 model and will go on sale in eight months. Others are in the design or tooling stage, it said.

For Detroit, the Times said these cars represent a major effort by the industry to combat an invasion of foreign products built by low-paid German and Japanese workers.

Other car makers are working to catch up with Ford, the story said, adding in part: The General Motors Corp. is working on a car closer in size to the tiny European imports. The Chrysler Corp. is not now planning to build a smaller, cheaper car.

In Washington, Chapin told

and preview of his firm's new models Monday that American Motors is developing a new car, "Not necessarily conventional in terms of today's accepted automotive configurations."

Chapin declined to expand the statement, but he had said earlier: "I believe that the 900,000 foreign car sales this year will be a high-water mark, and one of the reasons is that we at American Motors are turning more of our efforts toward the growing segment of the U.S. market to which the imports appeal."

U. S. Automobile Manufacturers Moving Into the Era of Smaller Cars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Chairman Roy D. Chapin Jr. of the American Motors Corp. said in Washington Monday that his firm is prepared to challenge foreign car makers for the affections of America's economy-minded drivers.

The New York Times said in a story from Detroit today that the auto industry is preparing a new class of cars—smaller and cheaper than any built in this country now but still bigger than the tiny imports.

The Times said the first of these new cars is set for production by the Ford Motor Co. as a 1970 model and will go on sale in eight months. Others are in the design or tooling stage, it said.

For Detroit, the Times said these cars represent a major effort by the industry to combat an invasion of foreign products built by low-paid German and Japanese workers.

Other car makers are working to catch up with Ford, the story said, adding in part: The General Motors Corp. is working on a car closer in size to the tiny European imports. The Chrysler Corp. is not now planning to build a smaller, cheaper car.

In Washington, Chapin told newsmen at a dinner meeting and preview of his firm's new models Monday that American Motors is developing a new car. "Not necessarily conventional in terms of today's accepted automotive configurations."

Chapin declined to expand the statement, but he had said earlier: "I believe that the 900,000

foreign car sales this year will be a high-water mark, and one of the reasons is that we at American Motors are turning more of our efforts toward the growing segment of the U.S. market to which the imports appeal."

FIFTY-FIVE FOR ONE—Three-year-old William DePuy receives the undivided attention of nurse Karen Best while recuperating after open-heart surgery at Albany Medical Center Hospital. Fifty-five of William's neighbors, representing virtually the entire adult population of the tiny Catskill Mountain community of Palenville, were on hand at a visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile to give blood for his operation. Surgeons at the Medical Center corrected two inborn defects in the youngster's heart. He's the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard DePuy, of Palenville, Greene County.

PM Would Blow Out Cobwebs of House of Lords

HAROLD WILSON

By MARIS ROSS
LONDON (UPI)—Lords are not as loved as they used to be in England. Once they could get away with most anything short of murder, for which they had the privilege of being hanged with a silken cord instead of rough rope.

Now their greatest stronghold, the House of Lords, is due to be radically reformed and taken away from the belted earls and barons whose ancestors came over with William the Conqueror and saw King John seal the Magna Charta.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson has announced his intention of introducing legislation to end the 700-year-old hereditary system whereby a man who inherited his title from his father has the automatic right to a seat in the House of Lords.

Wilson has every reason to want the cobwebs blown out of the Lords because most of them are Conservative, giving the present opposition party a built-in majority over his Labor Party. But a fair number of Conservative peers like Lord Harlech, friend of Jacqueline Kennedy, agree a change is long overdue.

The reconstituted House will be composed of life peers—men and women who get their titles just for their lifetime in recognition of their achievements, not their birth. The reform bill, once penned in legal language, may be put before the House of Commons by Christmas or shortly thereafter and then sent up to the House of Lords, which cannot save itself by rejecting the legislation because its powers as Parliament's upper chamber are limited to delaying tactics.

At present the Lords can delay a bill by up to 12 months, a process which angered Wilson when Conservative peers delayed an order for stricter economic sanctions against Rhodesia. He may cut the delaying powers to three months, making the purpose of the House of Lords mainly of a revisionary nature on complicated bills. Peers by inheritance will not lose their titles. So Prince Charles, the 19-year-old heir to the throne, will retain his lengthy list of subsidiary titles as Earl of Chester, Duke of Cornwall, Duke of Rothesay, Earl of Carrick and Baron Renfrew. But these 1,000-plus peers will lose their vote in the House of Lords. In all probability, they will still be allowed to sit and speak there to their deaths, but instead of passing to their sons, thereby ending the hereditary system. In fact, most of them never bother to turn up, which solves the seating problem in the ornate but small debating chamber. Membership is likely to be reduced to 250 or 300 life peers, of whom more than 150 already exist. They are far removed from the image of castles, coronets and cucumber sandwiches for tea.

Miner to Baron
Lord Blyton ("My friends call me Bill") spent 32 years down the coal mines from the age of 14 and lives to this day in low rent public housing. Wilson made him a baron for life in 1964 in recognition of his 19 years as a trade unionist member of parliament. He speaks with a strong Northern accent—"canna" for forgive me...

Reform will put more life into the leisurely procedure and debates which putter along so politely with such statements as, "If the Noble Lord will take a seat in the council of the country."

Hidden Dead of Viet War

By BOB HORTON
WASHINGTON (AP) — Without the enemy firing a shot, the equivalent of two to three squads of GIs die each week in Vietnam, becoming in effect the hidden dead of the war.

They are the victims of disease or mishap who are lumped toward the end of the casualty reports as simply "dead from nonhostile causes."

Consistent Drain
Although the rate for Vietnam is lower than in two previous wars, noncombat deaths represent a consistent manpower drain of major cumulative proportions.

Since Jan. 1, 1961, noncombat deaths listed by the Pentagon total at least 4,300—roughly 14 per cent of all American losses in the war.

Military medical men say the noncombat death rate in Vietnam is slightly lower than in World War II or Korea but not enough to boast about.

Because of improved medicines and quicker treatment, U.S. servicemen stricken with disease have a better chance of pulling through in Vietnam than in other wars. But sea and land accidents persist, accounting for large numbers of deaths.

A computerized tabulation made by the Pentagon covering the period Jan. 1, 1961 through May 30, 1968, lists 3,936 "non-hostile" deaths. The total rose to 4,298 as of Aug. 3.

Of the 3,936 deaths checked by computer, 2,229 occurred in aircraft crashes on land and sea, 336 in vehicular accidents, 226 from disease (more than one-fifth from malaria), 128 from heart attack or stroke, 293 from accidental homicide, 779 from various other accidents and the remainder from assorted other causes.

Medical statisticians warning that there are many variables, figure the noncombat fatality rate in Vietnam is 3.5 per thousand men per year.

Compared to 3.7 per thousand per year in Korea (1950-1952) and 3.9 per thousand per year in all overseas theaters of World War II (1942-45). However, the nonhostile rate in the European theater in World War II was only 3.6.

"There is nothing dramatic or astonishing in the Vietnam figure," said one official. "At best it is only an indication that things aren't going to pot."

The question of whether a death is to be categorized "hostile" or "nonhostile" usually is clearcut. But it sometimes enters a gray area where interpretations may be required up to the service headquarters level in the Pentagon.

Can Vary
The basic decision—which may be reversed after review by high echelons—is made in Vietnam, sometimes at battalion and division levels. Interpretations may be simple but occasionally are difficult to the point of controversy, and can vary from service to service.

Example: A jeep runs over a U.S. mine. The ruling in one such case was hostile, because officers held that the mine wouldn't have been along that road were it not for the presence of the enemy.

Example: A man wading across a river during a night patrol drowns. The ruling in this case was to reverse an original "hostile" listing to "nonhostile" on grounds the patrol encountered no enemy resistance.

But, in another case, two B52s collided en route before arriving in Vietnam for a bombing strike. The original ruling was "nonhostile," but officials later changed it on grounds that the bombers wouldn't have been flying in such tight formation except during a bombing mission.

Nonhostile labels often are viewed with indignation by servicemen's widows or other close relatives who sometimes complain that if it wasn't for Vietnam and a hostile enemy their loved one wouldn't have been there to die.

Benefits are the same in hostile or nonhostile deaths except that only those killed in action or dying from hostile wounds get the Purple Heart.

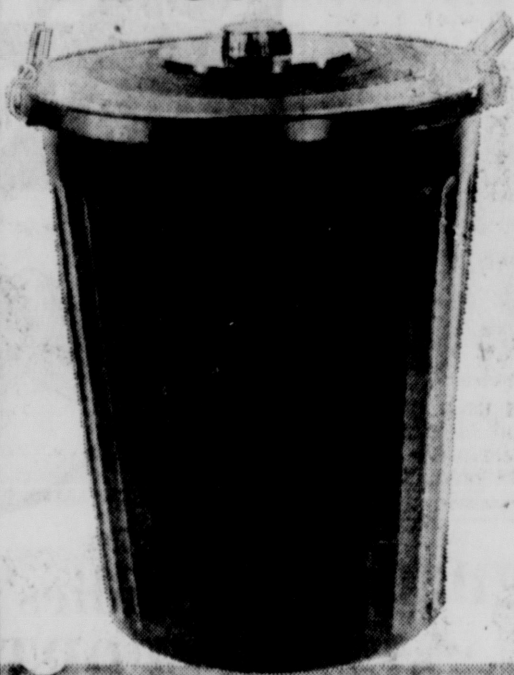

College Head Quits
GENEVA, N. Y. (AP) — The president of Hobart and William Smith Colleges in this Finger Lakes city resigned Tuesday because of his inability to agree with the Board of Trustees on basic matters of administration, he said.

Dr. Albert E. Holland said he had met with the trustees several times before resigning.

By BOB HORTON
WASHINGTON (AP) — Without the enemy firing a shot, the equivalent of two to three squads of GIs die each week in Vietnam, becoming in effect the hidden dead of the war.

They are the victims of disease or mishap who are lumped toward the end of the casualty reports as simply "dead-from nonhostile causes."

Consistent Drain

Although the rate for Vietnam is lower than in two previous wars, noncombat deaths represent a consistent manpower drain of major cumulative proportions.

Since Jan. 1, 1961, noncombat deaths listed by the Pentagon total at least 4,300—roughly 14 per cent of all American losses in the war.

Military medical men say the noncombat death rate in Vietnam is slightly lower than in World War II or Korea but not enough to boast about.

Because of improved medicines and quicker treatment, U.S. servicemen stricken with disease have a better chance of pulling through in Vietnam than in other wars. But sea and land accidents persist, accounting for large numbers of deaths.

A computerized tabulation made by the Pentagon covering the period Jan. 1, 1961 through May 30, 1968, lists 3,936 "non-hostile" deaths. The total rose to 4,298 as of Aug. 3.

Of the 3,936 deaths checked by computer, 2,229 occurred in aircraft crashes on land and sea, 336 in vehicular accidents, 226 from disease (more than one-fifth from malaria), 128 from heart attack or stroke, 293 from accidental homicide, 779 from various other accidents and the remainder from assorted other causes.

Medical statisticians warning that there are many variables, figure the noncombat fatality rate in Vietnam is 3.5 per-thousand men per year.

Compared to 3.7 per-thousand per-year in Korea (1950-1952) and 3.9 per-thousand per-year in all overseas theaters of World War II (1942-45). However, the nonhostile rate in the European theater in World War II was only 3.6.

"There is nothing dramatic or astonishing in the Vietnam figure," said one official. "At best it is only an indication that things aren't going to pot."

The question of whether a death is to be categorized "hostile" or "nonhostile" usually is clearcut. But it sometimes enters a gray area where interpretations may be required up to the service headquarters level in the Pentagon.

Can Vary

The basic decision—which may be reversed after review by high echelons—is made in Vietnam, sometimes at battalion and division levels. Interpretations may be simple but occasionally are difficult to the point of controversy, and can vary from service to service.

Example: A jeep runs over a U.S. mine. The ruling in one such case was hostile, because officers held that the mine wouldn't have been along that road were it not for the presence of the enemy.

Example: A man wading across a river during a night patrol drowns. The ruling in this case was to reverse an original "hostile" listing to "nonhostile" on grounds the patrol encountered no enemy resistance.

But, in another case, two B52s collided en route before arriving in Vietnam for a bombing strike. The original ruling was "nonhostile," but officials later changed it on grounds that the bombers wouldn't have been flying in such tight formation except during a bombing mission.

Nonhostile labels often are viewed with indignation by servicemen's widows or other close relatives who sometimes complain that if it wasn't for Vietnam and a hostile enemy their loved one wouldn't have been there to die.

Benefits are the same in hostile or nonhostile deaths except that only those killed in action or dying from hostile wounds get the Purple Heart.

College Head Quits
GENEVA, N. Y. (AP) — The president of Hobart and William Smith Colleges in this Finger Lakes city resigned Tuesday because of his inability to agree with the Board of Trustees on basic matters of administration, he said.

Dr. Albert E. Holland said he had met with the trustees several times before resigning.

By MARIS ROSS
LONDON (UPI)—Lords are not as loved as they used to be in England.
Once they could get away with most anything short of murder, for which they had the privilege of being hanged with a silken cord instead of rough rope.
Now their greatest stronghold, the House of Lords, is due to be radically reformed and taken away from the belted earls and barons whose ancestors came over with William the Conqueror and saw King John seal the Magna Charta.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson has announced his intention of introducing legislation to end the 700-year-old hereditary system whereby a man who inherited his title from his father has the automatic right to a seat in the House of Lords.
Wilson has every reason to want the cobwebs blown out of the House of Lords because most of them are Conservative, giving the present opposition party an built-in majority over his Labor Party. But a fair number of Conservative peers like Lord Harlech, friend of Jacqueline Kennedy, agree a change is long overdue.
The reconstituted House will be composed of life peers—men and women who get their titles just for their lifetime in recognition of their achievements, not their birth.
The reform bill, once penned in legal language, may be put before the House of Commons by Christmas or shortly thereafter and then sent up to the House of Lords, which cannot save itself by rejecting the legislation because its powers as Parliament's upper chamber are limited to delaying tactics.

At present the Lords can delay a bill by up to 12 months, a process which angered Wilson into pushing for early reform when Conservative peers delayed an order for stricter economic sanctions against Rhodesia. He may cut the delaying powers to three months, making the purpose of the House of Lords mainly of a revisionary nature on complicated bills.
Peers by inheritance will not lose their titles. So Prince Charles, the 19-year-old heir to the throne, will retain his lengthy list of subsidiary titles as Earl of Chester, Duke of Cornwall, Duke of Rothesay, Earl of Carrick and Baron Renfrew.
But these 1,000-plus peers will lose their vote in the House of Lords. In all probability, they will still be allowed to sit and speak there to their deaths, but this right will die with them instead of passing to their sons, thereby ending the hereditary system. In fact, most of them never bother to turn up, which solves the seating problem in the ornate but small debating chamber.
Membership is likely to be reduced to 250 or 300 life peers, of whom more than 150 already exist. They are far removed from the image of castles, coronets and cucumber sandwiches for tea.

Miner to Baron
Lord Blyton ("My friends call me Bill") spent 32 years down the coal mines from the age of 14 and lives to this day in low rent public housing. Wilson made him a baron for life in 1964 in recognition of his 19 years as a trade unionist member of parliament. He speaks with a strong Northern English accent—"canna" for cannot, "nowt" for no one.
"What we're abolishing is the right to sit in the House of Lords because in the dim and distant past your forebears had titles," said Lord Blyton, 69.
"I've always been against the hereditary principle. It is not justified in the modern age because you're the son of a peer to take a seat in the council of the country."

Negro Actors Signed For Fall TV Specials

By GENE HANDSAKER
HOLLYWOOD (AP) —Trade columns chronicle continuing progress for Negroes in show business:
Diahann Carroll, starring in the weekly "Julia" series filming for fall television, says: "I'm almost too busy to think about being a Negro."

Producers of Rowan and Martin's "Laugh-in" series are shooting network TV's first all-Negro variety special, "Soul." Lou Rawls and Nipsey Russell are among the stars, and Negroes have key production jobs behind the scenes.

Movie producer Jules Dassin, "Topkapi," "Never on Sunday," is filming for Paramount with a Negro cast, a drama of betrayal among civil rights militants. And perhaps the unlikely figure to emerge among currently ascending Negro players is the man who plays Dassin's central character.

Unlikely because, says 6-foot 1, 200-pound Julian Mayfield: "Basically I am a writer. I never really wanted to act. I see people working at acting in an organized way, and it seems almost unfair for me to have this role. But," he grins, "I'm not complaining."

Mayfield, 40, born in South Carolina and reared in Washington, D.C., has a varied background:

Author of three published novels "About personal hangups in the ghetto and the civil rights movement in 1961... None went into a second printing."

Prize-winning college orator... Actor in off-Broadway plays while also driving a taxi... Radio disc jockey and feature writer on an English-language newspaper in San Juan, Puerto Rico... Aide for three years to President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana.

The film, "Up Tight," marks his first film-acting since a bit part 10 years ago. Massive, easy-going, lightly bearded, Mayfield says he's in every scene but about two. He plays "a man who is essentially over the hill, drinks too much, a slob broken down by society, who as a result betrays his best friend, a young militant, for a reward."

Mayfield and costar Ruby Dee helped Dassin write the script. Does he think Negroes have reached their goals in show business?

"By no means, especially in the craft unions. You don't find black people working there."

"As for acting, black people seem to be in style this year. They might be out of style next January."

Pleads Amnesia In Black Panther Trial for Murder

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — A chief witness for the prosecution in the murder trial of Black Panther leader Huey Newton took the Fifth Amendment, pleaded loss of memory, and was finally excused.

Prosecutor Lowell Jensen announced at the close of Tuesday's session in Alameda County Superior Court that he now has only four more witnesses to present, one of them criminologist John Davis, and that he hopes to complete his case Thursday.

Bogged Down
The trial of Newton, 26, accused of murdering a white Oakland policeman, bogged down Tuesday with the calling of Del Ross, a Negro in his 30s who had told the grand jury Newton had forced him at gunpoint to drive him to a hospital after the shootout last Oct. 28. After refusing to testify, though granted immunity, Ross pleaded loss of memory.

Help to Minorities On Top of SBA List

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Small Business Administration is reshuffling priorities to assist more Negroes and members of other minority groups in becoming owners of their own businesses.

Howard J. Samuels, SBA administrator and a one time Canandaigua, N.Y., industrialist, told a news conference Tuesday that the move was not a moralistic one, "although I support the moralistic aspect of it."

"Project Own," as the program is called, will be successful only if communities support its aims, bankers provide the needed loans and businessmen donate their time and knowledge to minority group members who participate in the program, Samuels said.

SBA has guaranteed payment of $800 million borrowed by small businessmen of all races we are saying is 'we'll take the risk in the fiscal year 1968, Samuels said.

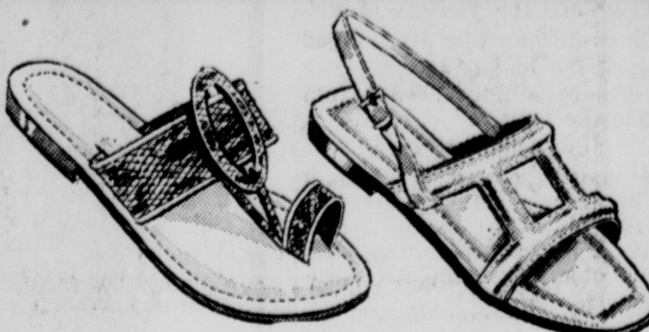

said, and by the end of the fiscal year 1970 the agency hopes to increase this to $1.5 billion, with about a third of the loans going to minority groups.

The immediate goal of the project is 20,000 businesses a year for members of minority groups, largely from inner-cities, he said.

In the inner cities today, Samuels explained, there are a lot of white businessmen who want to sell out and a lot of blacks, Puerto Ricans and Mexican-Americans who want to buy in.

The SBA role will be to stand behind a member who approach the bank for a loan, and the criteria for an applicant will be more on ability and character rather than on collateral.

Howard J. Samuels, SBA administrator and a one time Candaigua, N.Y., industrialist, told a news conference Tuesday that the move was not a moralistic one, "although I support the moralistic aspect of it."

"Project Own," as the program is called, will be successful only if communities support its aims, bankers provide the needed loans and businessmen donate their time and knowledge to minority group members who participate in the program, Samuels said.

SBA has guaranteed payment of $800 million borrowed by small businessmen of all races in the fiscal year 1968, Samuels risk, "we'll take the said, and by the end of the fiscal year 1970 the agency hopes to increase this to $1.5 billion, with about a third of the loans going to minority groups.

The immediate goal of the project is 20,000 businesses a year for members of minority groups, largely from inner-cities, he said.

In the inner cities today, Samuels explained, there are a lot of white businessmen who want to sell out and a lot of blacks, Puerto Ricans and Mexican-Americans who want to buy in.

The SBA role will be to stand behind a member who approaches the bank for a loan, and the criteria for an applicant will be more on ability and character rather than on collateral, Samuels said.

Negro Actors Signed
For Fall TV SpecialsBy GENE HANDSAKER
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Trade columns chronicle continuing progress for Negroes in show business: Diahann Carroll, starring in the weekly "Julia" series filming for fall television, says: "I'm almost too busy to think about being a Negro."

Producers of Rowan and Martin's "Laugh-in" series are shooting network TV's first all-Negro variety special, "Soul."

Lou Rawls and Nipsey Russell are among the stars, and Negroes have key production jobs behind the scenes.

Movie producer Jules Dassin, "Topkapl," "Never on Sunday," is filming for Paramount with a Negro cast, a drama of betrayal among civil rights militants.

And perhaps the unlikely figure to emerge among currently ascending Negro players is the man who plays Dassin's central character.

Unlikely because, says 6-foot 1, 200-pound Julian Mayfield: "Basically I am a writer. I never really wanted to act. I see people working at acting in an organized way, and it seems almost unfair for me to have this role. But," he grins, "I'm not complaining."

Mayfield, 40, born in South Carolina and reared in Washington, D.C., has a varied background.

Author of three published novels "About personal hangups in the ghetto and the civil rights movement in 1961 . . . None went into a second printing."

Prize-winning college orator . . . Actor in off-Broadway plays while also driving a taxi . . . Radio disc jockey and feature writer on an English-language newspaper in San Juan, Puerto Rico . . . Aide for three years to President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana.

The film, "Up Tight," marks his first film-acting since a bit part 10 years ago. Massive, easy-going, lightly bearded, Mayfield says he's in every scene but about two. He plays "a man who is essentially over the hill, drinks too much, a slob broken down by society, who as a result betrays his best friend, a young militant, for a reward."

Mayfield and costar Ruby Dee helped Dassin write the script.

Does he think Negroes have reached their goals in show business? "By no means, especially in the craft unions. You don't find black people working there."

"As for acting, black people seem to be in style this year. They might be out of style next January."

Pleads Amnesia
In Black Panther Trial for Murder

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — A chief witness for the prosecution in the murder trial of Black Panther leader Huey Newton took the Fifth Amendment, pleaded loss of memory, and was finally excused.

Prosecutor Lowell Jensen announced at the close of Tuesday's session in Alameda County Superior Court that he now has only four more witnesses to present, one of them criminologist John Davis, and that he hopes to complete his case Thursday.

Bogged Down
The trial of Newton, 26, accused of murdering a white Oakland policeman, bogged down Tuesday with the calling of Del Ross, a Negro in his 30s who had told the grand jury Newton had forced him at gunpoint to drive him to a hospital after the shooting last Oct. 28.

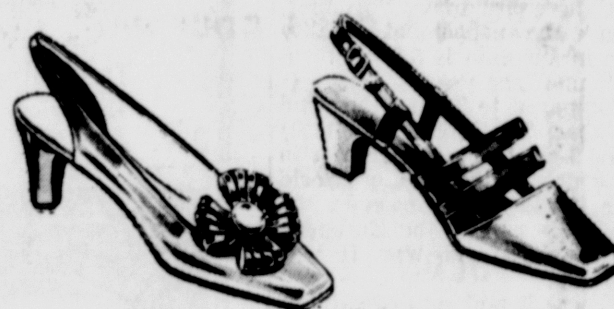

After refusing to testify, though granted immunity, Ross pleaded loss of memory.

See Spiro T. Agnew Choice as Preplanned

WASHINGTON (UPI)—tipped his hand when he selected Agnew, a one-time supporter of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, as the man to place his name in nomination. This theory involves a certain amount of mind-reading, but there is this fact: Nixon's announcement that Agnew was his choice did surprise a number of those who had conferred with him about the second spot on the ticket. The choice of Agnew raises a historical question of just how much help a vice presidential candidate may be to the party in a national election. A classical argument endures to this day about whether Lyndon B. Johnson's vice presidential candidacy won the 1960 election for the late President John F. Kennedy. Pro-Johnson forces say Kennedy never would have made it to the White House without LBJ. Pro-Kennedy people say JFK's margin of victory over Nixon in 1960 would have been much larger without Johnson.

Kingstons Will Trade Kiwanis This Saturday

This Saturday 44 Kingston Kiwanis Club members and their wives, as a part of the Kiwanis Club's program of international good will, are scheduled to travel to Kingston, Ontario for a week-long meeting with the Kiwanis Club members of that city.

For the past 20 years the two Kiwanis Clubs have visited each other on a yearly rotating basis. Last year the Canadians spent a week in this area visiting with local Kiwanians and their families and taking trips to such places as the Roosevelt home in Hyde Park and the scenic Catskill Mountain area near Poughkeepsie.

Vince Connelly, chairman of the local club's International Relations committee, told the Freeman that the yearly visits are "a part of the Kiwanis Club's program of good will between the United States and Canada."

While in Kingston, the local club members will visit with many of the members of the Canadian club and will view some of the programs that are currently being undertaken by the people of that city.

Donald A. MacIsaac, president of the Kingston Kiwanis Club, said, "These visits have established a warmth and friendship between the two countries that I'm sure would be the envy of many projects involving international understanding." He added that, "Naturally, we are proud of this project."

Odds Against Fleeing Red Wall

By JOSEPH B. FLEMING
BERLIN (UPI)—Timing himself, East German border guard Lutz Kirsche unstrapped his submachine gun and aimed it. It took 12 seconds. He estimated it would take 12 to 15 seconds to run the 80 to 90 yards to the allied checkpoint at Helmstedt, on the West German end of the 110-mile highway to West Berlin.

Kirsche, 22, knew there were about six seconds when he would be a target for other guards on duty at the Communist highway but he decided to take the chance. He won his race with death and became one of the dwindling number of refugees managing to get past the new, tight, efficient East German border controls. Statistics available on the seventh anniversary of the building of the wall today show the Berlin wall from an East German viewpoint has paid off. It virtually has halted the flow of refugees that seven years ago threatened the very existence of the German Democratic Republic.

Odds Against Success
A few years ago skill, courage and determination could get a refugee past the wall. Today the wall controls are so efficient that the odds are against a professional athlete making it without a lot of luck.

Kirsche was one of the 415 East Germans who managed to escape the first six months of this year. "I decided to flee when I realized there were spies in my outfit who snitched to the officers that we were buying American and English cigarettes and Playboy magazine from the Russians, who bought them from the Western soldiers," he told a news conference Monday. "I knew the best time to flee was during the changing of the guard. All my four hours on duty I said to myself it has to be today."

He was talking to a Russian customs policeman ran toward me, placed himself in front of me and shouted 'He's with us.' "I gave my sergeant a push moment a West German

we care

It takes an expert to grade beef!

In our great country we're lucky.

Our government trains and employs experts...men who inspect and grade beef at hundreds of locations throughout the nation.

They protect you...and retailers, like us.

Also important are A&P's own beef experts.

Their job is to see to it that A&P Beef measures up to our own "SUPER-RIGHT" quality standards...

standards which don't exactly fit our government's grading categories.

For instance, some beef graded U.S. Choice just doesn't meet our "SUPER-RIGHT" specifications.

No wonder we don't hesitate to guarantee that the "SUPER-RIGHT" Beef you buy will be as flavorful and tender as you think it should be, or your money back.

So, you don't have to become an expert to choose great beef for your family... just shop A&P!

Vince Connelly, chairman of the local club's International Relations committee, told the Freeman that the yearly visits are "a part of the Kiwanis Club's program of good will between the United States and Canada."

While in Kingston, the local club members will visit with many of the members of the Canadian club and will view some of the programs that are currently being undertaken by the people of that city.

Donald A. MacIsaac, president of the Kingston Kiwanis Club, said "These visits have established a warmth and friendship between the two countries that I'm sure would be the envy of many projects involving international understanding." He added that "Naturally, we are proud of this project."

Odds Against Fleeing Red Wall

By JOSEPH B. FLEMING
BERLIN (UPI)—Timing himself, East German border guard Lutz Kirsche unstrapped his submachine gun and aimed it. It took 12 seconds. He estimated it would take 12 to 13 seconds to run the 80 to 90 yards to the allied checkpoint at Helmstedt, on the West German end of the 110-mile highway to West Berlin.

Kirsche, 22, knew there were about six seconds when he would be a target for other guards on duty at the Communist highway but he decided to take the chance. He won his race with death and became one of the dwindling number of refugees managing to get past the new, tight, efficient East German border controls. Statistics available on the seventh anniversary of the building of the wall today show the Berlin wall from an East German viewpoint has paid off. It virtually has halted the flow of refugees that seven years ago threatened the very existence of the German Democratic Republic.

Odds Against Success
A few years ago skill, courage and determination could get a refugee past the wall. Today the wall controls are so efficient that the odds are against a professional athlete making it without a lot of luck.

Kirsche was one of the 415 East Germans who managed to escape the first six months of this year. "I decided to flee when I realized there were spies in my outfit who snitched to the officers that we were buying American and English cigarettes and Playboy magazine from the Russians, who bought them from the Western soldiers," he told a news conference Monday. "I knew the best time to flee was during the changing of the guard. All my four hours on duty I said to myself 'it has to be today.'"

"I gave my sergeant a push moment a West German customs policeman ran toward me, placed himself in front of me and shouted 'He's with us.'"

Last Six Seconds
"For the last six seconds when I was a target I ran so that if they shot at me there would be American soldiers on the other side of the border in their line of fire."

"We all had a firm order that refugees could not be fired on if other persons, especially Western allied soldiers, might be hit."

"Two guards on a watchtower, however looked as if they were about to shoot. But at that moment a West German

It takes an expert to grade beef!

In our great country we're lucky.

Our government trains and employs experts...men who inspect and grade beef at hundreds of locations throughout the nation. They protect you...and retailers, like us.

Also important are A&P's own beef experts.

Their job is to see to it that A&P Beef measures up to our own

"SUPER-RIGHT" quality standards...

standards which don't exactly fit

our government's grading categories.

For instance, some beef graded U.S. Choice

just doesn't meet our "SUPER-RIGHT" specifications.

No wonder we don't hesitate to guarantee that the "SUPER-RIGHT" Beef you buy will be as flavorful and tender as you think it should be,

or your money back.

So, you don't have to become an expert to choose great beef for your family...just shop A&P!

'Looks Like Finest Ever,' Report on Fair in Dutchess

DON J. WICKHAM

The 123rd Dutchess County Fair, sparkling with features for the entire family, opens Tuesday morning, Aug. 20, to continue through Sunday night, Aug. 25. For weeks, the 90-acre fairgrounds have been bustling with activity.

"It looks like the finest ever," according to S. Richard "Sam" Lloyd, manager-secretary of the Dutchess County Agricultural Society.

Emphasizing the theme, "Something for Everybody," he noted the 1968 "new look," highlighted by two all-metal, 200 by 60-foot exhibition halls. The gates will open at 10 a.m. and an hour later the new buildings, crammed with commercial exhibits, will be dedicated by New York State Commissioner of Agriculture and Markets Don J. Wickham.

On the racetrack Tuesday will be the opening competition of pacers and trotters in the Little Grand Circuit, with subsequent events at the Cobleskill and Columbia County Fairs.

Tuesday and Thursday are Family Days with children under 12 admitted free until 6 p.m. There will be fireworks displays both of those nights.

Music and entertainment are top attractions throughout the six days and nights, with innovations including a new fun area where a stage has been erected. There will be something going on there from 10 a.m. until closing, Lloyd said. Included will be performers rounded up in a talent hunt and an array of amateur and professional acts. There will be free dancing in the area nightly.

Grandstand attractions will include an afternoon and evening variety show, headlined on Friday by the Joie Chitwood Thrill Show, on Saturday by a Miss Dutchess County beauty contest and Sunday by Larry Hooper, soloist with the Lawrence Welk TV show.

Meanwhile, the fair will maintain its stature as offering one of the state's outstanding livestock shows. Record entries have been listed for the dairy and beef departments, the widely renowned horse show, Grange exhibits, 4-H exhibits and the Horticultural Show, with a background of Dancing Waters, in its own building this year instead of a tent as another "new look," as is the poultry

Also in new and larger quarters are the fruits, vegetables and arts and crafts shows.

Another innovation will be a 180-foot tent exhibiting 12 Dutchess County agencies with the theme, "County Government and How It Serves You." Throughout the week, including Sunday, the Hall of Health, sponsored by the County Health Department with the cooperation of the State Health Department, will offer a series of free screening tests for men and women over 21.

The picnic area will have entertainment featuring the Herick Marionettes, afternoon and evening. And the big midway again will bustle with Reithofer rides and attractions.

A closing day attraction will be a Mid-Hudson Valley Firemen's Day parade, with 24 departments vying for trophies.

Northern Dutchess Hospital In Joint Exhibit at the Fair

Northern Dutchess Hospital in cooperation with other area volunteer non-profit hospitals is presenting a joint exhibit at the Dutchess County Fair this year on Aug. 20-25.

Representatives of Vassar Brothers Hospital, Saint Francis Hospital, Highland Hospital and Northern Dutchess Hospital will work together to inform the community of the services which are available to the people of Dutchess County.

The exhibit will consist of a series of slides, presenting a pictorial story of hospital facilities available in the four hospitals, a display of unique hospital equipment and a pacer-maker, used in coronary care, which can be demonstrated on people attending the fair.

The exhibit will be located adjacent to the Hall of Health where a free health checkup, consisting of a few but important tests, can be obtained by any person over 21 years of age. The Hall of Health is sponsored by the Dutchess County Health Department in cooperation with the New York State Health Department.

Local Marine Unit Submits Resolution on the Pueblo

Immediate action by the United States Government toward securing the release of the U.S.S. Pueblo and her entire crew, was urged in a resolution unanimously approved at the 45th annual Marine Corps League convention recently held in Bridgeport, Conn.

A similar resolution was passed some time ago at the New York State Marine Corps League convention in Kingston. The resolution was presented in Bridgeport by a local delegation headed by State Commandant Gilbert E. Gray of this city.

The resolution read in part: "We strongly resent the fact that our ship, the U.S.S. Pueblo and its entire crew were kidnapped on the high seas by a foreign power, and since that time we have been unable to gain the slightest success toward securing the release of the ship or its crew."

Attending the Connecticut sessions in addition to Commandant Gray were, John Ray May, one of Kingston, and Marines Joseph Sullivan, Valmore Carpenter and Kurt Gruber of Saugerties. Gray said on his return that copies of the resolution were sent to President Johnson.

Gray reported that while at the convention, he received a telephone call from Lieut. Commander Allen Hemphill from San Diego, Calif., thanking the Marine Corps League on behalf of Mrs. Rose Burcher, wife of Commander Burcher of the Pueblo, for its action, and expressing appreciation for Gray's roll in framing the original resolution.

During the social phase of the convention appearances were made by Martha Raye, who was known to many of the Marines through her appearances at entertainments in various parts of the world while the men were in service. Imogene Coco and Sid Caesar, Miss Raye told of her recent trips to Vietnam with Bob Hope.

Rec Program Winners Listed; Final Week

Winners of the rope skipping contest which highlighted the Saugerties Recreation program last week have been announced as follows.

Kite flying contests continued in all the area parks with more than 50 kites made at Mt. Marion and Barclay Heights Parks. Winners were as follows:

Mt. Marion—Seven year olds, Hal Hauck, Steve Pavlak and Dale Martin; eight year olds, Karen Wolff; nine year olds, John Pavlak, and 10 years and up, Nancy Pavlak, Jay Gokenheimer and Richard Wolff.

Barclay Heights—Seven year olds, Christy Goodwin, Sandra

Verrastro, Becky Zulick; nine year olds, Ray Christiana, Patrick Caffrey, Gregg Felton, Jay Cadmus; 10 years and up, Pam Horner and Cindy Goodwin.

A model airplane demonstration was given by Al Goodwin and Jerry Milosek. More than 70 youngsters of all ages attended the event.

Thursday and Friday of this week the Junior Olympics will be held. Track and field events will take place during the morning for seven, eight and nine year olds and in the afternoon for older boys and girls.

Friday evening Jack Donahue will conclude the basketball game which was held at Friendship Farm, West Camp, with a championship game at the high school gym. The staff and officials will take on outstanding high school students in the final game of the evening.

Summer Pastor Lists Topic, Events Slated

Worship services at the Saugerties Reformed Church Sunday 9:45 a.m. will be conducted by the summer pastor, Richard Brihn. Sermon topic will be "Mighty Uncomfortable."

Soloist will be Leroy Donaldson with Miss Isabel Tubbs as guest organist.

The summer camp program will sponsor a picnic swim at North Lake Tuesday for those in fourth grade and older. Cars will leave from the church at 9:30 a.m. and will return by 4 p.m. A picnic lunch will be provided by the summer program. Rain date will be Thursday, Aug. 22 as no program has been scheduled for that day.

Negro history seminar will hold its final session Wednesday 8 p.m. All may attend the classes in the church choir room.

During the vacation of the pastor, the Rev. Orville J. Hine, the summer pastor, the Rev. Richard Brihn, may be reached at the church office or at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Steyer.

Applications are now being received for the day nursery school, Mrs. Samuel Adams may be contacted for further information.

Sketch May Aid In Search for 'Catch Me' Killer

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Police have distributed a second artist's sketch of a man who telephoned them to say he had killed three persons and pleaded: "Please catch me."

The sketch, in color, was based on the description furnished by a gas station attendant and others who told police they thought they had seen the man described as 18 to 20 years old, about 5-foot-11 and 160 pounds, with long blond hair combed straight back.

Police searched today for a third victim. The telephone caller directed police Monday to the nearly nude body of 11-year-old Marilyn Clark and her gravely wounded mother, Mrs. Dorothy A. Clark, 42, of Clarkston, Ga.

Mrs. Clark remained in "very critical" condition in a hospital and has been unable to give a description of her assailant. She was found slumped over the wheel of an automobile and her daughter's body was discovered on a roadside four miles away.

The caller said another body was "in the water."

The service station attendant said he serviced on Sunday the car in which Mrs. Clark was found. He said two adult women, a girl and a man were in the car at the time.

Police said Mrs. Clark and her daughter had been vacationing in the Miami area but they could not establish their whereabouts for the last 10 days.

Reserve Callup On Trial, Termed Unconstitutional

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The U. S. 3rd Circuit Court was asked Tuesday to declare President Johnson's callup of reservists unconstitutional.

Three members of the New Jersey Air National Guard filed the petition asking for a preliminary injunction from keeping them in the active reserve.

Their unit, near Atlantic City, N. J., was called to active duty following the North Korean seizure of the USS Pueblo. They are S. Sgt. Erin Goldberg, 23, of Philadelphia; Airman 1c. Lyman Peyser, 25, of Union, N.J.; and Norman Goldstein, 23, of Freeport, N. Y.

Goldberg and Goldstein have been ordered to South Korea and Peyser to Vietnam.

Their attorney argued the President had no power to call up the reservists in an undeclared war. Only Congress, he said, has the right to raise and support armies.

The court took the issue under advisement.

Rate Hike Tabled

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The State Public Service Commission today suspended a plan by the St. Lawrence Gas Co. to raise rates by $159,500 a year beginning Aug. 16.

The company serves about 6,900 customers in Ogdensburg, Massena and other communities in St. Lawrence County.

The PSC directed the company to continue present rates pending an investigation to determine whether the proposed increase is justified. A public hearing also will be scheduled, the agency said.

F. Lee Bailey Defendant in Murder Action

NORRISTOWN, Pa. (AP) — The brother-in-law of Mrs. Ethel Kravitz said Tuesday he has filed a suit against her and her attorney, F. Lee Bailey.

Attorney Morris Passon said charges made against him by Mrs. Kravitz were all false.

Mrs. Kravitz, who spent eight years in prison for the murder of her husband, Max, has filed a petition for a new trial charging that Passon was involved in the murder.

The petition said Passon had quarreled with Max Kravitz over money matters shortly before Kravitz was murdered.

The Prothonotary's office for Montgomery County Court said that a summons in trust action had been filed Tuesday in behalf of Passon, naming Mrs. Kravitz and Bailey as defendants. The office said a detailed complaint will be filed later.

Passon said he hopes Bailey "will be man enough to stand up to what he has done" by appearing in Pennsylvania with Mrs. Kravitz.

City Police Summon 40 For Speeding

Kingston police cracked down on speeders and other violators of the Vehicle and Traffic Law Tuesday and early today and summoned 40 motorists for exceeding the city's speed limit. Radar equipment was used by teams of patrolmen assigned to the traffic check in various parts of the city.

The summonses are all returnable before City Judge Hubert A. Richter.

Several were cited by police for two violations, and Wayne M. Parmelee, 18, of Sunrise Park was charged with failure to produce a registration, speeding and being an unlicensed driver.

Kite flying contests continued in all the area parks with more than 50 kites made at Mt. Marion and Barclay Heights Parks. Winners were as follows:

Mt. Marion—Seven year olds, Hal Hauck, Steve Pavlak and Dale Martin; eight year olds, Karen Wolff; nine year olds, John Pavlak, and 10 years and up, Nancy Pavlak, Jay Gokenheimer and Richard Wolff.

Barclay Heights—Seven year olds, Christy Goodwin, Sandra

Verrastro, Becky Zulick; nine year olds, Ray Christiana, Patrick Caffrey, Gregg Felton, Jay Cadmus; 10 years and up, Pam Horner and Cindy Goodwin.

A model airplane demonstration was given by Al Goodwin and Jerry Milesek. More than 70 youngsters of all ages attended the event.

Thursday and Friday of this week the Junior Olympics will be held. Track and field events will take place during the morning for seven, eight and nine year olds and in the afternoon for older boys and girls.

Friday evening Jack Donahue will conclude the basketball game which was held at Friendship Farm, West Camp, with a championship game at the high school gym. The staff and officials will take on outstanding high school students in the final game of the evening.

Rate Hike Tabled

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The State Public Service Commission today suspended a plan by the St. Lawrence Gas Co. to raise rates by $159,500 a year beginning Aug. 16.

The company serves about 6,900 customers in Ogdensburg, Massena and other communities in St. Lawrence County.

The PSC directed the company to continue present rates pending an investigation to determine whether the proposed increase is justified. A public hearing also will be scheduled, the agency said.

F. Lee Bailey Defendant in Murder Action

NORRISTOWN, Pa. (AP) — The brother-in-law of Mrs. Ethel Kravitz said Tuesday he has filed a suit against her and her attorney, F. Lee Bailey.

Attorney Morris Passon said charges made against him by Mrs. Kravitz were all false. Mrs. Kravitz, who spent eight years in prison for the murder of her husband, Max, has filed a petition for a new trial charging that Passon was involved in the murder.

The petition said Passon had quarreled with Max Kravitz over money matters shortly before Kravitz was murdered.

The prothonotary's office for Montgomery County Court said that a summons in trust action had been filed Tuesday in behalf of Passon, naming Mrs. Kravitz and Bailey as defendants. The office said a detailed complaint will be filed later.

Passon said he hopes Bailey "will be man enough to stand up to what he has done" by appearing in Pennsylvania with Mrs. Kravitz.

City Police Summon 40 For Speeding

Kingston police cracked down on speeders and other violators of the Vehicle and Traffic Law Tuesday and early today and summoned 40 motorists for exceeding the city's speed limit. Radar equipment was used by teams of patrolmen assigned to the traffic check in various parts of the city.

The summonses are all returnable before City Judge Hubert A. Richter.

Several were cited by police for two violations, and Wayne M. Parmelee, 18, of Sunrise Park was charged with failure to produce a registration, speeding and being an unlicensed driver.

Others booked were David A. Short, 20, of 50 Court Avenue, speeding and failure to produce a registration; Deborah A. Rabotini, 19, of 19 Lay Street, passing a flashing red light and failure to produce a registration; Harold Rosenkrantz, 24, of High Falls, speeding and failure to produce a registration; Gene Rios, Jr., 21, of 23 Prince Street, speeding and being an unlicensed driver; Karl H. Hoppe, 31, of Box 308, Ulster Avenue, Ulster Park, speeding and passing a red light; Roy E. Olsen, 18, of Box 175, Shokan, making an illegal left turn and operating an unregistered motor vehicle.

Summer Pastor Lists Topic, Events Slated

Worship services at the Saugerties Reformed Church Sunday 9:45 a.m. will be conducted by the summer pastor, Richard Brihn. Sermon topic will be "Mighty Uncomfortable."

Soloist will be Leroy Donaldson with Miss Isabel Tubbs as guest organist.

The summer camp program will sponsor a picnic swim at North Lake Tuesday for those in fourth grade and older. Cars will leave from the church at 9:30 a.m. and will return by 4 p.m. A picnic lunch will be provided by the summer program. Rain date will be Thursday, Aug. 22, as no program has been scheduled for that day.

Negro history seminar will hold its final session Wednesday 8 p.m. All may attend the classes in the church choir room.

During the vacation of the pastor, the Rev. Orville J. Hine, the summer pastor, the Rev. Richard Brihn, may be reached at the church office or at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Steyer.

Applications are now being received for the day nursery school, Mrs. Samuel Adams may be contacted for further information.

Sketch May Aid In Search for 'Catch Me' Killer

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Police have distributed a second artist's sketch of a man who telephoned them to say he had killed three persons and pleaded: "Please catch me."

The sketch, in color, was based on the description furnished by a gas station attendant and others who told police they thought they had seen the man described as 18 to 20 years old, about 5-foot-11 and 160 pounds with long blond hair combed straight back.

Police searched today for a third victim. The telephone caller directed police Monday to the nearly nude body of 11-year-old Marilyn Clark and her gravely wounded mother, Mrs. Dorothy A. Clark, 42, of Clarkston, Ga.

Mrs. Clark remained in "very critical" condition in a hospital and has been unable to give a description of her assailant. She was found slumped over the wheel of an automobile and her daughter's body was discovered on a roadside four miles away.

The service station attendant said he serviced on Sunday the car in which Mrs. Clark was found. He said two adult women, a girl and a man were in the car at the time.

Reserve Callup On Trial, Termed Unconstitutional

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The U. S. 3rd Circuit Court was asked Tuesday to declare President Johnson's callup of reservists unconstitutional.

Three members of the New Jersey Air National Guard filed the petition asking for a preliminary injunction from keeping them in the active reserve.

Their unit, near Atlantic City, N. J., was called to active duty following the North Korean seizure of the USS Pueblo. They are S. Sgt. Erin Goldberg, 23, of Philadelphia; Airman 1c Lyman Peyser, 25, of Union, N.J.; and Norman Goldstein, 23, of Freeport, N. Y.

Goldberg and Goldstein have been ordered to South Korea and Peyser to Vietnam.

Their attorney argued the President had no power to call up the reservist in an undeclared war. Only Congress, he said, has the right to raise and support armies.

The court took the issue under advisement.

Sunday School Schedule Set At Atonement

Plans for the fall schedule of Sunday school have been announced by Atonement Lutheran Church, 100 Market Street, Saugerties.

Classes will resume with Rally Day program Sept. 8. Assignment of classes and teachers will be made prior to that time by David Hildebrandt, superintendent. There are 200 pupils and 20 teachers expected to take part.

Confirmation classes for pupils in the seventh and eighth grades will start Wednesday, Oct. 2 in conjunction with the release time program of the Saugerties Schools. Also planned for the fall is an adult membership class starting the first Sunday in October.

District Head Visits Rotary

District Governor Samuel Gilner was guest speaker at the meeting of the Saugerties Rotary Club recently.

He met informally with the officers of the Board of Directors prior to the meeting. Governor Gilner spoke on the theme of Rotary for the year, emphasizing the following areas: in activities, the Rotary should carry all programs to successful conclusions regardless of the number of programs; in membership, additional members should be selected on the basis of quality rather than quantity; and in publicity, publicizing the activities of the Rotary should never be to the aggrandizement of Rotary but to the ends of community awareness and participation in the programs.

Book Fair Set By Day School

A book fair sponsored by the board of directors of the Community Day Nursery School will be held on the Saugerties Reformed Church grounds Saturday, Oct. 5.

A book collection is currently underway. Both paperback and hard cover books and educational magazines are being sought.

Books may be delivered to the home of Charles Fous, 40 Elm Street, Saugerties. Pick up of donations may be arranged by contacting Fous.

Garden Club Activities Detailed at Luncheon

Committee chairmen brought Woodstock Garden Club members up to date with reports at the business meeting held recently at Deane's.

Mrs. K. B. Musof thanked her assistants, Mrs. Alice Janicula and Mrs. Al Thon for their cooperation in the recent flower show and Mrs. Edna Vickers, Mrs. Raymond VanValkenburg and Miss Priscilla Evraets for help at the Garden Club table in the Library Fair. A letter was read from Mrs. W. F. Small, historian of the 3rd District Federated Garden Clubs, thanking Mrs. Musof for copies of releases.

Mrs. Arthur Jones reminded the members of the coming card party on Sept. 13 and asked for table reservations. Miss Therese Kessel reported on materials needed for articles to be sold at 3rd District meeting in October. A workshop meeting was announced for Sept. 11 at Miss Kessel's home. Mrs. Lamont Marvin, who is in charge of the Woodstock Garden Club Florence Hubbard Memorial Book Shelf in the Woodstock Library, asked for garden book donations, and weekly flower arrangements.

Mrs. Gilbert Schneider thanked the many hostesses who assisted her in the recent flower show.

Mrs. Harry Schmidt, president, thanked for her efforts in making the flower show an outstanding success. Miss Priscilla Evraets was appointed librarian in charge of pamphlets and horticulture books now in the club's possession.

A trip to Lake Mohonk for the Garden Holiday Program was announced for Aug. 27 and reservations taken.

Mrs. Henry Schwab is chairman of the garden club's exhibit at the Dutchess County Fair Aug. 20 through 25.

Four new members are Mrs. Earl Jones, Mrs. Kenton Meyer, Mrs. John DeNero and Mrs. M. Leslie Denning. Mrs. Denning is a charter member who is returning.

After the meeting members toured the new Jarvis Galleries and gardens.

Kelly Named President of State N.Y. Bank

John W. Kelly, executive vice-president of The State of New York National Bank, was named president of the local institution Tuesday to succeed A. Raymond Atkins, recently deceased.

Kelly, a director of the State of New York National Bank, was serving as executive vice-president of the Fallkill National Bank and Trust Company at the time of the merger of the Ulster and Dutchess County banks last spring.

A former officer of the Bankers Trust Company in New York City, Kelly has had a long and varied experience in banking. A native of Connecticut, the 39-year-old newly elected president is married to the former Mary Louise Stephanowski and is the father of three children ranging in ages from 8 to 12 years.

A graduate of the University of Connecticut, Kelly holds a graduate degree from the Columbia School of Business and is presently a doctoral candidate at New York University School of Business. He has taught economics and money and banking in the evening divisions of the University of Connecticut and at City College.

He served in Korea as an infantry officer.

Active in community affairs in Poughkeepsie, Kelly serves as treasurer of Dutchess County Council Boy Scouts of America, director and member of Central Budget Division of the Dutchess Area Community Chest and as assistant treasurer of the Poughkeepsie Rotary Club. He is also a member of the Poughkeepsie Chamber of Commerce and of the Amrita Club.

Kelly has lived at 27 Schuyler Drive in Poughkeepsie. He plans to remove shortly to the Kingston area.

The State of New York National Bank, the largest commercial bank in Ulster County, showed deposits exceeding $55,000,000 and total assets of over $63,000,000 as of June 30th, 1968. The bank operates nine offices in Kingston, Poughkeepsie, Hyde Park, New Paltz and the Town of Ulster in Ulster and Dutchess Counties. A 10th office in the Town of Poughkeepsie is scheduled for opening later this year.

The State of New York National Bank is affiliated with the Bankers Trust New York Corporation, second largest bank holding company, which also includes the First Trust Company of Albany, the First State Bank of Rockland County and Bankers Trust Company of New York City.

Three Appear In Ellenville On Drug Charges

They were Eddie Davis of 24 North Main Street and Edward Green of 11 Hermance Street, both of Ellenville, and Domingo Marin, Box 251, Wurtsboro.

Judge Friedman adjourned the case of Green until Aug. 16, and put over Marin's hearing until Aug. 20. Marin pleaded guilty to loitering and was sentenced to five days. He received credit for time already served.

Green and Davis were held in bail totaling $1,450. Marin's bail was set at $1,350 and in lieu of bail the three were returned to the county jail.

Haywood Terry, 29, of 27 Maple Avenue, who was charged with criminal possession of dangerous drugs, pleaded guilty to a charge of harassment and was sentenced to 10 days in the county jail. Terry previously had waived preliminary hearing on the drug charge and the case is pending before the grand jury. Terry was accused of possessing a quantity of heroin.

Jordan Troops Attack Car, Shoot Civilians

By United Press International
Jordanian troops attacked an Israeli armored car with rockets and fired on Israeli civilians in two separate incidents today, the Israeli government reported.

In Paris, French pilots agreed to join a boycott of Algerian airports in efforts to force Algeria to free Israeli crewmen and passengers of a hijacked El Al airliner.

The decision will leave Algeria virtually without international air transport since French pilots man 95 per cent of the flights in and out of the Arab country in North Africa.

Israel said one Israeli was slightly injured in the attacks in the Beisan Valley. The announcement in Jerusalem said Jordanians fired bazookas at an armored car near the settlement of Neve-Or.

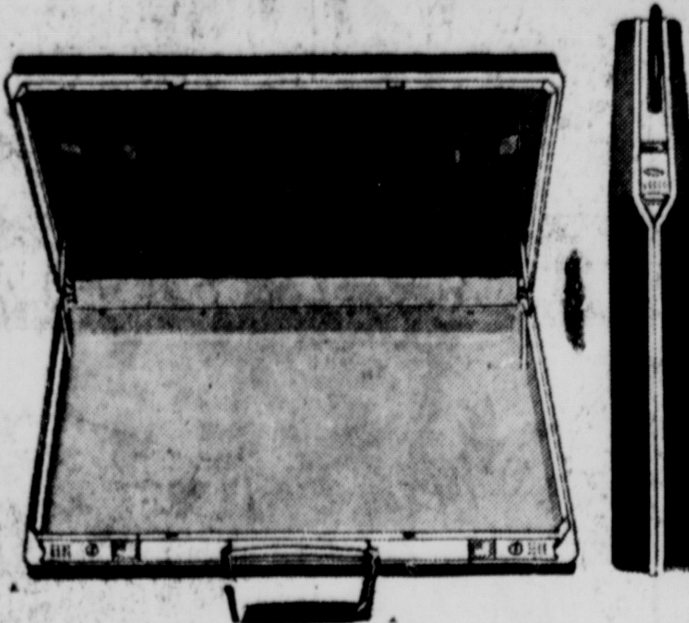

Jerusalem said Jordanian troops bombarded a farm settlement near Neve-Or and fired on civilians in the village of Yardenia.

Three Appear In Ellenville On Drug Charges

They were Eddie Davis of 24 North Main Street and Edward Green of 11 Hermance Street, both of Ellenville, and Domingo Marin, Box 251, Wurtsboro.

Judge Friedman adjourned the case of Green until Aug. 16, and put over Marin's hearing until Aug. 20. Marin pleaded guilty to loitering and was sentenced to five days. He received credit for time already served.

Green and Davis were held in bail totaling $1,450. Marin's bail was set at $1,350 and in lieu of bail the three were returned to the county jail.

Haywood Terry, 29, of 27 Maple Avenue, who was charged with criminal possession of dangerous drugs, pleaded guilty to a charge of harassment and was sentenced to 10 days in the county jail. Terry previously had waived preliminary hearing on the drug charge and the grand jury. Terry was accused of possessing a quantity of heroin.

Jordan Troops Attack Car, Shoot Civilians

By United Press International
Jordanian troops attacked an Israeli armored car with rockets and fired on Israeli civilians in two separate incidents today, the Israeli government reported.

In Paris, French pilots agreed to join a boycott of Algerian airports in efforts to force Algeria to free Israeli crewmen and passengers of a hijacked El Al airliner.

The decision will leave Algeria virtually without international air transport since French pilots man 95 per cent of the flights in and out of the Arab country in North Africa.

Israel said one Israeli was slightly injured in the attacks in the Beisan Valley. The announcement in Jerusalem said Jordanians fired bazookas at an armored car near the settlement of Neve-Or.

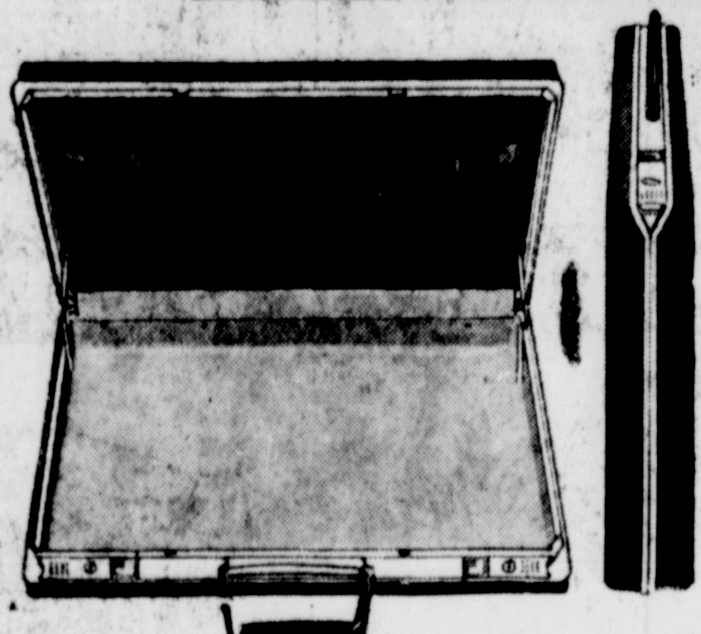

Jerusalem said Jordanian troops bombarded a farm settlement near Nev-Or and fired on civilians in the village of Yardenia.

LBJ Must Cut Another Billion To Meet Mandates of Congress

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson, who agreed reluctantly to a $6-billion cut in federal spending to get his income tax increase, now faces the probability of having to cut an additional $1 billion.

Johnson, spending a long working holiday at his hill country ranch, had press secretary George Christian outline publicly on Tuesday the budget-cutting problems faced by the White House.

This followed a four-hour ranch conference Johnson had with Budget Director Charles J. Zwick.

As sketched by Christian, this is the situation facing the administration:

When Congress fixed a spending ceiling of $180.1 billion for a broad range of federal programs—except the Vietnam war and some others—it looked as if the ceiling could be met by chopping $6 billion from planned outlays in the fiscal year that began July 1.

Since then, however, estimated spending for farm-price supports has increased by $700 million and it now appears that costs of public assistance and Medicaid may top the original projection by $300 million.

Those increases totaling $1 billion must be offset by cuts elsewhere in the budget.

Christian, quoting Zwick, said it seems likely that Congress itself will specify $3 billion in spending reductions. That leaves $4 billion of economy moves to be pinpointed by the administration.

The President, in an action announced Tuesday, approved significant new cutbacks in U.S. payrolls abroad. This is not a direct economy move, since many workers simply will be transferred to stateside jobs. But it is intended to help ease the balance of payments deficit which was one of the chief goals of Johnson's 10 per cent income surtax.

By mid-1969, under the Johnson plan, enough overseas jobs will be eliminated to cut spending abroad by $28 million to $32 million.

Compared with Dec. 31, 1967, the number of Americans on federal payrolls abroad will be slashed by 4,083 from 22,884, or 18 per cent. The number of for-ign nationals employed will be cut by 16 per cent. Twenty-one agencies, including the military, will be affected. Christian had no word Tuesday on when doctors might report their findings after a careful study of X rays made Monday.

day of Johnson's lower intestinal condition that produces pouches on the inner lining of the intestine. The chief executive has a nondisabling time.

75,000 Firearms Registered in New York City

NEW YORK (AP) — About 75,000 rifles and shotguns had been registered by their owners when the deadline for registration under the city's new Firearms Control Law passed Tuesday midnight.

Police officials say they have no way of knowing exactly how many such weapons there are in the city. One official said the 75,000 registered constituted only a fraction of the total. Estimates of the total run up to 300,000.

Charles M. Lee, director of the bureau administering the law, warned Tuesday night that anyone who failed to register his weapon would be "technically in violation of the law."

But City Clerk Herman Katz said he did not believe city officials "would act like a bunch of bureaucrats" and automatically penalize gun owners who failed to register by the deadline.

The penalty for not registering is a year in jail, a $500 fine or both.

Lee said that registration forms that were mailed and postmarked before midnight would be accepted.

There was a last-minute rush Tuesday of gun owners showing up at the gun registration bureau or at police stations with the required papers and photographs. There also was a heavy last-minute accumulation of mailed registration forms.

FAITH IN CREW — Brazilian Air Force Sgt. Wilson Ji dangles at the end of his parachute (L) after it was caught on the fuselage of a C-47 when he jumped during an air show over Guaratingueta, Brazil. The plane's crew cut through the fuselage in order to free the chute. Although caught for 22 minutes, once cut away Ji floated safely to the ground. After landing (R), Ji (C) tells his fellow parachutists "After the jump I received a tremendous jerk and realized that I was caught on the plane. A strong wind was beating me and I placed my life in the hands of my colleagues in the plane. I was calm because I had faith in my crew." Undaunted, Sgt. Ji went up and jumped again. Announces Plans for '69 Budget

Wawarsing Supervisor Frank W. Harkin today announced plans for the adoption of the town budget for 1969.

In a 10-day period between Sept. 20 to 30, every administrative office, board, department, or commission in the town government must file with the town clerk estimates of revenues and expenditures for the coming year.

By Oct. 5, the town clerk will present the detailed estimates to the town board.

Five days later, on Oct. 10, the board will meet to adopt the preliminary budget, call a public hearing, and immediately file the original preliminary budget in the town clerk's office for public inspection.

Immediately after the preliminary budget has been prepared, adopted, and filed, the town board will adopt a resolution specifying the time and place when a public hearing will be held.

The public notice will state that the budget is on file at the clerk's office; the time and place of the hearing, and the

Marquette Sets Stock Dividend

A third quarterly dividend amounting to 15 cents per common share will be paid Sept. 12 to shareholders of Marquette Cement Manufacturing Company as recorded at the close of business on Aug. 27. This was authorized by the company's Board of Directors today.

With 15-cent quarterly dividends having been previously paid on March 14 and June 13, the Sept. dividend will bring payments on Marquette common shares to a total of 45 cents for the year to date.

Evacuate 3,500 After Freight Cars Derailed

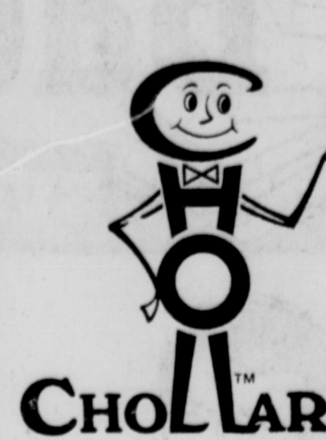

URBANA, Ohio (UPI)—Seven "1,000 residents of this west-central Ohio town were evacuated to the high school, an elementary school building and the Champaign County Fair Grounds as a precautionary measure. The fuses, based on the same principle as dynamite blasting caps, are tube-like containers holding combustible matter for igniting the explosives charges in the howitzer shells. Gov. James A. Rhodes called out 380 National Guard troops to help in the evacuation and to patrol one section of the town.

FAITH IN CREW — Brazilian Air Force Sgt. Wilson Ji dangles at the end of his parachute (L) after it was caught on the fuselage of a C-47 when he jumped during an air show over Guaratingueta, Brazil. The plane's crew cut through the fuselage in order to free the chute. Although caught for 22 minutes, once cut away Ji floated safely to the ground. After landing (R), Ji (C) tells his fellow parachutists "After the jump I received a tremendous jerk and realized that I was caught on the plane. A strong wind was beating me and I placed my life in the hands of my colleagues in the plane. I was calm because I had faith in my crew." Undaunted, Sgt. Ji went up and jumped again. Announces Plans for '69 Budget

Wawarsing Supervisor Frank W. Harkin today announced plans for the adoption of the town budget for 1969.

In a 10-day period between Sept. 20 to 30, every administrative office, board, department, or commission in the town government must file with the town clerk estimates of revenues and expenditures for the coming year.

By Oct. 5, the town clerk will present the detailed estimates to the town board.

Five days later, on Oct. 10, the board will meet to adopt the preliminary budget, call a public hearing, and immediately file the original preliminary budget in the town clerk's office for public inspection.

Immediately after the preliminary budget has been prepared, adopted, and filed, the town board will adopt a resolution specifying the time and place when a public hearing will be held.

The public notice will state that the budget is on file at the clerk's office; the time and place of the hearing, and the proposed salaries of each member of the town board including the supervisor and councilmen, the town clerk, highway superintendent, town attorney and town engineer.

Supervisor Harkin emphasized that this notice will be published in the local news media at least 10 days prior to the day before the hearing date.

Harkin said, "The statutory limitations of the town board to change certain items in the preliminary budget will be explained at this hearing. I will personally review these limitations with the councilmen prior to this meeting."

Five days after the public hearing, on or before the main implementation.

Evacuate 3,500 After Freight Cars Derailed

URBANA, Ohio (UPI)—Seven freight cars of a Penn Central train, seven of them loaded with 150mm howitzer fuses, derailed in a residential area here today, forcing evacuation of about 3,500 persons. Police Chief Douglas Storms said about one-third of the 1,000 residents of this western Ohio town were evacuated to the high school, an elementary school building and the Champaign County Fair Grounds as a precautionary measure.

The fuses, based on the same principle as dynamite blasting caps, are tube-like containers holding combustible matter for igniting the explosives charges in the howitzer shells. Gov. James A. Rhodes called out 380 National Guard troops to help in the evacuation and to patrol one section of the town.

Air Force Pilot On Navy Carrier

Unlike most U.S. Air Force combat pilots in Southeast Asia, Air Force Lieutenant Colonel William Decker recently ended his tour of duty by flying his 100th combat mission over North Vietnam from the deck of the Navy aircraft carrier, USS Kitty Hawk.

The son of Mrs. Arthur D. Decker, Kerhonkson, Col. Decker was assigned to the Kitty Hawk as Air Force liaison officer for one month when he flew his unusual mission. Although commander of the oldest F-105 Thunderchief squadron in Southeast Asia, the 469th Tactical Fighter Squadron at Korat Royal Thai AFB, Thailand, the colonel flew his landmark mission in a Navy F-4 Phantom jet, piloted by an Air Force captain on exchange duty with the Navy.

"After bombing and strafing our target in the southern panhandle of North Vietnam," Col. Decker recalled, "we recovered on the Kitty Hawk. It was a terrific experience," he added.

After returning to his squadron at Korat, the colonel flew his 100th F-105 mission. He accumulated almost 300 combat flying hours during his tour in Southeast Asia and was presented the Silver Star, three Distinguished Flying Crosses, 10 Air Medals and the Purple Heart.

Col. Decker, a veteran of World War II and the Korean War, is scheduled for reassignment at USAF headquarters in Washington, D. C.

Commissioned upon completion of Officer Candidate School in 1943, Col. Decker is a graduate of Kerhonkson High School and attended Florida State University.

His wife, Dorothy, is the daughter of Mrs. Josephine B. Lawrence, Rt. 209, Accord.

Walter Baschnagel

Marine Capt. Walter T. Baschnagel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Farrell of 172 Ten Broeck Avenue, is now serving in Vietnam. The captain, a 1949 graduate of Kingston High School, will be returning home soon and would like to hear from his friends. He is with the Supply Service Company of the 1st Marine Division, C/O PPO, San Francisco.

John Lang Jr.

John Lang Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John K. Lang Sr. of 15 Browning Terrace, was recently promoted to Navy Corpsman third class while serving at the Naval hospital at Philadelphia, Pa. Lang, 21, enlisted in February, 1967. He serves in the officers' surgical ward in Philadelphia. Lang is a graduate of Kingston High School and took boot training and corpsmen's school at Great Lakes, Ill.

William Burger

Sp/4 William H. Burger Jr. has returned to his home in West Park after completing 13 months of duty with the Army in Vietnam. He was discharged from Fort Lewis, Wash. last month after serving with the Army Engineer Corps.

In The Service

Donovan Wins 5th Flying Cross

Army Chief Warrant Officer Edward W. Donovan Jr., whose wife, Margaret, lives in Tillson, received his fifth Distinguished Flying Cross Medal in Vietnam last month.

Donovan, 29, a native of Sayville, was cited for heroism in action while engaged in aerial flight in connection with ground operations against a hostile force near the city of Hue.

The action took place on Feb. 28, 1968 while Donovan was serving as commander of a helicopter gun ship involved in support of ground troops.

The citation accompanying Donovan's decoration reads in part: "When an infantry unit became heavily engaged with a large enemy force, Warrant Officer Donovan exposed himself to hostile fire as he flew at low altitudes to provide accurate supporting fire for the embattled ground elements."

"Although his aircraft received numerous hits he continued to engage the hostile emplacements, enabling the infantry unit to regroup. His outstanding flying ability and devotion to duty are in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service and reflect great credit upon himself, his unit and the United States Army."

Donovan is a 1956 graduate of Sayville High School and attended the State University College at New Paltz. He also holds the Air Medal.

Navy Lists July Recruits

Chief John Drake, recruiter-in-charge at the Navy Recruiting Station at Broadway and Maiden Lane, today released the names of those men from Ulster, Greene and Sullivan Counties who enlisted in the Navy during the month of July.

All are now in Great Lakes, Ill. and have enlisted for tours of duty ranging from two to four years.

Two year men, now seamen recruits include Charles S. Scully, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Scully of RD 2, Kingston and William Zeeb, son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Zeeb of Box 253, Cairo.

Keith Vandenooren, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar A. Vandenooren of 677 Maverick Road, Woodstock, enlisted for four years at an advanced rate of seaman. Other four year men enlisting as seamen recruits include Gary R. Heintz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert W. Heintz of 94 Main Street, Rosendale; Gary R. Norman, son of Orvil

Dachenhause Resigns From Fire Department

At a special meeting Monday, Aug. 12, the Board of Fire Commissioners accepted the resignation of Fireman Lawrence A. Dachenhause effective July 30. Fireman Dachenhause cited his reason for resigning was to re-enlist in the United States Navy in which he spent 10 years prior to his appointment as a fireman.

Fireman Dachenhause thanked the board, chief, officers and men of the department for the kindness and friendship extended to him during his service with the department. Fireman Dachenhause was appointed a provisional fireman May 9, 1967 and received his permanent appointment effective Dec. 1, 1967.

Jason Henry Ward Jr., 24, residing at Spring Lake, Lucas Avenue, was appointed a provisional fireman effective Aug. 13, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Fireman Dachenhause. Fireman Ward had been serving as a provisional fireman.

Teamster Case Set for Trial In September

Teamsters Local 445 business agent Raymond Ebert appeared before Monticello Justice Gellman last night on charges of violating a village ordinance by passing out Teamsters leaflets and had his case set for trial early next month.

Teamsters representative Donald MacCollam, told The Freeman today that the union's attorneys will move to have the village ordinance declared unconstitutional.

The Teamsters are presently trying to organize some 400 employees at Monticello Raceway including pari-mutual window operators, the security force and parking lot attendants. MacCollam said efforts have proven successful so far and that he expects a National Labor Relations Board election in the near future. The Teamsters have been actively organizing the raceway employees for the past month under the leadership of Ebert.

Release British Ambassador After 3-Year Ordeal in China

By CHARLES R. SMITH

HONG KONG (UPI)—Sir Donald Hopson walked out of Communist China today, a smile on his lips and Mao Tse-tung propaganda howling behind him.

For three years he suffered the ordeal of being Britain's man in Peking. Much of the past year Peking held the diplomat a virtual prisoner in his legation, assaulted, spit upon and screamed at by the Red Guard mobs unleashed in Mao's cultural revolution.

But Hopson showed his stuff. He stepped across the wooden Lo-Wu railway bridge connecting Communist China to this British colony, walking between armed Chinese troops.

He smiled upon reaching the British side and said not one word about suffering. "I am in perfect health, very glad to be in Hong Kong and looking forward to getting to England to be with my family," he told a newsman.

Still in Peking, under virtual arrest, were 13 other British diplomats and Anthony Grey, a British news agency correspondent.

Mao's regime locked them in during the past year's cultural revolution purge and power struggle in Red China and the British diplomats in Peking men and a woman from the British Legation reached Hong Kong. Hopson flew from Peking here to take the rare step of refusing exit visas to Peking diplomats in London. In recent months pressure without harassment.

Communists, the pressure eased. Earlier this week three British diplomats in Peking men and a woman from the British Legation reached Hong Kong. Hopson flew from Peking here to take the rare step of refusing exit visas to Peking diplomats in London. In recent months pressure without harassment.

Two Old Cases End in Court; Date to 1966

Two criminal cases of long standing were settled in county court Tuesday with sentencing by County Judge Raymond J. Mino.

George Montgomery of New Paltz, through his attorney Francis Martocci entered a plea of guilty to maintaining a place where a narcotic drug was used. He was sentenced to six months in county jail with the execution of sentence suspended. The defendant's attorney in his plea said Montgomery has been living an exemplary life since his arrest and that he is gainfully employed. The incident occurred Feb. 12, 1966 at New Paltz.

Thomas Randel who entered a plea of guilty to attempted burglary, third degree in June 1967, was sentenced to one year in county jail with execution of sentence suspended and probation to continue for the maximum statutory period. Randel was charged in connection with a break-in at Ginger's Restaurant in this city in June 1966.

Driver Cited After Auto Strikes Tree

A 17-year-old Dutchess County youth escaped injury at 11 p. m. Tuesday when he lost control of his car on Old Post Road, Staatsburg, and hit a tree and stone wall, but he was cited for four violations of the Vehicle and Traffic Law.

Sergeant William Urey of the Rhinebeck state police said Gary Smith, of Staatsburg, was driving out of a private road to go north on Old Post Road when the vehicle left the highway hit the three and a wall before coming to a stop.

Troopers cited the youth for being an unlicensed driver, leaving the scene of an accident, operating an unregistered motor vehicle and having no proof of insurance.

For three years he suffered the ordeal of being Britain's man in Peking. Much of the past year Peking held the diplomat a virtual prisoner in his legation, assaulted, spit upon and screamed at by the Red Guard mobs unleashed in Mao's cultural revolution.

But Hopson showed his stuff. He stepped across the wooden Lo-Wu railway bridge connecting Communist China to this British colony, walking between armed Chinese troops.

He smiled upon reaching the British side and said not one word about suffering. "I am in perfect health, very glad to be in Hong Kong and looking forward to getting to England to be with my family," he told a newsmen.

Still in Peking, under virtual arrest, were 13 other British diplomats and Anthony Grey, a British news agency correspondent.

Mao's regime locked them in during the past year's cultural

POSTER WINNER — Mrs. Elizabeth Sanford, Poppy Poster Chairman of American Legion Post 1298 in the Town of Esopus, presents a $25 Savings Bond to Luisa Granitto, second runnerup in the department Poppy Poster contest held recently. Luisa, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Granitto of St. Remy was Post 1298's first winner and also the first winner in the county. Her poster has been forwarded to the national Legion for judging. On the left is Luisa's art teacher, Mrs. Vincent Van Bramer. (Freeman photo by Haines).

Man Injured in Ashokan Mishap

A 26-year-old High Falls motorist was injured late Tuesday night when his car went out of control along the Ashokan Road in the Town of Marletown and struck a tree and large rock. Wallace W. Fulford, 26, of High Falls, operator of the vehicle was taken to Kingston Hospital by Doctor's Ambulance suffering from contusions of the right knee.

Sheriff's Deputies Barton Kniffin and Roger Lapp, who investigated the mishap said the Fulford vehicle, a 1960 sedan in the Town of Marletown and dan was proceeding west on Ashokan Road when it veered to the right striking a tree and large rock and coming to rest at the intersection of Lapala Road. The mishap occurred at about 11:45 p. m.

Two Old Cases End in Court; Date to 1966

Two criminal cases of long standing were settled in county court Tuesday with sentencing by County Judge Raymond J. Mino.

George Montgomery of New Paltz, through his attorney Francis Martocci entered a plea of guilty to maintaining a place where a narcotic drug was used. He was sentenced to six months in county jail with the execution of sentence suspended. The defendant's attorney in his plea said Montgomery has been living an exemplary life since his arrest and that he is gainfully employed. The incident occurred Feb. 12, 1966 at New Paltz.

Thomas Randel who entered a plea of guilty to attempted burglary, third degree in June 1967, was sentenced to one year in county jail with execution of sentence suspended and probation to continue for the maximum statutory period. Randel was charged in connection with a break-in at Ginger's Restaurant in this city in June 1966.

Driver Cited After Auto Strikes Tree

A 17-year-old Dutchess County youth escaped injury at 11 p. m. Tuesday when he lost control of his car on Old Post Road, Staatsburg, and hit a tree and stonewall, but he was cited for four violations of the Vehicle and Traffic Law.

Sergeant William Urey of the Rhinebeck state police said Gary Smith, of Staatsburg, was driving out of a private road to go north on Old Post Road when the vehicle left the highway hit the three and a wall before coming to a stop.

Troopers cited the youth for being an unlicensed driver, leaving the scene of an accident, operating an unregistered motor vehicle and having no proof of insurance.

The American elk is the second largest deer in the world after the moose.

Have you got a complaint that's been around so long it's become a tradition? Or maybe your gripe is brand new? Well, LET'S FIND OUT wants to hear from you! LET'S FIND OUT is the name of the new column starting in The Kingston Daily Freeman on Aug. 24. It'll be a column dedicated to the reader and a column readers help write.

What we'd like to have from you is some questions. If you feel there's an inaccuracy in something you've heard or read, let us know and we'll delve into the problem. If you want to know where your leaders stand on an issue, we'll ask them for you. If you have an idea worth airing, we'll air it for you and wait for the reaction.

Let LET'S FIND OUT be your soapbox. All it takes is a simple question on a card or in a letter, addressed to LET'S FIND OUT in care of The Freeman. Or call FE 1-5000 and ask for LET'S FIND OUT and we'll take your question over the phone.

Mrs. Theresa Mayone of Glasco and Louis Jones of Kingston will appear on the Merv Griffin Show on Tuesday, Aug. 20, at 8:30 p.m. on Channel 5 from New York. Mrs. Mayone and Jones were among 45 area persons who recently enjoyed a bus trip to New York. While attending the Merv Griffin Show they were asked on stage by Griffin. The show was taped and will be broadcast next Tuesday.

Mrs. Mayone is well known in the area, having sponsored bus trips for many years for Catholic pilgrimages as well as social outings. Future schedules include trips to Monticello Raceway, Niagara Falls, Massachusetts, New York and Washington, D.C. A special trip is being planned on the feast of St. Januarius in September.

Hints from Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Folks:

You know how those metal tops on jars of pickles, mayonnaise, sandwich spreads, etc., rust after sitting on your refrigerator shelf for a while?

Well, just slip one of the plastic lids (you've been saving from coffee cans, shortening or toppings) inside that metal top and crev. it back on your jar. Great! That little plastic lid keeps the moisture away from the metal and prevents the rust. And they're washable and sanitary.

If the plastic lid is a little too large to fit inside the metal one, just take your scissors and trim it to fit. You can—it's easy.

Wonderful too when reusing those jars for storing broths or juices. You won't have that rust problem any more. I don't.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

When our children wanted ice cream cones and we had only the cones on hand, I searched for something else to fill them with.

Having a big bowl of fruit gelatin, I filled the cones with it and put topping on each. You never saw such a surprised and happy group of kiddies. They loved the idea.

Mrs. M. Bull

Dear Heloise:

Those utility tables we use between the kitchen and dining room are also great for transporting "stuff" around the house—linens, laundry, books, clothes from closet to closet, etc. Also to place in front of shelves and closets when rearranging.

E. D.

Dear Heloise:

Guess what I use to pick up slivers of broken glass, straight pins, and staples off the floor? Masking tape. Works great.

Gail

Dear Heloise:

I have solved my problem of drying my rubber bathtub mat (the kind with the suction cups).

I pick mine up and stick the top to the tile over the tub, leaving the end hanging over the edge in the tub. The mat sticks well and the excess water drains back into the tub.

Sure nice for mothers that bathe several children a day.

Busy Mother

Dear Heloise:

While decorating the kitchen in my new house, I had trouble deciding what to do with my measuring cups. I used to have them hanging on the wall, but when we moved I forgot to bring the little rack to hang them on.

Finally I thought of the idea of using cup hooks. I just screwed them up on the underside of the cupboard near the wall and hung them there. I even put one up for measuring spoons and the coffee measure. They not only look attractive, but are so handy.

Reader

Dear Heloise:

Try this if your sheer curtains fly all over the room and just don't hang right.

Wrap a small curtain weight in adhesive tape, leaving a small tab to pin onto the back of the hem at the bottom.

This will make your curtains hang nicely. The weights don't show and are easily removed for washing.

Area Delta Kappa Gamma Members At International Convention

The International convention of Delta Kappa Gamma Society was held at the Americana Hotel in New York August 6-10. Members of the local chapter attending and serving as hostesses were Mrs. Frances Bailey, Miss May Evans, Mrs. Pearl Rippert, Miss Mary Polhemus and Mrs. Frieda Dingee. Mrs. Dingee served as properties chairman at the convention.

Nearly one-half million dollars given in two years in scholarships for advanced study, grants for teachers in preparation, and awards to women from other nations by an organization of 105,000 women educators proves that these women, at least, believe in the abilities and potentialities of other women and will support them.

This unprecedented amount was given during the 1966-68 biennium by the chapters, states and provinces, and international organization of The Delta Kappa Gamma Society, honor organization for women educators. Mrs. Nell B. McMains, Texas City, Tex., international president, made this announcement at the opening session on Wednesday, Aug. 7.

Recipients of the international society's awards for study during the 1966-69 academic year, announced on Thursday at 13 members doing doctoral and post-doctoral studies and seven the 39th birthday luncheon, are women from abroad seeking advanced degrees. An equal number was given in 1966-67.

Members receiving $2,500 scholarships from the Delta Kappa Gamma International for 1968-69 are Mrs. Oneta R. Furr, Texas; Elinor Yungmeyer, Illinois; Lorraine Missling, Wisconsin; Martha Elise Blankenship, Texas; Mrs. Frances B. Wild, Tennessee; Barbara M. Strawitz, Louisiana; Mrs. Willas S. Melton, Texas; Joan E. Bottger, Texas; Virginia L. Wylie, West Virginia; Naomi Hersom, Manitoba; LaFerne Price, Indiana; Julia A. Smith, Texas; and Mary A. Thrig, North Carolina.

World Fellowships, made possible by voluntary contributions of members, will go to Ingrid Holmquist, Sweden; Catarina Kiefe, Portugal; Marina Kytroka, Greece; Mabel de Tournier, Uruguay; Maria Moreira, Portugal; Silvia Remy, Brazil; and Ester De Castro, Argentina. During 1967-68 these awards were used by recipients from Chile, Argentina, Peru, Iceland, Japan, and South Africa.

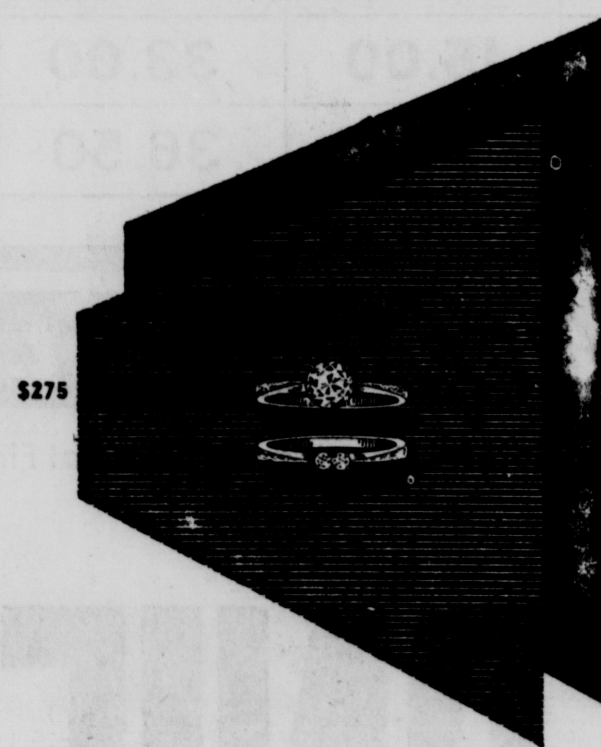

Three overseas tour groups, sponsored by Delta Kappa Gamma, returned to New York City during the convention week. The Seminar and Field Study tour of Eastern Europe, cosponsored with the Comparative Education Society, had Helen Brittan, Rhode Island, as co-director. A group led by Helen Samuel, Virginia, returned from a "Travel with a Purpose" tour of the Scandinavian countries and the British Isles. A new venture, "Cultures of the Middle East" seminar of travel with three weeks of study and lectures at the Beirut College for Women, in Lebanon, was planned and directed by Margaret Boyd, Ohio, a past international president.

Maya Pines, author of Revolution in Learning, published by Harper and Row, received the $1,500 Educator's Award given for the best book on basic aspects of education written by a woman during the 1966-68 term. Eva Gardner, Georgia, state executive secretary, publications and publicity chairman, and editor simultaneously for many years, received the golden pendant of the international Achievement Award for her service with distinction on international committees and in various capacities.

Three founders of the society, organized in Austin, Tex., in 1929, attended the convention: Dr. Helen L. Koch, Chicago, Ill.; Ray King, Fort Worth, Tex.; and Lela Lee Williams, Dallas, Tex. Dr. Anna Hiss, Baltimore, the fourth surviving founder, was unable to be present.

Elected to international offices for 1968-70 on Friday morning were Dr. Dorothy L. Johnson, Washington, D.C., president; Dr. Mary Frances White, Manhattan, Kansas, first vice-president; Ruth Tucker, Ridgeland, Miss., second vice-president; and the four regional directors—Mrs. Esther Strickland, Columbus, Ohio, Northeast; Dr. Veda Halvorson, Mankato, Minn., Northwest; Mrs. Marjean Packard, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Southeast; Mrs. Helen James, Long Beach, Calif., Southwest. The new officers were installed on Saturday evening before the presidents and founders banquet, which ends the convention.

SELECTING A WASHING MACHINE

Are you interested in buying an automatic washer? If so, look at a variety of models before making your choice.

If you are like most shoppers, says Phyllis W. Barlow, Extension Home Economist, you often look first at the price tag attached to the machine. More than likely, there is a limit above which you cannot or should not go. Buying "on time" may make the payments easier, but the credit charges may add considerably to your price tag.

The lower priced models, in each manufacturer's line, provide the basic necessities such as washing, rinsing, and spin drying. This economy model, retailing up to $200, contains the least safety features. But if you are interested in good performance without the extras, you will find this among these economy models.

Medium price washers, retailing for $225 to $250, usually have two speeds and offer some additional conveniences. But the more expensive models, or top of the line washers, retailing for $300 and up are basically the medium price model with more automatic controls which allow an inter-mixing and infinite number of water temperatures and spinning speeds.

Examine the control panel to see what cycles are represented. You will want to know how many settings are available, especially for unusual fabric or soil. Ask yourself what kind of clothes you usually have in your washer load. If you wash mostly cottons, you might select a heavy duty washer. However, if you wash synthetics or fine fabrics, you would probably select a washer that offers a variety of cycles, temperature, and speeds.

Most manufacturers list their washer capacities in terms of dry clothes, ranging from eight to eighteen pounds. But read the use and care booklet that accompanies the washer to find out what constitutes a load. Weight of clothes is only one of the important factors in making up loads. Size and type of clothing you plan to wash makes a difference as to expected cleaning performance.

Turkish towels and bathmats absorb and retain much more water than light weight items such as synthetics. Good washing results are obtained only when you have a machine that allows the clothes to circulate.

Automatic washers fill by one of two methods, a time-fill or a metered-fill. In a time-fill, the water flows for a set length of time and then cuts off. In a metered-fill, the amount of water is controlled by a float valve or air pressure. If the water pressure in your home is low, a time-fill might result in the water being cut off before the washer is properly filled. In the case of low water pressure, a metered-fill would be a better choice.

Before you buy, it's also a good idea to pin down exactly what your guarantee covers. Most models are covered for repair or replacement of defective parts for just one year, with no labor charge. But check these points with your dealer. Transmissions and some motors five years, including labor the first year only.

ETIQUETTE TRIVIA QUIZ

The "Trivia Game," in which one is supposed to come up with the answers to such momentous questions as "What is the name of the mother of Roy Rogers' horse, Trigger?" is currently very popular. Today's quiz tests your knowledge of Etiquette Trivia. Most of the questions concern unimportant customs which make little difference at all. This week your score doesn't matter—you'll be just as polite a person whether you know the answers or not!

1. When you see a visiting card with the upper right-hand corner turned down, does this have any special significance, or does it merely mean the card has been creased in the owner's wallet?

2. Do you know the origin of the word "Etiquette"?

3. Is the missing word in the phrase, "requests the of your presence" when used in an invitation to a wedding ceremony spelled "honor" or "honour"?

4. Why, in days gone by, was a gentleman always careful to seat a lady on his right?

5. There is no title of "Count" in the British Peerage. What is the equivalent of this continental European title?

6. What do the letters "P.P.C." mean when written in the lower left-hand corner of a visiting card?

7. What is the word which the abbreviation "Mrs." represents?

8. When you have tipped the plate, which way should the soup be spooned—towards you or away from you?

9. What is the correct daytime equivalent of a dinner jacket or tuxedo?

10. When vegetables are served in small side dishes in restaurants, should you transfer them to your plate?

Answer:

1. Turning down the corner of a visiting card signifies that the visit was made in person.

2. It comes from the French word for a "little ticket" and refers specifically to a card which served as a ticket to French court functions and which also listed the rules of behavior.

3. "Honour" is the form traditionally used. It is a British variation in spelling.

4. If she sat on his left, her friends assumed that she was not a "lady." Although that meaning no longer holds true, a woman should still sit on a man's right whenever convenient.

5. An Earl. His wife, however, is a Countess, not an "Earless."

6. "P.p.c." stands for the French "Pour prendre congé" meaning "to take leave." It is used to be written on visiting cards sent to, or left with, friends prior to one's departure from the city.

7. Mistress.

8. Whichever is more convenient. The important consideration is not to spill the soup.

9. A sack coat. A cutaway is the daytime equivalent of full evening dress or "tails."

10. If you like to mix things up you may, but it's not necessary.

No Food Problems at Democratic Convention

By JEANNE LESEM
UPI Food Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—A concessionaire who prepares meals for a national political convention is rather like a mother with five children who demand food at all hours.

This analogy was drawn by Deway A. Dyer, vice president and director of the concession division for the company that serves the Chicago International Amphitheater. The Democratic National Convention is scheduled to open at the amphitheater Aug. 26.

In an interview here, Dyer said his firm, Canteen Corp., plans to provide hot and cold meals and snacks for the convention about 16 hours a day with the help of equipment considerably more sophisticated than the home kitchen variety.

Combination refrigerator-ovens, for instance, Dyer said they look like large upright combination refrigerator-freezers, and each can hold 1,100 servings in shallow pans of 18-pound capacity each.

"In the time it takes to transfer these meals to the dining area, another 1,100 servings per unit can be heated."

Two Aides

Dyer added that the amphitheater's kitchen contains two such devices in addition to regular institutional storage refrigerators and dry storage areas.

He said the refrigerator-ovens make it possible for a kitchen no larger than three home size ones to serve a sit-down banquet of several thousand persons or provide a continuous flow of hot meals for conventions like the coming one, for which there's no predictable eating pattern, and where beef stew served family style from a large casserole, or chicken aloha, baked with pineapple rings. With the chicken, there may be french fried potatoes, a seasonal fresh vegetable and tossed salad.

Dyer said the final course is more apt to consist of a cheese tray with crackers or a fresh fruit bowl rather than made desserts.

"We're not trying to provide elaborate food preparation for the convention," he said. "Most people will be busy caucusing, meeting, conferring. We're not as concerned with serving flaming cherries jubilee for dessert as we are in providing good, simple meals for delegates so they can get back to convention business."

Dyer said a typical dinner menu may start with fresh fruit and go on to old-fashioned

Are you interested in buying an automatic washer? If so, look at a variety of models before making your choice.

If you are like most shoppers, says Phyllis W. Barlow, Extension Home Economist, you often look first at the price tag attached to the machine. More than likely, there is a limit above which you cannot or should not go. Buying "on time" may make the payments easier, but the credit charges may add considerably to your price tag.

The lower priced models, in each manufacturer's line, provide the basic necessities such as washing, rinsing, and spin drying. This economy model, retailing up to $200, contains the least safety features. But if you are interested in good performance without the extras, you will find this among these economy models.

Medium price washers, retailing for $225 to $250, usually have two speeds and offer some additional conveniences. But the more expensive models, or top of the line washers, retailing for $300 and up are basically the medium price model with more automatic controls which allow an inter-mixing and infinite number of water temperatures and spinning speeds.

Examine the control panel to see what cycles are represented. You will want to know how many settings are available, especially for unusual fabric or soil. Ask yourself what kind of clothes you usually have in your washer load. If you wash mostly cottons, you might select a heavy duty washer. However, if you wash synthetics or fine fabrics, you would probably select a washer that offers a variety of cycles, temperature, and speeds.

Most manufacturers list their washer capacities in terms of dry clothes, ranging from eight to eighteen pounds. In a metered-fill, the amount of water is controlled by a float valve or air pressure. If the water pressure in your home is low, a timed-fill might result in the water being cut off before the washer is properly filled. In the case of low water pressure, a metered-fill would be a better choice.

This analogy was drawn by Dewey A. Dyer, vice president and director of the concession division for the company that serves the Chicago International Amphitheater. The Democratic National Convention is scheduled to open at the amphitheater Aug. 26.

In an interview here, Dyer said his firm, Canteen Corp., plans to provide hot and cold meals and snacks for the convention about 16 hours a day with the help of equipment considerably more sophisticated than the home kitchen variety. Combination refrigerator-ovens, for instance, Dyer said they look like large upright combination refrigerator-freezers, and each can hold 1,100 servings in shallow pans of 18-pound capacity each.

"One hour before serving, you change the thermostat from refrigeration to heating," he added. "In 40 minutes on the average, depending on the menu, the food heats to serving temperatures."

"In the time it takes to transfer these meals to the dining area, another 1,100 servings per unit can be heated."

Two Aides

Dyer added that the amphitheater's kitchen contains two such devices in addition to regular institutional storage refrigerators and dry storage areas.

He said the refrigerator-ovens make it possible for a kitchen no larger than three home size ones to serve a sit-down banquet of several thousand persons or provide a continuous flow of hot meals for conventions like the coming one, for which there's no predictable eating pattern, and where beef stew served family style from a large casserole, or chicken aloha, baked with pineapple rings. With the 2,200 delegates. But he wasn't worried that any one would go hungry.

He said that pre-prepared main dishes are customary for this type of food service because a steady flow can be maintained from the company's own main commissary in the Chicago area and supplemented with items bought regularly from other firms.

Special Requests
As with all conventions and trade shows, Dyer said his company also will provide special food service on a request basis for amphitheater tenants, such as the wire services, networks, syndicates and other groups connected with the convention.

Less than a month before it opened, Dyer said he couldn't make even an educated guess about the total number of persons to be fed in addition to the 2,200 delegates. But he wasn't worried that any one would go hungry.

One-man Campaign to Spread Factual Story of Negroes' Contributions

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—Henry E. Dabbs is one-man campaign to spread the factual story of the Negro contributions to civilization. He's doing it through a new audio and visual tool he's created for the classroom and he finds it going into classrooms that are integrated, or are all black, or all white.

"Matter of fact," said the 32-year-old Dabbs, "it's proving as popular with the whites as the black. I wrote it for all races." Dabbs is a Negro whose regular job is art director-producer, working in television primarily, at the big advertising agency of Dancer-Fitzgerald-Sample. But on his own time, he's been researching the Negro's history since he was in grade school in his native Peekskill, N.Y.

"I'm an avid reader," he said in an interview in his office. "and even in grade school and junior high I noticed that a lot was written about the black slave but not of the Negro's contributions. Ralph Bunche, for instance, didn't spring out of the blue."

His research continued through his school, and through Pratt Institute in New York from which he got a bachelor of fine arts degree.

But the fascination with his own race's leadership never dimmed and the result today is his "Afro-American History Fact-pack," which includes text-book, colored slides, film strip, flash cards and recording. Dabbs is his own producer and publisher because "I want to tell it like it is...not have some editor water it down."

Now, the kit will be the basis also for a television special he's working on for his agency, which he said gave him full backing on the whole project.

"How many people know that the earliest of the human species recorded was a Negro,"

said Dabbs, "an 18-year-old boy found in east Africa, whom anthropologists date to a million and one-half years ago. The noted British anthropologist, Dr. L.S.B. Leakey found the remains in 1964."

Dabbs traces the Negro through the ancient Egyptian civilizations, through Africa, and on up to today and black pride. He explores all facets of slavery—"not just slavery of the Negro in America," he said, "but all mankind. Slavery has been with us since civilization. I want the black man to know he has nothing to be ashamed of because of his slave heritage."

"But I'm not out to prove anything," he continued. "I just want the facts put down. I've stressed the role of the Negro in medicine, in law, the sciences, literature, government...things like that. I haven't touched on musicians; everyone knows those names."

"I didn't get into athletics either because that's like in music," he continued, "except for Jesse Owens and Joe Louis. Jesse, because Hitler made such a thing about a Negro being in the Olympics...Louis, because one time he was the only person we had to look up to."

The kit is designed for use from the sixth grade through the first two years of college. Dabbs has strong opinions on the Negro revolution today. He doesn't deprecate the militants—"some people are effective yelling and screaming."

"I prefer to operate on the intellectual level," he says. He believes the Negro is headed in a new direction, not demanding integration "so he can adopt the white man's mores, but seeking self-determination. We have to lift ourselves...get ourselves into the economic main stream."

"Of course we need help from the whites. If the power structure—government and big business—really got into the problem totally, it would soon be ended. I believe the mass of the people is ready to be persuaded."

Newburgh Wins in 8th, 4-3

Braves Blow Chance to Wrap Up Second Round Title

With a chance to nail down the second-half pennant, the Kingston Braves blew a 4-3, extra-inning decision to the Newburgh Atoms under painful circumstances last night at Dietz Stadium.

They are now faced with the necessity of beating the Newburgh Nuclears in both ends of a two-nighter Friday night, if they wish to sweep both halves of the Hudson Valley Rookie League pennant race.

Two successive walks by relief pitcher Charlie Jones decided the eight-inning contest.

Jones, who had relieved starter Frank McGowan in the seventh, immediately dug a deep hole for himself very quickly in the extra inning.

With one out he walked Belcher, fanned opposing pitcher Pat Myers for the second out, then plunked Rod Aurigemma with a pitch. A walk to Trapani loaded the bases and another to Arrotta forced in the winning run.

Need Sweep Friday
A double sweep Friday night would give the Braves the second half flag outright and tie them with the Newburgh Atoms in the first round. A playoff would be held Sunday.

The significance of the Atoms' clutch victory last night could not be minimized. Errors and judicious base running by the Braves helped them immensely.

The win that would have wrapped it up never materialized for the Fred Davidson-owned Braves, who now realize they'll have to play for keeps Friday night.

throwing error in the third enabled Canosa to score and send Newburgh ahead, 2-0. A lively rhubarb involving Manager Dom Peruzzo and the umpires enlivened the scoring play.

Give One Back
The Atoms gave one back in the Kingston third when Lou Perry batted one of the Braves' three triples and came home on an error. The 2-2 tying run in the fourth was legitimate—a Glen Davis single and Charlie Moore triple.

Back to back singles by Ron Valle and Perry set up Kingston's third run in the fifth for a 3-2 lead. Valle scored as the catcher threw wildly to second trying to nail Perry on a steal.

The Braves were lucky to escape with only one Atom run in the top of the seventh. Following a walk to Aurigemma, Arrotta and Hasbrouck singled to load the bases. Jones relieved McGowan at this point. Canosa singled to center, scoring Aurigemma, but Arrotta was out at the plate on a perfect peg from Jerry Hawkins to Davis.

Myers Breezes

to right; Mike Patruck on a grounder to short and Schabot on a fly to right.

Newburgh Atoms	9	3	0
Kingston Braves	8	3	1

Second Half

Kingston Braves	9	2	1
Newburgh Atoms	8	3	1

The score:

Newburgh Atoms (4) Kingston Braves (3)		RBI—Moore, Jones, Arrotta, Canosa, Aurigemma, 3B—Perry, P. Valle, Trapani, cf 3-10 Valle, cf 4-11
Trapani, cf	3-10 Valle, cf	4-11

Can Carew or Oliva Out-Flick Old Elmer?

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer

Rod Carew is winning his match race with Elmer Flick. . . and Tony Oliva aims to make it a Twin Double.

Carew, the American League's leading hitter, cracked a double and two singles, raising his average five points to .309, as Minnesota clubbed Washington 8-4 Tuesday night.

Oliva, the Twins' two-time batting champion, also drilled three hits to hold the No. 2 spot behind Carew and climb within two points of the elusive .300 mark.

Flick, an old-time Cleveland outfielder, won the 1905 batting title with a .306 mark. . . the lowest ever for a league leader.

A month ago, it appeared the 1968 AL king would have the dubious distinction of lowering Flick's standard.

But Carew has launched a torrid August spree and Oliva, back in the lineup after recovering from a leg injury, is starting to match his teammate stride for stride.

In other American League games, Cleveland nipped first place Detroit 1-0 on Sonny Siebert's three-hitter; second place Baltimore shaded Oakland 6-5; Boston nudged Chicago 4-3 and New York trimmed California 3-2.

Oliva's three singles, good for three RBIs, helped the Twins stake rookie Tom Hall to an 8-2 early lead and the 20-year-old left-hander posted his first major league victory with late relief help from Al Worthington.

Carew extended his hitting streak to 12 games with a pair of scratch singles and a two-run double. The Twins' second baseman has been swinging at a .442 clip, with 23-for-32, since taking off on July 31. The streak has boosted his average 26 points from .283.

Oliva, sidelined for 10 games with a pulled hamstring in his left leg, got back in the lineup on Aug. 4 and has gone 12-for-32 since then for a nine-point pickup.

Siebert struck out eight and stranded two Detroit runners on third in halting the Tigers' four-game winning streak. Larry Brown's bases-loaded single in the second inning delivered the only run in the game.

The Cleveland right-hander weathered a one-out triple by Mickey Stanley in the first inning, but did not allow another hit until Norm Cash singled in the seventh and left Al Kaline on third in the eighth after he had singled and moved around on a pair of outs.

Don Buford, whose two-run single in the fourth broke a 3-3 tie, accounted for the Orioles' 2-0 victory.

The victory snapped a three game losing streak and lifted the Mets over the Dodgers into eighth place. It also ended a long period of frustration for Cardwell (6-10), who last beat the Dodgers in 1966 while with the Pittsburgh Pirates and has lost more games against them (24) than any active pitcher.

Cardwell pitched three hit ball through eight innings and was replaced by Short after yielding leadoff singles in the ninth to Dan Gabrielson and Willie Davis. Short got Tom Haller to bunt into a force play and Koonce came on to strike out pinch hitter Ken Boyer and retire Bob Bailey on a grounder.

Richmond's Cellar Nine Surprises No. 1 Toledo

By United Press International

Although Richmond is firmly entrenched in the International League cellar, the Braves were good enough to beat the league's No. 1 team and No. 1 pitcher Tuesday night as they nipped the Toledo Mud Hens 2-1.

Dick Saugat's seventh-inning homer snapped a 1-1 tie and gave Julio Navarro, 2-6, his first decision since July 13. The loss went to Jack DiLauro dropping his record to 11-3. The league-leading Mud Hens still hold a commanding six-and-a-half game lead over second place Columbus.

In other action, Columbus downed Rochester 6-1, Jacksonville buried Buffalo 14-1 and Syracuse beat Louisville 7-4. Columbus' Frank Shellenback Allowed just three hits and boosted his record to 6-6 as the Jets moved a game ahead of the Red Wings in the fight for second place. It was Shellenback's third victory in a row after a disastrous start in June. He dropped his first five decisions, four of them in four days.

Tug McGraw scattered seven hits and hit a two-run homer in the Jacksonville's "laughter" against Buffalo. Kenny Singleton and Duffy Dyer also homered to highlight the 19-hit attack as McGraw snapped a personal five game losing streak.

Bill Melton's two-run double sparked a three-run first inning and Bill Burbach hurled his second complete game victory, both of them coming at the expense of the Colonels, to lift the Chiefs over Louisville.

Don Cardwell Blanks Dodgers

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bud Harrelson scored both runs and Don Cardwell, with ninth inning relief help from Billy Short and Cal Koonce, beat the Los Angeles Dodgers for the first time in two years Tuesday night as the New York Mets posted a 2-0 victory.

The victory snapped a three game losing streak and lifted the Mets over the Dodgers into eighth place. It also ended a long period of frustration for Cardwell (6-10), who last beat the Dodgers in 1966 while with the Pittsburgh Pirates and has lost more games against them (24) than any active pitcher.

Cardwell pitched three hit ball through eight innings and was replaced by Short after yielding leadoff singles in the ninth to Dan Gabrielson and Willie Davis. "21" Is Magic Number For Mays and Marichal

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer

Twenty one is the magic number for Willie Mays and Juan Marichal. Mays needs them and Marichal has them.

Marichal won his 21st game of the season Tuesday night, and San Francisco blanked Pittsburgh 3-0 on Mays' 579th career homer. The eighth inning shot left Willie just 21 short of the coveted 600 mark.

The homer was only the second in a month for Mays and his 15th this season. His last one was on Aug. 2, also against the Pirates.

Marichal pitched a two-hitter and now is 14-1 on the road and only 7-4 at home this season. The shutout was the 37th of his career, placing him second on the all-time Giant list, one ahead of Carl Hubbell. Christy Mathewson holds the club record with 83.

Elsewhere in the National League, Chicago's rampaging Cubs walloped St. Louis 10-3. New York used three pitchers to shut out Los Angeles 2-0, Cincinnati outslugged Atlanta 9-8 and Houston split a two-night doubleheader with Philadelphia, winning 5-0 and then losing 4-2.

Marichal was locked in a scoreless pitching duel with Pittsburgh's Bob Veale until the eighth. Then Hal Lanier walked and Ron Hunt was hit by a pitch, setting the stage for Mays.

The only Pirate hits against Marichal, 21-5, were a leadoff single by Maury Wills in the first and a one-out single by Donn Clendenon in the second. Two walks helped Pittsburgh load the bases with two out in the second but Marichal struck out Bob Veale, ending the threat.

The Cubs, valiantly trying to create a pennant race in the NL, beat St. Louis for the seventh straight time with Ron Santo driving in four runs on a double and a homer.

Santo's 17th homer of the year snapped a 3-3 tie in the seventh and Chicago wrapped it up with a five-run eighth inning. Ferguson Jenkins won his 13th game and struck out 12, increasing his league-leading total to 180.

Leo Cardenas' ninth inning homer tied the game for Cincinnati and the Reds beat the Braves in the 10th on Mack Jones' double and a run-scoring single by Tony Perez.

The Reds tagged 19 hits—four of them by Pete Rose—and the Braves had 16 safeties. Fred Whitfield drove in three runs with a single and his first homer of the year for Cincinnati while three-run wrapup rally in the sixth inning for the Astros.

Rich Allen's two-run homer in the second inning of the nightcap halted a 30-inning Philadelphia scoring drought and the two-run homer, helping Houston Phillies gained the split when to its first game victory over Gary Sutherland's pinch single Philadelphia. Denis Menke's drove in the tie-breaking run in bases-loaded single keyed a two-run seventh inning rally.

Weekly Classic Win For Wiltwyck Team

Led by Joe Bostic's 37-34-71, Wiltwyck Country Club Juniors scored their weekly victory in the Mid-Hudson Junior Golf Classic at Columbia Country Club.

The locals' team aggregate of 292 for four players was 25 strokes lower than the runner-up Woodstock squad which made its best showing of the season.

Host Columbia trailed Woodstock's 317, with 345. Other scores: Winding Brook, 346; Catskill, 347; Twaalfskill, 353; Red Hook, 374. The aggregates to date are: Wiltwyck, 1539; Woodstock, 1699; Columbia, 1863; Winding Brook, 1713; Red Hook, 1906.

Other low gross scores were: Bob Byman, Wiltwyck, 37-35-72; Phil Fitzpatrick, Catskill, 40-33-73; John Senter, Twaalfskill, 38-36-74.

John Buoymaster of Woodstock led the net division with 77-7-70. Tim Barcone, Woodstock, had 81-11-70; Tom Backus, Columbia, 75-4-71; Jim Pickler, Winding Brook, 80-9-71.

Woodstock (317) — Scotty Wiltwyck (293) — Bostic 71, Bob Byman 72, Werner Kohn, 39-35-74; Ed Byman, 39-37-76.

Little League May Lose Williamsport Stadium

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (UPI)—a non-profit concern and tax-exempt Little League Baseball, Inc., exempt. He said both Congress threatened Tuesday withgresses had confirmed the sale of its new $300,000 tax-exempt status.

The spokesman said Little League officials were reluctant to pay the property taxes because they did not want to set a precedent which would affect all 7,200 Little League clubs, many of which own property.

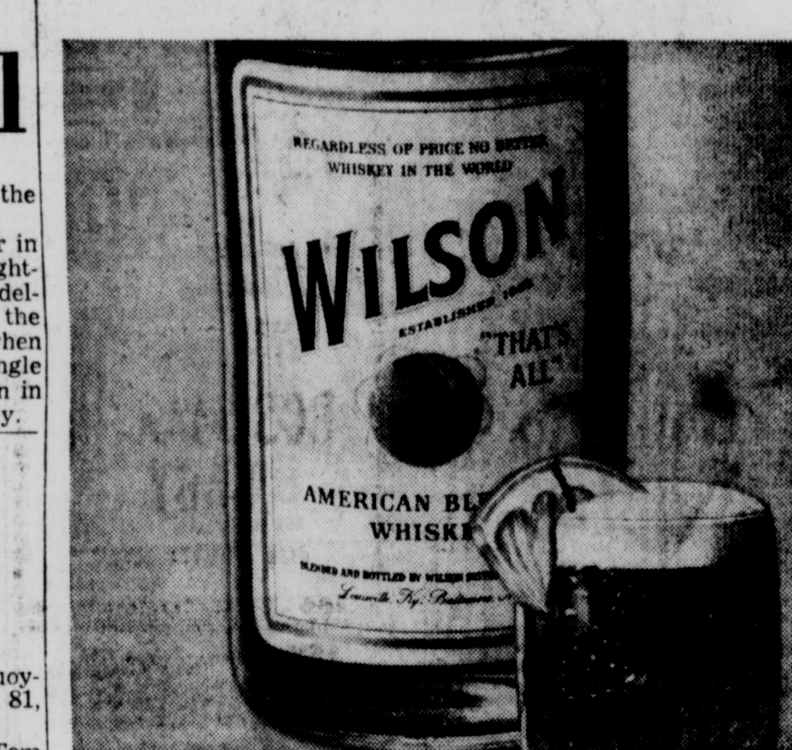

Officials of South William sport Borough, its school district and Armstrong Twp., all 7,200 Little League clubs, said they would advertise the property Thursday for a sheriff's sale if the taxes, owed for 1966, were not paid.

A spokesman for the Little League, which has its headquarters here, said the sale could not take place until Sept. 13. He said the board of directors would meet Aug. 24 to decide what action to take.

Attempts to collect the taxes last year were stopped by an injunction issued by Locomotion County Court, prohibiting sale of the Little League property. The Little League President, Peter J. McGovern of Williamsport, said the corporation was

Golfers Break With PGA to Form Own Tour

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The multi-million-dollar structure of big time tournament golf trembled today under the impact of a player revolt that left sponsors, television officials and the pros themselves in a state of chaos and confusion.

"I think we had to take the action, but I'm a little scared," said Masters champion Bob Goalby, expressing the sentiments of a large number of the affluent golfing gypsies.

"I signed with the players, but I haven't been in on any of the ground work," said Arnold Palmer, the game's richest and perhaps most popular competitor. "I think this action may result in more negotiation. It would be better if the PGA and players could work together."

"I've received calls from all over the country in the past few weeks from sponsors who are fed up to here," said Angus M. Mairs of Minneapolis, president of the International Golf Sponsors Association, representing 33 of the 43 men who put up the $5.6 million to conduct the rich pro tour.

Will Join Players

Mairs and other sponsors indicated they probably would line up with the players in the dispute with the ruling Professional Golfers Association. A meeting of sponsors has been called for Houston Sept. 5-6.

Bringing a long-simmering feud to a sudden and dramatic head, the players announced in New York Tuesday that they were breaking with the PGA and preparing to set up a tour of their own.

Through their attorney, Sam Gates of New York, they said they planned no immediate boycott but would honor all existing contracts, which include all 1968 tournaments and at least a couple in 1969—the Bob Hope Classic at Palm Desert, Calif., and the Doral at Miami.

Westchester Thursday

The $250,000 Westchester Classic Opens at Rye, N.Y., Thursday.

But a number of questions remain unanswered:

What about the new, two-year contract signed recently by the PGA with the American Broadcasting Company, giving ABC the right to televise virtually every big tournament except the Masters?

"The PGA had to promise the network a representative field," a spokesman close to the TV negotiations said. "It's unreasonable to believe the PGA could hold the ABC to the contract if it couldn't produce the top players."

What is going to be the reaction of the club pros, who make up the bulk of the PGA membership with a total of 5,800 compared with 280 touring pros?

"I think most of the club pros will back us up when they hear the real story," said touring pro Dick Sikes.

"The club pros may overrule their own officers," added Goalby.

The PGA has called a meeting of the Executive Committee Friday at the national headquarters in Palm Beach Gardens, Fla., to discuss future plans.

"We are 52 years old and we built and nurtured the tour from nothing," said Leo Fraser of Atlantic City, N.J., the PGA secretary who is slated to succeed Max Elbin of Washington, D.C., as president.

"You may rest assured—we will always have a tour."

This statement gave rise to speculation that there may be two rival tours—one with the current star players under a new organization, the other a PGA circuit with newcomers.

"The guys in the saddle now can't last forever," said one PGA official.

Sponsors Waiting

Most of the sponsors adopted a wait-and-see attitude. Many of them said they felt they may get an ultimate break from the split.

The first reaction of players assembling here for the rich Westchester Classic was one of regret but determination.

"I'm with the players," said Mason Rudolph. "I'm not crestfallen but I'm not jumping for joy," said Frank Beard, a member of the Players Tournament Committee. I hope it was an amicable break and we can continue to be members of the PGA."

A number of other players said the announcement came as a surprise but they vowed to stick to their guns.

"I only hope the public doesn't look upon us as a bunch of spoiled brats," said Bob Goalby.

Gates, in making the announcement, said more than 100 players at a meeting last week in Akron, Ohio, had voted unanimously to break away from the PGA if the PGA did not accede to the players' request for more control of their tour.

Threatened Year Ago

The players threatened to boycott the PGA Championship a year ago unless permitted to form their own self-running organization as a separate section of the PGA. The demand was refused but a temporary peace was reached with agreement that a three-man arbitration board be named to settle all deadlocks.

The plan didn't work and the Tournament Committee, composed of the four top officials of the PGA and four tournament players (Beard, Jack Nicklaus, Doug Ford and Chairman Gardner Dickinson), continued to hassle. The players demanded almost complete control.

The issues were placed in the hands of attorneys. Gates for the players and William Rogers for the PGA, who apparently reached a settlement only to have the PGA reject it.

Gates accused the PGA brass of undermining its attorney. Elbin and Fraser insisted they had no right to "give away the tour." They outlined an eight-point plan of concessions which the players rejected.

Many observers—including a large portion of the players—believe the players' action will force the PGA membership at its November meeting to overrule the officers and give in to the touring pros. Elbin's answer to that is "Never."

Slate Workshop For KBA Loops

Kingston Bowling Association has slated a workshop for all league officers Monday, Aug. 19, at 7:30 p. m. at the YMCA.

KBA secretary Joseph Mannello said the meeting is important to all league presidents and secretaries, in view of the newly-adopted, non-sanction rule of the American Bowling Congress.

Mannello also plans to distribute league administration kits to secretaries for the 1968-69 season.

Smith and Little Survive Scare

The No. 1 seeded doubles team of Dick Smith and Dick Little had their hands full in the Ulster County Tennis Tournament Tuesday.

They finally overcame the stubborn opposition of Mike Tingley, Saugerties, and Jules Viglielmo of Woodstock, 7-5, 6-3, to gain the semi-final bracket.

Dave Roberts polished off Frank Kruzenski, 6-2, 6-3 in men's singles.

In women's singles, Kay Spangenberg of Woodstock routed Kathy Kelly, 6-0, 6-0; Kitty Fowler, the No. 1 seed, eliminated Nancy Alexander of Kingston, 6-1, 6-1; and Mary Fowler, Kingston, No. 3 seed, topped Joan Murphy, 6-0, 6-4.

In women's doubles, Daisy Beal (Hurler) and Kay Spangenberg (Woodstock) defeated Jean Loneragan (Kingston) and Sandra Ihly (Woodstock), 6-2, 6-0; Joan Murphy and Paula Hutton (Kingston) won over Scrapy Hutton-Betty Shults, Kingston, 6-1, 6-1; and Davey Nelson and Tish Myersberger, Woodstock; Mary and Nick Fowler, Kingston vs. Jean and Bob Loneragan, Kingston.

The mixed doubles competition starts today with the following matchups:

Judy-Hank Sykes, Saugerties, vs. Ruth-Sol Golden, Ellenville; Marshall Lipton-Kathy Kelly, Kingston vs. Bill Zeeh-Kelly, Kingston vs. Bill Zeeh-Kelly, Kingston vs. Bill Zeeh-Kelly, Kingston.

Other seeded teams: (2) Dick Smith-B. Badalato; (3) Dr. Milton Grover-Margaret Grover; (4) Dick Little-Tish Meyers.

Lions Rout Legion, 10-3

Hurley Lions routed the American Legion, 10-3, behind the 3-hit, 11-strikeout pitching of Don Fisher last night.

Fisher lost his shutout in the fifth inning. By that time, Hurley was ahead, 6-3.

Bob Stenson led Hurley's 13-hit attack on Nick Scott and Glen Stoutenburgh with "4 for 4", a double, three singles and two RBIs. Dan Brown and Fisher knocked in three runs each.

Mrs. Treat's Foursome Second in Four-Ball

A team from the Ballston Spa Country Club fired a best-ball 59 Tuesday to win first place in the Northeastern Women's Golf Association annual Four-Ball Tourney at Schuylers Meadows.

The team of Mrs. Albert Mottau, Mrs. Bailey Tiel, Mrs. Duane Fuller and Mrs. Richard Stokes finished one stroke in front of four Mohawk representatives.

Mrs. Richard L. Treat of Sawyerkill Country Club, Saugerties, was a member of the quartet that trailed the leaders by one shot.

Yesterday's Stars

PITCHING — Juan Marichal, Giants, hurled a two-hitter for his 21st victory of the season and 37th career shutout as San Francisco trimmed Pittsburgh 3-0.

BATTING — Willie Mays, Giants, slammed his 59th lifetime homer, a three-run eighth inning blast that beat the Pirates.

To the faithful group of real sportsmen who are opposed to party permit hunting, pull up a chair and cry in your beer, because the Conservation Department has announced that 81,250 permits are up for grabs this year compared to 55,175 last season.

Three more areas have been designated this year, bringing the total to 18 specified areas where an additional deer of either sex may be taken.

A total of 2,250 permits will be available for portions of Sullivan, Ulster, Delaware, Schoharie and Greene Counties which is designated as Area-T. It may be said that all of Sullivan County will be open. Only a portion of Ulster County will be open and those who obtain permits will be given maps and road boundaries.

Each prospective party member must obtain his 1968 big game license before the party applies for a permit. Each party member must enclose the "Party Permit Stub" from the back tag portion of his license with the application when it is mailed in for selection. The party must indicate its choice of area on the application and there are no alternate choices.

Party leaders will be selected about Sept. 20 and will receive additional information at that time concerning the method of paying the party permit fee and validating the application.

In Area T, which includes Ulster, 1,125 three-member regular parties and 1,125 two-member landowner parties will be available. For those who need more information and applications, we suggest you stop at Spada's Sport Shop and pick them up. (P.S.—While you're at it, better pick up a bullet-proof vest and see if you have any trees to hide behind.)

Reports just in from Dick Riseley's son, Buckshot, on his record fishing sojourn indicate a fine catch of brookies from remote Adirondack ponds. He and Robert Rider and future brother-in-law Bill Thielking of Amsterdam flew in with Herb Helm to Sampson Lake from where they hiked to "parts unknown," fishermen's terminology meaning "you try and find it."

The National Trappers Association's annual convention will be held at Beck's Grove in Rome, N. Y. Friday, Saturday and Sunday. The affair is open to the public and the program includes movies, fur displays and the opportunity to meet some of the top trappers from more than 25 states and Canada.

I made a boo-boo department: That meeting of Trout Unlimited with Henry Bernstein as guest speaker is Thursday night and not last week as we announced. So, we sat in Britt's Plaza for an hour waiting for the doors to open. See you this Thursday.

A FEW SHORT TAKES:

Mr. and Mrs. Don Warren of Shokan and Wesley Drake of the Catskill Chapter of Trout Unlimited plan to attend the Eastern Regional Conference this weekend at Williamsport, Pa. Curt Gowdy, the TV outdoor program personality, will emcee the Friday, Aug. 16, luncheon at the Lycoming Hotel. The theme of this year's conference will be "Professional Trout Management."

It is hoped that with cooler evenings on the way, the bass in the Ashokan will come out of hiding and give the faithful some action. To date, bass fishing has been spotty, although some fair creels have been taken from the Wallkill.

Bud Potter and Nick Nekos like the fishing so good at Ausable they are planning another fisherman's holiday. Apparently, they have a real hot spot, with a fish on every cast, so they say, and even the pressure of a local radio commentator has failed to identify their hideaway. We'd still like to see another mount at Nick's coffee house on Wall Street next to that prize bass.

OLD RIP SEZ: 132 days till Christmas. Better start slipping the missus an extra buck now and then, if you want some sporting gear under the tree on the big day.

Stokes Benefit To East, 84-83

MONTICELLO, N.Y. (UPI)—Johnny Green of the Philadelphia 76ers scored six points in the final three minutes of play Tuesday night to lead the West to a hard fought 84-83 victory over the East in the 10th annual Maurice Stokes benefit basketball game.

Green, voted the game's Most Valuable Player, topped all scorers with 16 points. High man for the East was Willis Reed of the New York Knicks, who scored 13 followed by Knick teammate Howard Komives with 11.

A total of 3,100 fans witnessed a scrimmage between both teams during the afternoon and the game at night to raise $15,725 for the Stokes fund. A total of $66,000 has been raised since the game was begun in 1959.

Stokes, who played for the Cincinnati Royals of the National Basketball Association, suffered a form of brain damage following a playoff game in March, 1958.

Helsmoortel's In Easy Victory

In a game of big rallies, Helsmoortel's Insurance routed Greenfinger-Agway, 13-8, in the Met Division of the Saugerties Softball League.

Shoddy fielding padded the scoring. Sam Tesoriero, the winning pitcher, gave up only three hits. Mike Sommers and Jed Bond clouted a double and two singles each for the winners.

Boy's Tavern (12-4) takes on A. J. Scarselli (6-7) in today's game at 6:30 p. m.

MONTICELLO — Al Burton, conceded to be a true master when it comes to handling trotters, showed off the stuff that built the legend, guiding Mar Con Tenor to a 2-07 victory in last night's feature trot at Monticello Race

To the faithful group of real sportsmen who are opposed to party permit hunting, pull up a chair and cry in your beer, because the Conservation Department has announced that 81,250 permits are up for grabs this year compared to 55,175 last season.

Three more areas have been designated this year, bringing the total to 18 specified areas where an additional deer of either sex may be taken.

A total of 2,250 permits will be available for portions of Sullivan, Ulster, Delaware, Schoharie and Greene Counties which is designated as Area-T. It may be said that all of Sullivan County will be open. Only a portion of Ulster County will be open and those who obtain permits will be given maps and road boundaries.

Each prospective party member must obtain his 1968 big game license before the party applies for a permit. Each party member must enclose the "Party Permit Stub" from the back tag portion of his license with the application when it is mailed in for selection. The party must indicate its choice of area on the application and there are no alternate choices.

Party leaders will be selected about Sept. 20 and will receive additional information at that time concerning the method of paying the party permit fee and validating the application.

In Area T, which includes Ulster, 1,125 three-member regular parties and 1,125 two-member landowner parties will be available. For those who need more information and applications, we suggest you stop at Spada's Sport Shop and pick them up. (P.S.—While you're at it, better pick up a bullet-proof vest and see if you have any trees to hide behind.)

Reports just in from Dick Riseley's son, Buckshot, on his record fishing sojourn indicate a fine catch of brookies from remote Adirondack ponds. He and Robert Rider and future brother-in-law Bill Thielking of Amsterdam flew in with Herb Helm to Sampson Lake from where they hiked to "parts unknown," fishermen's terminology meaning "you try and find it."

The National Trappers Association's annual convention will be held at Beck's Grove in Rome, N. Y. Friday, Saturday and Sunday. The affair is open to the public and the program includes movies, fur displays and the opportunity to meet some of the top trappers from more than 25 states and Canada.

I made a boo-boo department: That meeting of Trout Unlimited with Henry Bernstein as guest speaker is Thursday night and not last week as we announced. So, we sat in Britt's Plaza for an hour waiting for the doors to open. See you this Thursday.

A FEW SHORT TAKES:

Mr. and Mrs. Don Warren of Shokan and Wesley Drake of the Catskill Chapter of Trout Unlimited plan to attend the Eastern Regional Conference this weekend at Williamsport, Pa. Curt Gowdy, the TV outdoor program personality, will emcee the Friday, Aug. 16, luncheon at the Lyncoming Hotel. The theme of this year's conference will be "Professional Trout Management."

It is hoped that with cooler evenings on the way, the bass in the Ashokan will come out of hiding and give the faithful some action. To date, bass fishing has been spotty, although some fair creels have been taken from the Wallkill.

Bud Potter and Nick Nekos like the fishing so good at Ausable they are planning another fisherman's holiday. Apparently, they have a real hot spot, with a fish on every cast, so they say, and even the pressure of a local radio commentator has failed to identify their hideaway. We'd still like to see another mount at Nick's coffee house on Wall Street next to that prize bass.

OLD RIP SEIZ: 132 days till Christmas. Better start slipping the missus an extra buck now and then, if you want some sporting gear under the tree on the big day.

Greek Police Seize 12 In Plot to Kill Premier

ATHENS (UPI)—Greek security police announced today the seizure of 12 persons in the attempted assassination of Premier George Papadopoulos. The major suspect is a former army commando officer.

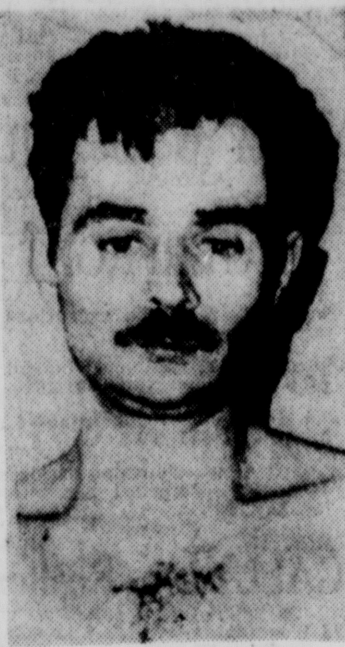

The suspect, former Lt. George Panagoulis, 30, is "a Fascist working for Fascist circles," said government spokesman Vyron Stamatoopoulos.

Stamatoopoulos identified only one of the 11 others arrested—journalist George Drosos. He was detained for 15 days earlier this year for alleged anti-regime leanings.

The spokesmen said the investigation was continuing "without difficulty." Investigators, he said, are challenging detained former Constantine politicians for their views on the assassination attempt.

Informed sources said Panagoulis left the Greek army in mid 1967 after the current military regime ousted Constantine, seized power and began

purging the army of "unreliable officers."

It was reported, but not confirmed, that he had been trained in the United States in underwater demolition and escape and survival.

After his exit from the army, he turned up in Israel, where officials said they put him on a

Panagoulis was arrested Tuesday fleeing down a rocky slope toward the sea moments after a bomb exploded behind an automobile carrying Papadopoulos from his summer home to his office on the Souion-Athens highway.

The government spokesman said the suspect had a boat waiting for him at the base of the rocky slope, just below the highway. The boatman also was arrested, informed sources said.

Charged With Taking $75,000

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Police said Tuesday that the former comptroller and bookkeeper of a local advertising agency was arrested Tuesday and charged with embezzling $75,000 of the agency's funds.

James L. Barry, 44, of suburban Irondequoit, was arraigned in city court on a charge of embezzlement by larceny and freed on $2,500 bond, they said.

Barry, who worked for the Storm Advertising Co. until he was dismissed last winter, used his position to write checks on company funds and deposit them in a bank account which bore the name of a St. Louis, Mo., printing firm which had no relation to the advertising agency, police said.

A spokesman for the agency said Barry was not dismissed because of the missing funds. The loss was not discovered until a recent audit of the company's books, the spokesman said.

The agency is at 971 Midtown Tower. Barry lives at 273 Miller Lane.

Ted Vacationing

PAXOI, Greece (UPI)—Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., arrived on this pine tree-covered island resort today, spent a few hours sightseeing, then resumed his vacation on the island of Scorpis.

Kennedy and his sister-in-law Mrs. John F. Kennedy, widow of the late U.S. President, have been guests of shipping magnate Aristotle Onassis. Onassis owns Scorpis.

RESCUED — Rescuers pull Daniel Burney, 17, from a cave in Arlington, Va., Monday, above the Potomac River. Burney and two other boys told police they had been trapped in the cave for four days. Two of them managed to escape and summon help. Burney and a second youth were hospitalized. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Stewart Field Reservists Go to Court

NEW YORK (AP) — A group of Air Force reservists sought in U.S. District Court Tuesday to enjoin the Air Force from reassigning them individually and breaking up their unit.

The group, activated last Jan. 24 shortly after the capture of the U.S. intelligence vessel Pueblo by North Korea, is stationed at Stewart Air Force Base, near Newburgh, N.Y., with the 904th Military Airlift Group.

The reservists sought writs of habeas corpus claiming that individual reassignment was a violation of their six-year enlistment contracts. Judge Charles Tenney of the U.S. District Court reserved decision without comment.

In presenting the case for the reservists, attorney Leonard Boudin attacked the Air Force directive requiring 24 months of service from the date of activation. He said they should be given credit for prior service.

He contended, moreover, that unit integrity—keeping the group intact—had been a "hallmark of recruiting" and that the Air Force had no right to fragment the group.

Greek Police Seize 12 In Plot to Kill Premier

ATHENS (UPI)—Greek security police announced today the seizure of 12 persons in the attempted assassination of Premier George Papadopoulos. The major suspect is a former army commando officer.

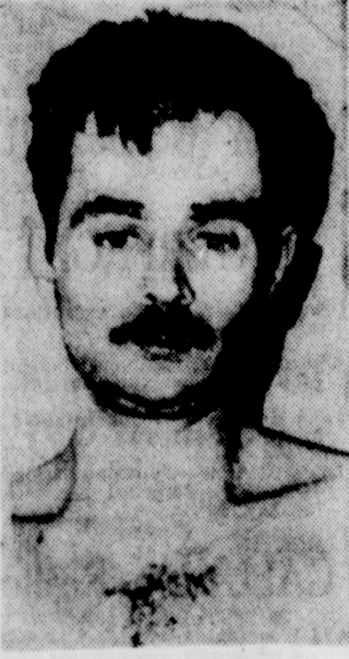

The suspect, former Lt. George Panagoulis, 30, is "a Fascist working for Fascist circles," said government spokesman Vyron Stamatopoulos.

The "Fascist" label has been saved for army officers who supported King Constantine's abortive coup Dec. 13, 1967, against the military men who overthrew him.

Stamatopoulos identified only one of the 11 others arrested—journalist George Drosos. He was detained for 15 days earlier this year for alleged antiregime leanings.

Informal sources said Panagoulis left the Greek army in mid 1967 after the current military regime ousted Constantine, seized power and began

purging the army of "unreliable officers."

It was reported, but not confirmed, that he had been trained in the United States in underwater demolition and escape and survival.

After his exit from the army, he turned up in Israel, where officials said they put him on a ship bound for Greece. But then he dropped out of sight, sources said.

Panagoulis was arrested Tuesday fleeing down a rocky slope toward the sea moments after a bomb exploded behind an automobile carrying Papadopoulos from his summer home to his office on the Soufli-Athens highway.

The government spokesman said the suspect had a boat waiting for him at the base of the rocky slope, just below the highway. The boatman also was arrested, informed sources said.

The agency is at 971 Midtown Tower.

Barry lives at 273 Miller Lane.

Barry, who worked for the Storm Advertising Co. until he was dismissed last winter, used his position to write checks on company funds and deposit them in a bank account which bore the name of a St. Louis, Mo., printing firm which had no relation to the advertising agency, police said.

They alleged he transferred the money from that account to his own.

Charged With Taking $75,000

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Police said Tuesday that the former comptroller and bookkeeper of a local advertising agency was arrested Tuesday and charged with embezzling $75,000 of the agency's funds.

James L. Barry, 44, of suburban Irondequoit, was arraigned in city court on a charge of embezzlement by larceny and freed on $2,500 bond, they said.

Barry, who worked for the Storm Advertising Co. until he was dismissed last winter, used his position to write checks on company funds and deposit them in a bank account which bore the name of a St. Louis, Mo., printing firm which had no relation to the advertising agency, police said.

They alleged he transferred the money from that account to his own.

Volunteer Work or Chores?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a mother who will not let her 16-year-old daughter do volunteer work in a local hospital, because she figures if the girl wants to work for nothing, there is plenty of work for her to do around the house? Abby, that mother is mine, and I don't think she has the right to tell me whether or not I can work for nothing.

I want to do something worthwhile with my time, and I know I would like hospital work. Besides, hospitals NEED volunteer help. It's not like I don't do anything around the house, either. I do, but I think I should be able to do what I want to do in my spare time, don't you? Please put your answer in the paper so my mother can see it.

WANTS TO WORK
DEAR ABBY: I agree that young people who want to do volunteer work should not be discouraged. But I think your problem is that you and your mother need a clearer understanding as to what your home duties are and how much "spare" time you have. Once that is cleared up, I think you should be allowed to do as much volunteer work as you wish.

DEAR ABBY: Please print this for the benefit of the 16-year-old girl who inquired about the advisability of opening a joint bank account with her "fiancee."

A few years ago I was planning marriage with a "very sweet girl." To insure our future financial security, we opened a joint savings account, to which we both made regular deposits from our respective paychecks.

I was called into service, and during my absence my "sweet girl" drew all the money out of our account in order to marry another guy.

When a person is in love, he can't believe it could happen to HIM, but since it happened to ME, I hope you will advise all young lovers to save the "joint" business until they are joined together legally in marriage.

BEEN THERE

DEAR ABBY: I am only 13 but I would like to express my feelings in regard to the widow who was mad because she got a bill for her husband's operation after he had died on the operating table.

My father is a surgeon, and sometimes he stands under those hot lights and sweats for anywhere from 3 to 12 hours at a time and if she doesn't think that's hard work she is out of her ever lovin' mind. There have been days when my father has had one emergency after another and he didn't get more than 3 hours sleep in 2 days. I am not even mentioning the strain on him when he knows he has a person's life in his hands.

My advice to that woman is to pay the bill and shut up her big mouth. I am sure the doctor did everything he could to save her husband, and anyway, maybe it was the Lord's will that he died.

Abby, I hope you won't think I am "unrespectful in the language I used in this letter, but I am pretty heated up over this. No one realizes how hard most doctors work.

Plenty of Action When Experts Bid

By Oswald and James Jacoby

The last half of the match between the Orange Team and the California All-Stars was played before a Bridge-O-Rama audience which saw the second play of each hand and the results.

The Dallas audience was rooting for the Dallas team and was very unhappy when they saw that Don Kraus of California had played four spades doubled and made five. The bidding was that shown in the box.

Dr. John Fisher of Dallas, a member of the Jacoby team that won the 1965 Vanderbilt and second with James Jacoby in the World's Pair championship at Amsterdam in 1966, remarked while the players were getting ready to bid, "This hand shows why it is so much easier to watch than to play. These are all action players who operate on the theory that if you sit around doing nothing, you never fall down but you never get anywhere either. I predict the same bidding and same result on this replay."

John turned out to be a prophet. Billy Eisenberg opened three spades. He had a typical vulnerable pre-empt. Ron von der Forten doubled. No one was going to shut him out with 16 high card points and fine support for any suit that his partner might bid.

Mike Lawrence raised to four spades. He had the right hand with which to make the bid.

It was up to Lew Mathe to act. We aren't going to say that Lew is the greatest player in the world. All we will say is that no one is any better.

Lew started to think. Fisher said, "If he could see all the cards he would pass but all he sees are his own 13. Only a 'Milquetoast' would pass with his hand, and Lew as an active player."

Sure enough, Lew did double and Billy made the same overtrick that Don had.

Model of the Year Pageant

NEW YORK (UPI) — The kindly, bespectacled gentleman seated on the aisle watched the stewardess sashay back and forth, as male passengers are wont to do, and then said: "How would you like to be a model?"

The stewardess had heard it all before. Withering him with a glance that took in his graying hair, she said: "Don't you think you ought to get a new line?"

Paul Levitan might have explained but why entertain the other travelers further? He went back to his newspaper and the stewardess will learn here that she turned down a chance to compete in the "Model of the Year Pageant" on CBS-TV Sept. 14.

Levitan, director of special "Miss Universe" and the "Miss

Teenage America Coronation" magazine exposure. But the right height, appearance and flair are the important qualities not previous experience. Last year there were 15 finalists and so many attractive girls had to be eliminated that this year there will be 30 finalists, the pick of 15,000 to 20,000 girls screened during the year.

The model seekers will go anywhere anytime to look at a likely candidate. One tracked down a report of a lovely girl dining at the elegant Forum Restaurant who was said to look a bit like Jean Shrimpton, the famous British model. He found that it was Miss Shrimpton.

When he isn't thinking about models Levitan wonders about his Miss Teenage America Coronation program. The contestants are 13 to 17 years old. But teenagers these days are so mature Levitan has to take into consideration the possibility that one of these days a teenage winner will actually look older than Miss Universe or, for that matter, the Model of the Year!

Levitan looks for girls from 5 feet 6 and 110 pounds to five feet ten and 125 pounds and from 18 to 23 years old. They can be models, who have had not more than one national exposure. But the right height, appearance and flair are the important qualities not previous experience. Last year there were 15 finalists and so many attractive girls had to be eliminated that this year there will be 30 finalists, the pick of 15,000 to 20,000 girls screened during the year.

Model of the Year Pageant

NEW YORK (UPI) — The kindly, bespectacled gentleman seated on the aisle watched the stewardess sashay back and forth, as male passengers are wont to do, and then said: "How would you like to be a model?"

The stewardess had heard it all before. Withering him with a glance that took in his graying hair, she said: "Don't you think you ought to get a new line?" Paul Levitan might have explained but why entertain the other travelers further? He went back to his newspaper and the stewardess will learn here that she turned down a chance to compete in the "Model of the Year Pageant" on CBS-TV Sept. 14.

Levitan, director of special "Miss Universe" and the "Miss events for CBS and producer of the pageant, lends an eye himself now and then to his professional scouts who this year covered 55 cities and 10,000 miles in search of girls with what they call "The Look"—the talent to dramatize a fashion in a single photograph.

A Rare Quality

It is a rare quality and high perishable. Levitan says it rarely lasts beyond the age of 23. Some remain in public notice after that but more as personalities than as competitors.

The Model of the Year Pageant was televised for the first time last year, caught on immediately and this year goes out as a 90-minute program for 220 stations. Levitan, who was the original TV producer of such shows as "Miss America," "Miss Universe" and the "Miss Teenage America Coronation" magazine exposure. But the right height, appearance and flair are the important qualities not previous experience. Last year there were 15 finalists and so many attractive girls had to be eliminated that this year there will be 30 finalists, the pick of 15,000 to 20,000 girls screened during the year.

The model seekers will go anywhere anytime to look at a likely candidate. One tracked down a report of a lovely girl dining at the elegant Forum Restaurant, who was said to look a bit like Jean Shrimpton, the famous British model. He found that it was Miss Shrimpton.

When he isn't thinking about models Levitan wonders about his Miss Teenage America Coronation program. The contestants are 13 to 17 years old. But teenagers these days are so mature Levitan has to take into consideration the possibility that one of these days a teen-ager winner will actually look older than Miss Universe or, for that matter, the Model of the Year!

Levitan looks for girls from 5 feet 6 and 110 pounds to five feet ten and 125 pounds and from 18 to 23 years old. They can be models, who have had not more than one national

A sailor was swabbing the deck when the captain walked by and asked:

Captain Blank — What are you doing, my boy?

Dick (the sailor) — I'm washing the floor, sir.

Captain Blank — The floor! Lad, this is a ship. You never say "floor." You mean "deck." Always use the proper nautical terms, like starboard, larboard, and port. And if I ever catch you doing it again, I'll shove you bodily through one of those little round windows over there!

Czech 'Corner' Talks Hit

By JAMES O. JACKSON

PRAGUE (UPI)—Communist authorities today cracked down on Prague's new "free speech corner," ordering the soapbox orators to move from a spot near to a central children's store to a remote site near secret police headquarters. The City Council ordered the move. The Communist party ruling presidium backed up the council and criticized the soapbox orators for demanding abolition of the Peoples' Militia. The presidium issued a communique condemning the "irresponsible way" in which persons discussed politics at the corner. For the past three weeks 100 to 1,000 persons gathered nightly at the corner to discuss politics and sign petitions.

It was the first presidium action following talks between Czechoslovakian party leaders and East German party leader Walter Ulbricht. In the talks at Karlovy Vary, Ulbricht gave reluctant public approval to the democratic reforms engineered by Czechoslovak Communist leaders the past six months.

The presidium communique said some of the persons at the corner have been "disturbing the peace and order" and "molesting citizens under the pretext of joining in their discussion."

It said "attempts at political provocations" might spring from the situation "created by the behavior of these irresponsible groups."

The council decree moved the site from the park next to the children's store, a spot called Detsky Dum, to another park, called Letna Plain. The new site is the spot where a gigantic statue of Soviet tyrant Josef Stalin once stood and is in the shadow of the once-feared Interior Ministry Building where the secret police are based.

The newspaper Svobodne Slovo, exercising the freedom of speech ushered in by the 1968 reforms, reported the shift and protested it. It said the location is so far out of the way that few persons would wish to go there.

The party presidium said it "rejected unfounded attacks against the Peoples' Militia. The militia is part of the defense system of the country and one of the guarantees of the socialist character..."

The hard-lining Ulbricht swallowed his once bitter objections to the reforms and answered Czechoslovak journalists' questions Tuesday at a news conference just before his departure from Karlovy Vary, Czechoslovakia, where he met Czech Communist leader Alexander Dubcek.

Ulbricht said changes in Czechoslovakia were "historically important," and he added:

"It is quite normal for difficulties to exist during such a great change and we do not consider it to be too tragic in your case."

"If we look ahead to the perspectives of the struggle for the victory of socialism then such difficulties can easily be overcome."

The statement took Ulbricht a Russians last month, when the large stop backward from the East German press branded tough stand he took during Dubcek and his followers as Czechoslovakia's crisis with the "counter-revolutionaries."

U.S. on Biafra Aid: Soundings at Geneva

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States is taking high level diplomatic soundings at Geneva in the hope that workable formula can be devised to speed large amounts of food to starving Biafrans.

State Department officials disclosed today that Dr. August Lindt of the International Committee of the Red Cross is playing a key role in the discussions.

Lindt, Switzerland's ambassador to Moscow, is serving as Red Cross relief coordinator and has just returned from a mission to Biafra, Nigeria and Addis Ababa, where representatives of secessionist Biafra are holding peace talks with mother country Nigeria.

The United States Monday night dispatched a special representative to Geneva, Ambassador C. Robert Moore, to confer with Lindt on ways to get more food into Biafra and to talk with other relief officials. Moore currently is assigned to the State Department as deputy assistant secretary of state for African affairs.

The United States has made available aid worth $8,800,000 from government and private sources, and the Red Cross has been building up supplies for the starving on both sides of the combat lines between Biafra and Nigeria.

While the Red Cross has been able to fly in supplies at a rate of about 20 tons a day to Biafra, the problem remains how to increase this load to the estimated required minimum of about 200 tons a day or more.

The problem was recently complicated by some of the relief aircraft flying into the rebel state being fired on. Flights have been suspended.

U.S. officials said the hope was that a formula could be worked out to enlarge the airlift. But this is considered only a first step which the United States believes should be followed by establishment of a land corridor for the regular movement of food.

Breaks Air Blockade

MALMO, Sweden (UPI)—A veteran Swedish pilot has flown 11 tons of relief supplies through antiaircraft fire to surrounded Nigerian rebels, an airline spokesman said today.

The spokesman said Capt. Carl Gustav von Rosen made the flight Monday in the first such relief mission since American pilots gave up last week because of the antiaircraft fire.

He carried food and medicine to residents of Nigeria's breakaway eastern region, an area they call Biafra.

Von Rosen piloted a Red Cross ambulance plane during the Italian-Ethiopian war 30 years ago and was the first Swedish pilot in U.N. forces in the Congo.

A spokesman for Transair said Von Rosen flew a DC7B, a four-engine American-made propeller transport, from the Portuguese island of Sao Tome to the rebels and back out.

He had been chartered just to fly the supplies from Europe to Sao Tome for the West German group named Caritas. Seeing supplies stranded on the island, he volunteered for the final lap, the spokesman said.

"He collected all information available about antiaircraft installations and radar stations and also was told Nigeria has Russian-built MIG planes piloted by Egyptians," the spokesman said.
